Searing 101 High Breaks 31-Year Record for City

Mark Set At 6:20 Tuesday

'35 Reading Falls, Water Levels Hold

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Freeman Staff Writer

Local residents complaining about the current heat wave have a legitimate gripe. It's hot! Yesterday the temperature hit an all-time high for that date, 101 degrees at 6:20 p. m., to break a record that had stood since 1935. The high 31 years ago was a cool 97. The low was set back in 1945, 50 degrees. It was advisable to swim with one's socks on back in the frigid 40's.

Meanwhile, the state weatherman held out one ray of hope — that the torrid heat wave would moderate some during the next five days. The Albany Weather Bureau said this morning that the heat would moderate to normal Thursday and Friday. Temperatures will rise again Saturday, then drop.

A reading of 91 degrees was reported by the city engineer's office about 11:30 a. m. today. Last night's low was an uncomfortable 72.

Water Level Holding

Elsewhere, Raymond Osterhoudt, the gatekeeper at Ashokan Reservoir noted a high of 90 degrees yesterday. He said that the water level is holding up "very well."

Edmund Cloonan, city water superintendent, said that consumption of water was up "about 10 per cent" but this was normal for this time of year and should show no cause for alarm.

Joseph Canino, the plant operator at the Highland Water plant didn't have a high for yesterday but he offered little hope for relief from the heat. Canino said the temperature was 66 degrees yesterday at 7 a. m. He said it was 72 today at the same time.

There was no relief across the river either, as the Dutchess County Airport recorded a high of 98 degrees.

95 in Saugerties

Up north, in Saugerties, it was somewhat cooler with Alfred MacMullen, manager of Amrod's in Saugerties recording an unofficial 95 degrees.

Kingston natives seemed to adapt to the torrid temperatures with only one case of heat prostration being reported. The person was treated at Kingston Hospital and released.

28 Dead in St. Louis

Nationwide there was no relief from Mr. Sun where it hit a high of 105 degrees in St. Louis, scene of the All-Star baseball game. The heat has been blamed for 28 deaths in St. Louis area where it hasn't dropped below 100 degrees in the past four

HEADING FOR THE 100 MARK—The mercury and the age of a city resident were noted Tuesday during the extremely hot day. Leaning toward the century mark in life, Walter S. Clark Sr., basks in a pool and tries to outsmart a youngster, 10-year-old Victor Ruzzo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ruzzo, 95 Washington Avenue. The oldster, 97 on Aug. 12, couldn't resist the pool at his home 72 Mary's Avenue, when he saw others dipping into the water to escape yesterday's heat. In mid-afternoon the mercury hit the age of the oldster and then climbed to an official 101 degrees, breaking a 31-year record. The old high for yesterday's date was 97 degrees, set in 1935. Clark has resided in the city the last few years. A native of Montpelier, Vt., he is a retired Boston & Maine Railroad engineer, a life member of the Knights of Columbus and attends St. Peter's Church. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr)

Planners Approve Preliminary Draft Of Master Program

A program for comprehensive planning of Ulster County was recently adopted in its preliminary stages by Ulster County Planning Board and will be presented to the Board of Supervisors for action at some future meeting.

The program outlines what a comprehensive county planning program should include and how it can be accomplished. It was presented by John Scribane of Town of Rochester, chairman of the Master Plan Committee. The committee worked closely with County Planning Director Richard T. Ehlert on the program for the past three months.

To Check Other Matter

As outlined the program is still to be considered preliminary, since there are other matters which must be approved before it is executed.

The County Planning Board was formed by the Supervisors Board in July 1963, and a staff hired in July, 1965. Considerable time was spent in the early years of the board in self-education on what county planning means and what it can accomplish. For the past year the County Planning Board's work program has consisted of endeavors in the areas of tax mapping, Galesville Airport, County Water Study, survey of historic sites and buildings, preparation of a County Data Book, the holding of seminars on planning and providing local planning assistance for those municipalities requesting it.

Scribano has recognized the need and has promoted overall comprehensive county planning for several years.

In regard to the proposal the County Planning Board issued the following statement.

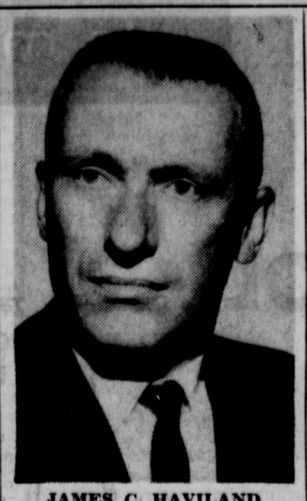

Cites Rapid Growth

Ulster County is now in the throes of a rapid population growth and in the next decades a growth rate much more rapid than ever experienced before is anticipated.

A county which stands to add as many persons to its total population in the next 25 years as were added in the last 110 years is one which will face a multitude of opportunities and will challenge officials. As the county's population continues to grow, so will the needs for movement of vehicles, schools, utilities and other public services grow.

In the future many various factors will determine the pat-

JAMES C. HAVILAND

Appoint Newsman To Key Post at Ulster College

An area newsman, James C. Haviland of Staatsburg, who has a wide background in the fields of communications and education has been named director of community relations at Ulster County Community College, Dr. Dale B. Lake, college president, said today.

Considered Real Asset

"With his extensive background in education, governmental activities and community affairs, we expect Mr. Haviland to be a real asset to the college in the development of a total program of community relations and the development of community-oriented seminars, lectures and special programs," said Dr. Lake. "In addition, he will coordinate special events, develop the college schedule, prepare the college catalog and oversee student publications."

Dr. Lake said Haviland will develope avenues of service to the community in both the academic and non-academic areas and will coordinatethe federal and state aid programs for the college.

For the last 13 years, Haviland has been on the staff of the Poughkeepsie Journal, serving as chief political and governmental reporter, school page editor and Sunday editor.

He has been a correspondent for The Associateed Press, New York City, for the last six years, doing both news and feature stories. In addition, his articles and stories have appeared in numerous publications, including the United States Information Agency Magazine, "Health News," a magazine published by the State Health Department, the New York Daily News and the New York World Telegram and Sun.

Is Writing a Book

Haviland has spent considerable time studing local history throughout the Hudson Valley. He also has done extensive research on President Franklin D. Roosevelt and currently is writing a book, with the cooperation of the Roosevelt family, on Roosevelt's first campaign for political office — a 1910 race for the New York State Senate.

He received a two-year degree from Champlain College and his bachelor's and master's degrees from Northwestern University. In addition, he has taken graduate courses at Teachers' College, Columbia University.

Once Worked for AP

Haviland formerly worked for a radio station in Evanston, Ill., and was employed by The Associated Press in Chicago for a period.

He has taught at Northwestern University, in the Evening Division at Dutchess Community College, and has lectured for special courses at Marist College.

A native of Lynbrook, L. I., Haviland was in the service, serving with the Office of Strategic Services and later the Central Intelligence Agency.

He resides in Staatsburg with his wife, the former Gail Still, of Hyde Park, and their two children.

Plan Auxiliary Help to Check Vandals, Fires

Use of auxiliary police to aid in checking rampant mischief, rash incendiarism and other violations was approved Tuesday night by the Common Council.

Alderman Edward Norton (D) Seventh Ward, offered the approved motion seeking use of auxiliary police ,and Alderman Joseph Epstein (D) Sixth Ward, whose ward is directly involved in Downtown Urban Renewal, asked that Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan call an emergency meeting to deal with conditions there.

Had Same Idea

It developed that John Machione (R) 12th Ward, had also thought of proposed use of auxiliary police, and he suggested that because persons out of the city also become involved in violations, that the sheriff's department and state police participate.

Urban renewal, beyond Epstein's reported problem, again came in for special attention through Alderman Robert Gallo's (D) Ninth Ward, claim that he has not received satisfactory reply to his questions of the previous meeting, and Majority Leader James F. Howard's approved motion to temporarily halt Uptown Urban Renewal pending reappraisal of properties.

Gallo also asked that because the Urban Renewal Agency appears to be proceeding "with only hopes" because of the reported "tight money market," that further demolition be discontinued in downtown's Broadway East UR project area.

Gallo's questions at the June meeting dealt with when will downtown housing start, how much money has been paid to Raymond & May, planning consultants, how much help is employed by the Urban Renewal Agency, what was the actual demolition bid and who was doing the work, could any property in the original demolition bid be withdrawn, and if so, what would be the amount deducted from the original bid.

Visited 3 Times

Gallo said last night that he had visited the URA office three times since the June meeting, and only once did he speak to Eric Hemphill, URA director, and at the same time he spoke with former chairman Frank Reis, and was told that the answers "would be forthcoming soon. I have been waiting since December for the answers, and, to date, have not received them."

He therefore, presented a resolution, which in effect said that since an elected official of the city had requested answers to questions "pertinent to the health, safety and welfare of our city, and the answers to these questions have not been received from the URA, or director, as requested, and whereas this honorable body wishes and does want the answers to these questions immediately from the URA, or director, and that such be forwarded . . . and that the outcome of this motion be forwarded to the URA, mayor and corporation counsel."

Gallo's other resolution, in effect, said that since urban renewal 'is a turmoil in the city" and elected officials cannot get answers they seek, and since a 'tight money market' has been cited, and since the urban renewal director could have "a terrific undesirable impact on our city' and since it is a local duty to protect the 'health, safety and welfare of all' demolition of properties cannot be allowed "with only hopes,' and it asked that the URA director "be temporarily stopped from further demolition in Broadway East, except for properties needed for the public housing site."

Epstein's resolution proposed

Pay Hikes Sought In Council Moves; PPR Report Given

Measures filed with the Common Council Tuesday night called for pay increases for four city officials, the aldermen and alderman-at-large involving an annual total of $13,700.

Readings Before Vote

A report on permanent personal registration due to become effective Jan. 1, 1967, was given by Attorney Seymour Werbalowsky, who is a member of the Ulster County Board of Elections, establishment of a "Landmark Preservation Commission of the City of Kingston" was approved, and a claim of $50,000 for alleged false arrest was filed.

Local laws citing the pay raises were filed and are to be given readings before they are due for a vote.

They propose raising the city assessor's salary from $5,000 to $7,500; the city treasurer's and city clerk's from $6,000 to $8,500, the corporation counsel from $6,000 to $7,500, the aldermen from $1,000 to $1,500 and the alderman-at-large from $1,800 to $2,500.

Mayor Not Asking Hike

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan today said he does not propose that the mayor's salary be raised while he is in office. He will not seek re-election, however, he said, and before he leaves office will propose that the mayor's salary be increased from $10,000 to $15,000.

Advised of Cost

Seymour Werbalowsky in noting that permanent personal registration would become mandatory throughout the county as of Jan. 1 1967, said there would be cost involved in making the adjustment and advised the aldemen to be prepared.

It is planned to have eight consecutive days for registration and voting machine changes will be required in some of the city's 20 voting districts, which range from slightly over 200 voters in some districts to over 1,000 in others. He also noted that many of the city's voting machines were obsolete and must ultimately be replaced.

The proposed Landmark Preservation Commission of the City of Kingston would be one

Garraghan Says Most URs Prove 'Frankensteins'

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan today revealed contents of a letter to the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, dated Tuesday, in which he calls for re-evaluation of properties in the uptown urban renewal area, and terms UR programs in most cities developing into a "Frankenstein."

"I know that as tax payers you realize the great responsibility you have, in offering your time to serve on the committee. Further, I know that you are just as interested in bringing Broadway East and Uptown plans to a successful conclusion as I am, personally and as mayor of the city.

"It seems to me that urban renewal programs have developed into a Frankenstein in most of the cities. I do not believe that more than 1 per cent of the people in the city are satisfied with the programs and they only half heartly. Where do we go from here. I do not know. It is up to you, the Common Council and the people to decide.

"I do know that for many months, meetings of the Uptown Economic Sub-Committee, appointed by Mayor John J. Schwenk, held meetings in the Kirkland Hotel to discuss the "Uptown Plan." Every member of the Committee wanted

Yanks Engage Dated MIGs After Bombing

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Carrier-based U.S. Navy bombers left an oil depot northwest of Haiphong in smoke and flames Tuesday and for the first time in the Viet Nam war encountered old-model MIG15s.

Two MIG15s, the first of the type built by the Soviet Union, were sighted near Hanoi, but did not engage the American raiders. The MIG 15s, slow by present standards, made their combat debut in the early 1950s during the Korean War. The previous Communist jets encountered in this war have been MIG17s or the newer-model MIG21s.

Eluded Missiles

The U.S. command also announced that American Air Force planes eluded a surface-to-air missile over North Viet Nam today.

Three of the Army's armed helicopters, called gunships, were lost in combat operations Tuesday, boosting the number of helicopters downed by enemy ground fire in the war to 182 Official figures exclude those destroyed on the ground in viet Cong attacks on airfields and

Talks Resumed In Air Strike; Reach Tokyo Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Union and airline representatives resumed negotiations today in an effort to settle a strike against five major airlines, after settling a dispute that had halted talks overnight.

Asst. Secretary of Labor James Reynolds, conducting the negotiations, announced settlement of the dispute that arose from Northwest Airlines working demands on employes at its Tokyo base.

Cooperative Attitude

Reynolds said Donald Nyrop, president of Northwest, had ordered withdrawal of the airline's notice to Tokyo employes that they would have to pay rent in advance on company-owned quarters.

Reynolds said he appreciated the cooperative attitude both of Northwest and of AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists in settling the dispute.

Reynolds made his announcement after a meeting with IAM representatives and with representatives of the five struck airlines which in addition to Northwest are Eastern, National, Trans World and United.

A spokesman for Northwest said the airline took its action after mechanics refused to service military charter flights. The spokesman added that the demand for rent payments followed company policy that was in existence before the strike.

More than 35,000 machinists walked off their jobs Friday against Northwest, Trans World, Eastern, National and

Upstater Named New School Head By RVCS Board

The Rondout Valley Central School District Board of Education appointed Dr. Ted T. Grenda as the new Superintendent of Schools Tuesday night replacing Dr. Edward T. Green. Dr. Green, superintendent for the past eight years, has resigned to fill a similar position in the Oneida Public Schools.

J. Richard Sheil, president of the Rondout Valley Central School Board of Education, announced that Dr. Grenda's appointment was the culmination of a lengthy screening process designed to provide a competent educator for the district to continue the quality program of education for the citizens of the district.

Dr. Grenda is a graduate of Buffalo State Teacher's College, received his master's degree at the University of Detroit and his doctorate from the State University at Buffalo. His most recent position was director of Secondary Education in the Utica Public Schools. Prior to that he was high school principal in Liverpool and taught in the U. S. Army Dependent Schools in Germany and France.

Dr. Grenda will make his residence in the school district where he will live with his wife, Janet, and their four children, two boys and two girls.

Dr. Grenda will begin his duties Aug. 1.

Say Former JCS Aide Sold Data

Upstater Is Linked To Soviet Agents

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former military aide to the Joint Chiefs of Staff has been accused of conspiring to deliver defense information to the Soviet Union.

A federal grand jury indictment naming William Henry Whalen, a retired Army lieutenant colonel, said the information included data on atomic weapons, missiles and the retaliation plans of the Strategic Air Command.

It said Whalen received a total of $5,500 on six occasions between December 1959 and March 1961 from two former Soviet Embassy officials who have returned home.

There was no immediate explanation from the Justice Department nor the Pentagon on the gap of five years between the last alleged offense and the arrest.

Whalen, 51 and now unemployed, was taken into custody Tuesday by FBI agents in suburban Alexandria, Va., where he lives. He was arraigned on the espionage conspiracy charge, which carries a maximum penalty of death, and released several hours later after posting $15,000 bond.

The two Soviets, Col. Sergei Edemski and Mikhail S. Shumaev, were named as coconspirators in the indictment returned by a grand jury in Newport News, Va. The Justice Department said the two were not charged because they are no longer in the United States.

Edemski, former assistant Soviet military attache, returned home in February 1960 and Shumaev, former first secretary, returned in September 1963, the department said.

Whalen, who had been awarded the Legion of Merit and Army Commendation Medal, served in Europe and Japan before being assigned in 1955 to the Army intelligence branch of the foreign liaison office in Washington.

He later was assigned to the staff of the office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff at the Pentagon where he served until Feb. 3, 1961, when he was retired on a physical disability after more than 20 years of active duty.

Whalen's wife, Bernadine, was contacted by Washington Star reporter Walter Gold shortly after her husband's arrest. As he read her an Associated Press story detailing the

Ulster, Greene Jobs Help Push Record Road Program

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced today that highway, parkway and railroad grade crossings elimination projects, including two such jobs in Ulster and Greene County, with a value of almost $280 million were advanced to bid openings by the State Department of Public Works in the first half of 1966 to set a new record for the highway program.

The area projects included $4.8 million for Routes 44 and 55 in Ulster County and $6.9 million for construction or reconstruction ofRoute 23A in Greene County.

From January through June, the governor's report said, bids were opened on projects with a value of $279,637,275, nearly $38 million more than the previous high of $241,667,533 which was attained in the first half of 1965.

"With this start, we are well on the way toward exceeding the record $444.7 million in highway contracts that were launched last year," he said.

"Our objective of a half-billion dollar contract year would bring our two-year total of work launched to the vicinity of a billion dollars, which would not only be a State record, but probably would set a national mark," Rockefeller said.

"However, much more important are the results of such a program," Rockefeller added. "Such progress enables us to provide one of the most modern highway networks in the nation. This is essential to the safety and well-being of the citizens of our State."

Gov. Rockefeller pointed out that since he took office in 1959, more than $2.3 billion has been obligated for highway projects involving over 11,000 miles of

Ellenville Board to Meet, Budget Rejected 3rd Time

Ellenville's Board of Education may have to adopt an austerity budget for 1966-1967 and eliminate or curtail some educational programs as the result of a taxpayers vote on Tuesday, when a proposed budget was defeated for a third time.

The rejection of the budget was unprecedented for a third vote. The last two years voters turned down the tentative budget on the first two ballotings, but approved it on the third.

The tentative 1966-67 budget totaled $2,246,068, a reduction of approximately $40,000 below the figure that was turned down on a second vote a few weeks ago. Yesterday's vote was 316-438, with a total of 762 votes.

A school district official said this morning that the Board of Education has called a special session for next Tuesday to discuss what procedures should be taken. At that meeting it probably will be decided whether to adopt an austerity budget for the next school year or resubmit the anticipated expenditure total to the voters in the near future.

Because of the defeat of the budget yesterday, the swimming pool has been shut down, and anticpated bus transportation for students attending summer school from Fallsburgh and the Rondout Valley sections has been cancelled.

Unless a budget is adopted the interscholastic athletic programs will be eliminated, an official said. The athletic and cafeteria programs also will be curtailed or eliminated because of the lack of funds.

At last night's board meeting only four members voted on a proposal not to submit a new budget to the voters of the district. Another motion to resubmit the budget was tabled.

Some budget must be adopted by mid-August when the tax

Chest Announces Advisory Board

An advisory committee of area businessmen and civic leaders for the Ulster County Community Chest was organized at a recent luncheon meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Campaign Chairman Charles Raible lead a discussion on the tremendous challenge facing the chest in its fall fund drive.

At an earlier meeting called by Fabian Russell, Howard R. St. John and George Svirsky it was noted that the campaign must be successful so that the 13 member agencies may continue essential services in the county.

The advisory committee consists of Charles E. Raible, Prescott C. Newell, George Svirsky, S. Sam Fratoni, Fabian L. Russell, John B. Lebherz, J. Richard Shults, Herman G. Rafalowsky, Michael J. Cervini Jr., Hubert Richter, William

Moses Is Fired From Last NYC Unsalaried Post

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay has fired Robert Moses from the last remaining city post he had — arterial highway coordinator.

Moses — who once held a dozen city, state and public authority posts simultaneously — is now down to one major public post.

He still is chairman of the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority — a berth from which Lindsay has tried but failed to remove him.

Unsalaried Post

The Triborough chairmanship is unsalaried as was the arterial highway coordinator post. But Moses' $100,000-a-year pay as president of the 1964-65 World's Fair, a private corporation, continues until the end of 1967.

After months of friction between Lindsay and Moses, it was revealed Tuesday that the mayor had removed Moses from the highway job and replaced him with Arthur E. Palmer Jr., the mayor's transportation administrator.

The 44-year-old mayor, who has accented youth in his administration wrote a "Dear Bob" letter of dismissal to the 77-year-old Moses in which he referred to him as one of the city's "most venerable, respected, dedicated and effective public servants."

Returns Barb

Moses, never at a loss for a barb or two, signed himself "your venerable friend" in a letter to Lindsay acknowledging the ouster.

In regard to Lindsay's explanation of why he had dropped Moses, the latter's letter told the mayor: "It would be futile to argue against the errors of your logic as we see them. . ."

Moses resigned from several state jobs in 1962 in a dispute with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller — only one of many high officials with whom Moses has tangled since he entered public life 42 years ago.

Lindsay's letter of dismissal told Moses that because of the mayor's reorganization of city government he did not believe the arterial highway coordinator post should be filled by anyone "outside" the city administration.

Planned Road Jobs

Moses, who made public the letter from Lindsay and his reply, had been responsible for planning the location and timing of millions of dollars worth of road projects in the metropolitan area.

Lindsay said at a news conference that there was no connection between Moses' dismissal and his revelation on Monday that the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority had committed $40 million in surplus funds to an improvement program.

Lindsay had been hoping to get surplus Triborough authority funds to aid the Transit Authority. The mayor tried to get the Legislature to approve a transit merger program, including a consolidation of the solvent Triborough Authority and the deficit-ridden Transit Authority. But the Legislature did not act on the proposal, which would have forced Moses out of the Triborough chairmanship.

Moses called the transit consolidation program "ripper legislation" in his letter to Lindsay acknowledging dismissal.

Lindsay said at the news conference that he had no objection to the Triborough authority's use of surplus funds for reconstruction and replacement of outmoded facilities.

The mayor also said Moses' dismissal was not the result of any "personal or political problem."

Tidal Water Dispute

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Water Resources Commission had the backing today of the state attorney general in a dispute with Long Island authorities over tidal waters.

The town of Islip and the Suffolk County Public Works Department had contended that the commission lacked jurisdiction over docks, piers and wharfs in the tidal waters of Suffolk and Nassau counties.

In an opinion issued Tuesday, Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said, however, that a 1965 law gave the state agency power to regulate use of the state's water resources, including coastal waters and facilities.

The commission chairman, R. Stewart Kilborne, also state conservation commissioner, had appealed to the attorney general for a ruling.

Oops, Wrong Party

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — John Grenier, the Republican hopeful for U.S. senator from Alabama, was introducing himself to folks recently in a Montgomery restaurant.

He shook hands with one man and asked for his vote.

"I'm Roy Mayhall, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee," was the cheerful reply.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

The mention of the Kingston Consolidated School system to the taxpayers of 1966 brings some interesting results. Perhaps someday these various meetings of the boards in which the taxpayer's money is spent will be heard via radio or some other more morden method, as to what is spent for what. In that way the taxpayers can sit at home, and perhaps even on a local TV which we once had in our progressive city, see the intensity with which the officials try to cut corners in saving money. Under the new culture, art, and music should bring some remarkable results only time will tell.

Looking in Picturesque Ulster, of Kingston book No. 3, which came out around 1896, is filled with photographs taken by R. Lionel De Lisser, the author and published by Styles and Bruyn Pub. Co. Perhaps he had a little of that culture our million dollar schools are striving for today. He was a native of France, and went to Bavaria for his health in his late years. He served as midshipman in U. S. Navy, on board Admiral Faragut's flagship in a round world cruise. He graduated from the Royal Bavarian Academy of High Arts, of Munich, and received the King's medal for one of his paintings, pinned on him, by King Ludwig of Bavaria. In his day, he had to compete with fine artists, whose realistic paintings were done with great care, time, and talent. R. Lionel De Lisser, the author and artist's son Harry N. De Lisser, married, Annie Schoonmaker, daughter of the late Augustus Schoonmaker. Today his books are of great value, as he collected a great deal of historical information together with his pictures.

He writes about the Union Free School District No. 4, with a schoolhouse in Ponckhockie. May 11, 1853, the trustees were authorized to secure a lot, which they did at a cost of about $300, upon which they soon after built a small one-story brick schoolhouse, Mr. De Lisser write. This Ponckhockie schoolhouse had but one room and was plainly furnished. Miss Sarah C. Abbey, later Mrs. John R. Stebbins, was the first teacher. The school, was small and, as was customary in those days, ungraded.

He writes about its growth, and the changing of the districts, and in 1876 when the schools of the city were renumbered, thus it became School No. 4. The school having outgrown its quarters, the Chapel, then standing on the corner of Tompkins and East Union Streets, was temporarily occupied. The school again gradually filled up and larger accommodations were needed. They were going to levy a tax of $6,000 for the new school, on new additional lots. In the meantime, J. G. Lindsley, agent of the Newark Lime & Cement Manufacturing Company, had become interested in the plan and through his influence the company at a minimum costs put up the walls of the new building. Thus it was built at the cost of only, $8,500. A large two-story concrete struction with slate roof and cupola. The ceilings were built high, with plenty of light and ventilation. The seating capacity being about 350.

The first teacher in this $8,500 school building was A. E. Schepmoes, and principal, with several teachers. The school was graded. In 1868, Mr. Schepmoes resigned and Charles M. Ryon became principal. Some 370 pupils were in the classes. In 1874 there was steam heat installed, and the school had a good library, numbering some 1,300 volumes, known as "Ponckhockie Public Library."

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Recently I received a lightweight jacket with a pocket on the left sleeve about where the muscle should be!

It's practically unnoticeable but real handy to put your cigarettes and lighter when you are just "going next door" or "across the street."

The thought occurred to me that women could put this lefty-sleeve pocket on about any blouse or housedress! My wife has since added a pocket to three of hers.

Last week, my gal (whom I have been married to all these 33 years) bought a remnant of plaid material on sale and took all her white blouses and put a "pocket on her left sleeve" . . . She also covered the collar piece to match.

She sure started a new fad in our neighborhood.

This would be wonderful for children and husbands to carry things in and it looks real sporty.

Bernard Benson

Dear Heloise:

This idea has helped me get my small son to sleep more quickly. It may help other mothers who have the same problem.

I remove the cotton from my son's large teddy bear, and inserted a zipper around the opening.

At night when my boy doesn't want to go to sleep, I fill a plastic bottle with warm water (with the lid tightly closed) and insert it in the opening in the bear, then zip shut.

My son sure loves his warm sleeping partner!

Mrs. H.D.S.

Dear Heloise:

For filling a modern, wide-mouthed pepper shaker, without "funnel fussing," use a baby's first-feeding spoon. The long handle and small bowl fit perfectly into both the pepper can and the shaker.

I have used this method and never spilled a speck.

Bette Barnes

Dear Folks:

Let's come to grips with the facts . . .

Canned drinks just DO leave rust on the bottom of a metal picnic cooler.

Last week while I was packing my cooler for a picnic, I happened to spy a sweet roll throwaway tin. It fitted perfectly in the bottom of our cooler.

The result was no rust to clean off later. You might try it.

If you have no foil throwaway tins, why not try lining the chest with a piece of heavy foil?

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Instead of ironing dark clothes on the wrong side, then spray-starch them, which causes inverted creases . . . I jus' spray as usual, then rub my hand over the fabric.

This way, the material absorbs the starch, and there are no white "specks."

Dear Heloise:

My son had some sport shirts which he no longer cared to wear because they weren't in style with the teen set any more.

They hung in the closet for a long time until I decided what to do with them.

I bought percale (two yards was plenty) and made pajama pants, then used the shirts for the tops.

I might add that I wore them —not my son!

A. E. L.

Dear Heloise:

I have an idea on how to avoid burned fingers and a grease spattered stove when frying meat.

I used to put a bakery pie pan (aluminum with holes in it) upside down on top of my skillet, when cooking meat that splatters. But I usually burned my fingers, and my pot holders got dirty.

So, I asked my husband to put a wooden knob on the bottom of the pie pan—now no more burned fingers or dirty pot holders. My splatter-catcher looks like a regular boiling pan lid with small holes in it.

Wilson Expects Big GI Vote

The Ulster County Republican Chairman, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, noted today that with a large number of local residents serving in the Armed Forces because of the war in Viet Nam, the importance of military ballots will assume a very important role in the outcome of the elections this November.

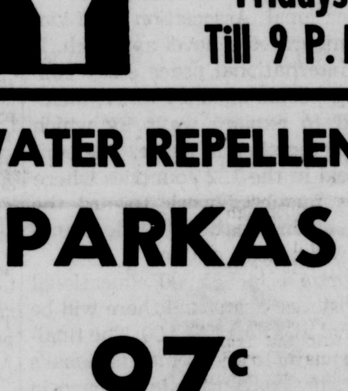

Chairman Wilson said he has been informed by the Director of the Division for Servicemen's Voting, Elmer F. Lux, that application forms for the military ballots will soon be available in the county, and added that the Ulster County Republican Committee will make every effort to insure the widest possible distribution of these forms throughout the county.

The County GOP leader went on to say that because of a bill which he introduced in the Legislature this year, and which was recently signed into law by the Governor, it will be much easier for servicemen to receive their military ballots.

According to the provisions of the new law, the parent, spouse, or adult child of any person stationed outside the continetal limits of the United States will be able to make out, and sign the application for a military ballot. Prior to the passage of Assemblyman Wilson's bill, the person who was serving overseas had to personally receive, sign and return their own application before a ballot could be mailed to them by the local Board of Elections. According to Wilson, the added step connected with the mailing back and forth af the application form not only caused many unnecessary delays, but even discouraged many servicemen from exercising their right to vote.

The Ulster County Assemblyman pointed out, however, that the new law will not become effective until Sept. 1 of this year, and any applications for military ballots prior to that date will still have to be made out, and signed by the person in service. According to Wilson, over 15,000 applications for military ballots have already been received by the Division for Servicemen's Voting in Albany, and this figure will be vastly increased by the deadline for receiving applications, which is two weeks prior to Election Day.

LIONS PEACE ESSAY

Man's quest for peace is virtually as old as man, himself. Down through the centuries there has been a continous stream of peace councils, conferences, congresses, leagues, alliances and conventions, culminating in the United Nations and the on-going Geneva peace talks.

Except for historians, few remember Henry IV's Grand Design, in the early 1600's for a European council supported by troops of member states. Or the League of Augsburg following the Thirty Years War or the International Peace Congresses during the 1840's. None of these earnest efforts had more than temporary results, though some, like the Geneva Convention of 1864 brought certain fringe benefits. The Convention led to the Red Cross and still is invoked to mitigate the hardships of the wounded and captured. (The Nuclear Test Ban Treaty might be considered another such fringe benefit, if it is accepted by new members of the Nuclear Club, which hardly seems likely.)

Not all the quests for peace have been in the hands of government, diplomats and political leaders, private citizens, too, have joined the search for solution to warfare, both as individuals and as members of national and international organizations.

The International Association of Lions Clubs has inaugurated a novel approach. It is a $50,000 international peace essay contest for young people aged 14 to 21, inclusive, designed to explore ways by which people can live together in peace. The contest will be held in the 132 countries where 800,000 Lions members work toward the improvement of international understanding and goodwill among nations.

The first prize is a $25,000 educational or career assistance grant and there will be eight additional awards of $1,000. The finalists will be brought to Lions International's 50th Anniversary convention in Chicago in July, 1967, where the top winner will be chosen.

The contest subject, "Peace is Attainable," is a positive affirmation of man's age--long quest for peace. And who knows but what some young man or woman may find the way. At the least, the Lions will have further expanded their efforts to establish person-to-person contacts across borders, surmounting language and cultural barriers.

BLASTING CAP DANGER

Nearly 50 million boys and girls are enjoying summer vacations this year. Over 125 million blasting caps are used annually in America in the explosives work essential to mining, quarrying, road building, heavy construction, lumbering, agriculture, irrigation, seismological exploration, and other necessary applications. These facts appear to have nothing in common. They don't until a curious youngster finds a lost, strayed, or stolen blasting cap.

An unintended, uninformed introduction to the small mechanism designed to detonate explosives can be the start of events leading to an accident resulting in serious injury, or worse. Summertime, vacationtime, is when most blasting cap mishaps occur.

The total number of blasting cap accidents annually involving youngsters is quite small. But each one is needless and avoidable. And each one can inflict serious, often irreparrable, damage. Blasting caps can rip up a face, blow off ten fingers, put out a pair of eyes or silence a pair of ears.

Blasting caps are not playthings. If stray caps are found, they should be reported to the nearest policeman, fireman, sheriff or military unit. That way, summer vacation can be a time of fun and pleasure, and not of terror and tragedy.

ROAR OF THE WAVES

If no news is good news, perhaps the following shouldn't be reported. But then, as another saying has it, forewarned is forearmed.

Anyway, one manufacturer, not content with leaving bad enough alone, is now marketing a sound amplifier for transistor radios.

It's a horn-shaped object, looking somewhat like a miniature ship's ventilation funnel, made of polyfoam plastic, which is stuck in the sand with the radio placed in the opening. It's designed to enhance reception and protect the radio from sand and moisture.

How involuntary listeners are to protect themselves is not specified.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

"WHY WON'T THEY EVER LEARN?"

In raising the issue of "black power" and giving it a political twist, the leaders of CORE (Congress of Racial Equality) and SNCC (Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee) have taken a backward plunge that brings to mind that slightly batty period of the Nineteen Twenties when the American Communist Party was going all out for something called "self-determination for the Black Belt." This particular Communist plank, if I remember correctly from cub reporting days in New York, was the concoction of a Hungarian representative of the Communist International who went by the psyeudoym of "John Pepper." Nothing could have been better calculated to frighten the daylights out of those Mississipians and Alabamians who had all along been telling the world that "black power" would end by cutting white throats.

In time, the Communists learned that Hungarian theorists were not necessarily to be trusted to formulate policy for the American scene. They sent "John Pepper" back to Europe, dropped the idea of building black republics in the Deep South, and took up the refrain, "Communism is Twentieth Century Americanism." With his recent accent on reviving the popular Front atmosphere of the late Nineteen Thirties, Gus Hall, the U.S. Communist Party leader, can hardly be accused of selling the "black power" line to Stokely Carmichael, the new head of SNCC, or to Floyd McKissick, the leader of CORE. This time the idiosy of raising the specter of "black power" — which is simply another way of saying "self-determination" for the Negro wherever he is in a position to get on top—seems to be native-grown. It could have Maoist connections, however, for it is quite in line with what the anti-Muscovite "splinter" Communist groups have been talking about.

The idea of "black power" is idiotic in the American world for the simple reason that this is a pluralistic country of manifold "blocs" which make law by a continuous process of combining and recombining for reasons which may be ethnic at one time, or economic at another, or even religious or spiritual in a thrid instance. What seems like an unbreakable "power structure" at one moment may lie in utter ruins the next. It follows from the very complexity of a fluid capitalistic economy and a regionally diversified country that any "bloc" which wishes to get anywhere must keep itself poised to make new alliances. So what will it avail the leaders of SNCC and Core to declare that power is the "total control of the economic , political, educational, and social wealth of our community from top to bottom, and the exercise of this power at the local level is simply that which all other groups in American society have done to acquire their share of American life"?

This talk of "total control" leaves no scope for minorities anywhere; it is profoundly at variance with the spirit of the Bill of Rights, and it is just the thing to set off the sort of white backlash that failed to materialize during the Presidential campaign of 1964.

Fortunately for the Negro communities, Roy Wilkins, the executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has been around long enough to remember what the slogan of "self-determination for the Black Belt" did to extend the period of lynch-law psychology in southern communities where Negroes were practically as numerous as whites. His speech at the 57th annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Los Angeles was both infinitely courageous and infinitely wise. "No matter how they explain it," he said, "the term 'black power' means anti-white power. In a racially pluralistic society, the concept, the formation and the exercise of that ethnically tagged power, means opposition to other ethnic powers. . . It has to mean 'going it alone.' It has to mean separatism."

I doubt that any single member of CORE or SNCC has ever heard the name of "John Pepper" or even recalls the period when the Communists were advocating separate black republics in Alabama and Mississippi. This country is not long on memories. Because yesterday is an unremembered book, we repeat the idiocies of the past in every new generation. I realize that praising Roy Wilkins in this column for opposing the separatist idiocy may only expose him to taunts of "Uncle Tom." But when Roy Wilkins says that "black power" is a "reverse Ku Klux Klan," he speaks a truth that must be heard.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Answers Not All In On Cholesterol

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My doctor has me on a low cholesterol diet as outlined in a booklet published by a food manufacturer. The list of foods allowed includes all kinds of shellfish and all kinds of liver. A recent article from the American Heart Association included both kinds of food in the list to be avoided. Who is right?

A—To state the amount of cholesterol in various foods is easy but to state how important it is in the prevention of coronary heart disease is more difficult. Vegetable oils contain no cholesterol and animal fats do. The cholesterol content of liver is higher than that of round steak and lower than that of calves' brains appetizingly whipped up with scrambled eggs. The cholesterol content of oysters (325 milligrams in 100 grams) is higher than that of lobster (210) and shrimp (150) but cod, salmon, tuna, etc., contain only 50 to 60 milligrams in 100 grams.

All the answers are not yet in regarding the effect of your blood cholesterol level on your heart. A prominent British doctor showed that he could easily lower this level with diet, but in a six-year study 132 men with coronary heart disease maintained on such a diet did no better than a control group of 132 men with coronary disease who ate their usual diet.

Another British doctor in a two-year study put one group of patients with coronary disease on a fat-poor diet supplemented with olive oil, a second group on a similar diet supplemented with corn oil. A third group continued their usual diet. The second group had the highest rate of deaths and recurrences, despite its low cholesterol content.

Some doctors now believe that avoidance of a heart attack depends more on keeping your weight within the normal range and cutting your sugar intake than on the kind of fat you eat. Nobody knows for sure as yet but this latest theory may be right.

Q—How does a person go about getting a member of his family treated for emotional or mental illness? What does a person do if he can't afford a psychiatrist?

A—If you can't persuade the victim to seek pnychiatric help voluntarily, there is little you can do unless the disease becomes so acute as to constitute a danger to himself or others, in which case legal commitment to a mental hospital would be necessary.

If the victim cannot afford treatment by a private psychiatrist, an effort should be made to get him to attend a free clinic operated by your state or county or nearest medical college. Your family doctor or county welfare agency can help you get on the right track.

Washington News

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Even some of his best friends and admirers are telling Republican Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California that he'll be in deep political trouble if he does not endorse Ronald Reagan, the GOP nominee for governor

Unlike scalp-hunting, right-wingers who obviously hope Kuchel's difficulties increase, these people—who include many of the party's seasoned hands—say they want to save him from defeat in his next re-election bid in 1968.

But they do not think he has been pulling his weight as a party man and their patience has worn thin. And they have made endorsement of Reagan a supreme and urgent test of his Republican regularity.

For years Kuchel has made almost a specialty of neither endorsing nor working for such Republican nominees as Barry Goldwater, Richard Nixon (for governor), and U. S. Sen. George Murphy. He is charged with ignoring an endless array of party functions (including a big one this June 23), and with generally going it alone.

This time, however, the heat is truly intense. Says a respected northern California Republican hardly wedded to Reagan's conservatism: "Everybody's going with Reagan." Not to go for him, the man indicated, would be to stand out much too sharply as a target for general party wrath.

Almost daily telephone calls from the coast keep the pressure on. Kuchel is known to be thinking hard about the matter. He has told Reagan he wants to sit down and talk. The former actor wrote him a friendly letter in response to a congratulatory telegram the senator sent after Reagan's primary victory.

But finding the proper common ground is not automattic. Says a Kuchel friend: "It's not going to be easy to rush in and throw his arms around a guy who in 1962 called him a socialist and who in 1964 called him a traitor to his party."

Another problem is that Kuchel does not seem to buy the spreading notion that Reagan in 1966 is markedly different from the Goldwaterite he was in 1964. Nor does the senator accept the apparently contradictory argument that Reagan's smashing primary triumph proves that conservatism is on a steeply rising curve in California.

Some sources are betting Kuchel will give Reagan some kind of nod, despite the evident ideological gulf between them. If he does and Reagan beats Democratic Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown, the senator's 1968 outlook will brighten immeasurably.

It is argued that a Governor Reagan elected after a long campaign of preaching party unity could hardly work to dump an incumbent Republican senator. Without a victorious Reagan's backing, an intra-party move against Kuchel in 1868 would surely be doomed. It would become a narrow right-wing effort. Kuchel won 3 to 1 over a combination of three opponents the last time that was tried.

The current furore over Kuchel, almost hysterical in its overtones, may simmer down in the months ahead. It is in part the porduct of the excitement generated in California Republican circles by Reagan's big win. But the pressures are making some Kuchel intimates a little edgy.

Long-distance callers from the coast who warn bluntly that failure to back Reagan may plunge Kuchel into the abyss are reminded just as bluntly that a successful party effort to scuttle the senator in the 1968 primary might be rewarded by victory that November for a very junior Democratic senator who could do virtually nothing helpful for California.

This kind of talk is not exactly idle. In a state with roughly 3 to 2 Democratic registration, Kuchel won re-election in 1962 by 730,000 while Nixon was losing to Brown by 300,000. He gets the Democratic votes any Republican needs to win.

Moreover, independent judgments support the senator's claim to highly valuable service to his state. He has been a tiger in getting aids of all kinds. He is the top Republican on the Senate Interior Committee, crucial to a state deeply involved with water and other resources development.

Yet the key party regulars are less and less convinced that this admittedly faithful service need stand in the way of party good works. They point out that hard-working liberal New York Sen. Jacob Javits finds plenty of time for major Republican chores in his home state. From Kuchel they want the same—for Ronald Reagan—and soon.

Costs Little for Organized Anti-U.S. Demonstrations

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Soviet government is spending a relatively small amount of money but is obtaining a considerable amount of publicity as it seeks to convince the world by organized propaganda efforts that the United States is losing the war in Viet Nam. The purpose, of course, is to develop a public opinion unfavorable to this country's foreign policies and to hammer away at the prestige of America.

Within the last several days anti-American demonstrations have been carefully stimulated throughout Europe and Latin America, as well as in the Far East.

Initiate Demonstrations

The Communist technique is to start outbreaks in the streets and other public places at opportune moments. There is scarcely a country in the world where Communist money has not been used to initiate such demonstrations against American policy in Southeast Asia.

The bombing of the Hanoi-Haiphong areas furnished an excuse for interfering with official and unofficial celebrations of the Fourth of July by Americans abroad. United States embassies in Paris and London were surrounded by the demonstrators, and there were clashes in the capitals of Sweden and Denmark.

Communist groups in West Berlin distributed leaflets denouncing the bombings, and in Japan, students marched through the streets to try to mar the visit of Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Police, of course, endeavored to keep the rioters from interfering with the celebrations, but for several days in succession these anti-American episodes got space in the newspapers, thus giving the impression that world opinion is in opposition to the United States.

The same thing happened in Rome, where thousands of Communists put on noisy demonstrations with all kinds of posters and placards condemning the United States government and expressing approval for some of the dissent in the Italian government over American policy in Viet Nam.

Spur North Units

Secretary Rusk, on his return here from his Far Eastern visit, said that unquestionably some of the demonstrations were encouragaing the North Vietnamese, as they have misconstrued the dissent on the political front in the United States. He pointed out that the Communist governments do not realize that such opposition is not interfering in the slightest with the determination of President Johnson to persist in the policy now being followed.

The United States has paid relatively little attention to the organized propaganda being carried on by the Communist in foreign countries. No effective measures are being taken to rebut what the Communist mouthpieces are saying. Some effort is being made over the radio by the "Voice of America" and other organizations to express the American viewpoint, strangely enough, the demonstrations are more or less ignored by the American government. Yet there is evidence that the continuance of such propaganda maneuvers has made an impression around the w[illegible] had an influence in preventing many countries [illegible]ming to the support of the United States in the Viet Nam war.

Even within this country Congress has not revealed to public view the manner in which the Soviet government is directly or indirectly financing demonstrations and carrying on an incessant propaganda. Just because many of the participants are Americans, the public is not likely to suspect that such movements have been carefully planned by the Communists. There are, to be sure, many Americans who conscieintiously sagree with the government's foreign policy and who are sincerely convinced of the wisdom of their dissent. But more often the protesting groups inside America have in their midst active Communists or persons who are tools of the Communist apparatus.

Until the Viet Nam war became acute, there was a tendency to appraise as insignificant the Communist subversion campaign in America. But when, as a result of Communist plotting, a public opinion began to be formed in other parts of the world which actually has tended to prolong a war and increase the number of casualties by preventing peace negotiations, the use of such propaganda technique is of vital importance to the American people. Congress could mitigate the effects of the Communist demonstrations by exposing their artificiality and the source of their funds.

The letter isn't intended for publication. Still, the lady who wrote it has so much psychological insight into the human heart that the words should be shared. Her boy Lyndon had been married 10 days. Rebekah Baines Johnson worried about him because he was willful, ambitious and stubborn. She worried a little about the flashing-eyed bride, Claudia Taylor, too.

The girl — called Bird — was much more mature than the boy. Mrs. Johnson wasn't sure she endorsed the quick marriage. Lyndon had a good job in Washington. He was secretary to Congressman Richard M. Kleberg, and this could lead to great things if the boy kept his mind on his work.

Ten days had gone by. They had not written to her. So Rebekah decided to pocket her pride and write to them. More than that, she decided to write with affection and understanding, and at the same time to win her new daughter-in-law to her heart.

"My precious Children": she started. "Thinking of you, dreaming of a radiant future for you, I someway find it difficult to express the depth and tenderness of my feelings. Often I have felt the utter futility of words, never more than now when I would wish my boy and his bride the highest and truest happiness together. That I love you and that my fondest hopes are centered in you, I do not need to assure you, my own dear children.

"My dear Bird, I earnestly hope that you will love me as I do you. Lyndon has always held a very special place in my heart. Will you not share that place with him, dear child? It would make me very happy to have you for my own, to have you turn to me with love and confidence, to let me mother you as I do my precious boy.

"My heart is full of earnest wishes for your happiness. From a mother's standpoint, however, I can scarcely say more than this. I hope — and hope you know is composed of desire and expectations — that Lyndon will prove to be as tender, as true, as loyal, as loving and as faithful a husband as he has a son. May life's richest blessings be your, dear little girl.

"My darling boy, I rejoice in your hapiness, the hapiness you so richly deserve, the fruition of the hopes of early manhood, the foundation of a completely rounded life. I have always desired the best in life for you. Now that you have the love and companionship of the one and only girl, I am sure you will go far.

"You are fortunate in finding and winning the girl you love, and I am sure your love for each other will be an incentive to you to do all the great things of which you are capable. Sweet son, am loving you and counting on you as never before.

"Now, my beloved children, I shall be longing to see you soon. Write me. Enjoy your honeymoon in that ideal setting, then hurry home to see us.

"My dearest love to you both,

"Momma."

She read it again, unconscious of the large firm word script, closed the envelope, and mailed the letter. Lyndon read it, and was glad that his mother loved his bride. Bird read it, and saw the intellectual flag of truce waving between her and her mother-in-law, and she melted. The two, in contention over one young man, fell into agreement and affection.

The bride saved the letter. It was read again and again. The author reposes under the shade of live oaks and cottonwoods on a Texas ranch. It is her daughter-in-law who stops the car to place a vase of posies before the headstone. She and her mother-in-law grew to understand each other more than the young husband knew.

Rebekah Johnson, on the other hand, never thought of the letter again. It had served its purpose, and she was aiming at new goals. When the soft sentimentality overcame her, she used to sit in an overstuffed chair in the house in Johnson City and reread the note her boy sent her in December 1929.

It revealed more of his inner self than he wanted to expose. He said that he was studying as hard as possible at Southwest State Teachers College, in San Marcos. He walked the main street and saw mothers Christmas shopping with their boys. It brought back memories. He saw the boys carrying the packages of tinsel, the colored ornaments, and the trees.

He was sorry—very sorry—to tell mother that he would not be home for Christmas because he needed $30 for spring tuition. He could afford the trip home, or the tuition. Not both. So he put his love in an envelope and remained at school.

Rebekah Baines Johnson blinked her eyes and said that this was the kind of boy she wanted to bring up . . .

Dems, GOP Pick State Leaders; Note Vacancies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Democratic and Republican party workers in New York State faced toward the November election today after the formality of re - electing their party chairmen and committee workers.

At the same time, both parties were confronted with urgent problems in the yawning vacancies on their tickets.

Carl Spad of Tarrytown, who was re-elected Tuesday in Albany as state GOP chairman, told reporters he had "half a dozen" persons in mind for comptroller, the partys' only vacancy.

While Spad declined to mention names, party leaders were known to favor State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy of Syracuse to oppose Arthur Levitt, the only Democrat holding elective office in the state administration.

Meanwhile, in Rochester, John J. Burns, Democratic state chairman, was re-elected Tuesday along with other committee members. The former mayor of Binghamton first was elected a year ago to complete the term of William H. McKeon, who resigned.

Burns, the father of 11, also had another occasion to celebrate Tuesday—his 38th birthday.

The Democrats now are faced with choosing a gubernatorial contender, and two announced candidates — Eugene Nickerson of Nassau County and Howard Samuels of Canadaigua — were present at the meeting to garner support.

Others seeking the Democratic nod include Frank D. O'Connor, New York City Council president and generally regarded as the front-runner, and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

On the policy front, the Democratic show of unity — demonstrated in electing committee officers by acclamation—broke down when a committeewoman introduced a resolution opposing the war in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Sylvia Hunter of Manhattan's 69th Assembly District called for "a cease fire, free elections and termination of our military involvement."

A standing vote tabled the proposal but not before 12 of the 150 committee members rose to object to it. Another 150 members did not attend the gathering but sent proxies.

In Albany, Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo of Rochester, the unsuccessful GOP candidate for comptroller in 1962, defended the state's controversial medical-aid program to the 150 delegates present out of 343 members.

"I wonder what the reaction would have been," he said, "if the governor had turned his back and said to Washington: 'You keep the $270 million. We don't want it.'"

He was referring to the increased federal aid that the Rockefeller administration says the state will receive for its program to pay medical bills of those deemed needy.

Meanwhile, an obstacle loomed in the path to the November general election when Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia raised the possibility Tuesday of holding a special session of the Legislature.

The Democratic speaker said he would urge a session be called if a possible replacement could be found for the Condon-Wadlin law barring strikes by public employes.

The move met immediate opposition from Republican leaders.

At the committee meetings, re-elected to two years on the were:

Mae Gurevich of the Bronx, vice chairman; Benjamin Wetzler of Manhattan, secretary; Louis Beck of Manhattan, treasurer, and George Carroll of Corona, sergeant at arms.

Re-elected to the Republican State Committee:

William Rogalin of Pound Ridge, vice chairman; Guy A. Graves of Schenectady, secretary, and William L. Pfeiffer of Old Westbury, treasurer.

Granted Track Fare Hike

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Jamaica Buses Inc. gained permission from the Public Service Commission today to increase one-way bus fares by 15 cents on its routes serving race tracks in the New York City area.

The company operates routes from New York and Long Island points to the Belmont, Roosevelt, Aqueduct and Yonkers tracks.

It plans to raise its 85-cent fare to $1 and add 15 cents to its present $1 and $1.10 fares.

The company told the PSC it needed more revenue to offset employe pay raises and other increased operating costs. It estimated that the fare increase would bring in $22,420 a year.

Dear Abby . . .

These Guests No Longer Welcome

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We recently had houseguests from out of state who came here looking for a house to buy. They were not close friends. In fact they invited themselves. We had just bought our own home, so our guests asked us how much we paid for it. Since they were in the market for one, we told them.

When a realtor came to our house to get our guests and show them what he had lined up for them, Mrs. X asked the realtor (a stranger to us) to appraise OUR newly purchased home. I was appalled, and the realtor was as embarrassed as I was, but Mrs. X. pursued the questioning with, "Oh come on, they told us what they paid for it, I just want to know what you think it's worth." How would you have handled this?

ON THE SPOT

DEAR ON: I would quickly have put the realtor at ease by announcing the price of the house. Then I would have hoped that the realtor would reciprocate and find the house-hunters a nice house, as far away from mine as possible.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a soldier who is in Korea. He will be there for another 10 months. I am only 19 and when I see all my friends out having a good time I am sorry I accepted his ring before he left. I realize now it was a mistake getting engaged so young, but at the time I wouldn't listen to anybody.

I write my finance every day, and he writes me, too, but that doesn't satisfy me. Would it be wrong for me to accept dates just for fun? I wouldn't get real serious with anyone else, because I think I really love my finance. But a girl gets awfully bored sitting home every night.

BORED

DEAR BORED: When you became officially engaged, you gave up the right to date others, for "fun" or other reasons, I agree, you were probably too hasty, but a promise is a promise. Make the best of it (alone) until your Johnny comes marching home.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: When that kid wrote in and asked you WHO should take a boy to the barber shop, his mother or his father, and you said, "HIS FATHER," I nearly fainted!

Abby, Saturday is the only day most fathers can get to the barbershop, MOTHERS can go any time.

If the boys are pre-school age, let mother take them during the week. If they're in school, let them go AFTER school, alone. But for crying out loud, don't clutter up the barber shops on Saturdays with fathers and sons. You can sign this,

Columbia Youth Is Hurt, Water Mishap

A 16-year-old Columbia youth was seriously injured Tuesday in a swimming incident near Bunker's Bridge off Route 66, Town of Greenport.

William Werner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Werner of Union Turnpike was taken to Columbia Memorial Hospital by the Greenport Rescue Squad. He suffered a skull fracture, authorities said.

According to reports, the youth was swinging out over the water on a rope when he lost his grip and fell, hitting another youth. It was not immediately known whether Werner suffered the head injury before or after he fell into the water.

The rescue squad had to carry the unconsious boy a quarter of a mile to the waiting ambulance.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has approved President Johnson's nomination of William S. Gaud to head the Agency for International Development. Gaud will replace outgoing David E. Bell at the end of the month.

Gaud, a graduate of Yale and its law school, has been Bell's deputy since 1964.

Pass Clean Air Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed and sent to the House an amendment to the clean-air bill that would authorize $196 million for three years to combat air pollution.

The measure, approved by 80-0 vote Tuesday, calls for appropriations of $46 million of the first fiscal year, $70 million for the next year and a final $80 million.

Capitol Footnotes

The Senate approves an extension and limited expansion of the school lunch and milk program by a 76-0 vote. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approves a year's extension of the International Wheat Agreement aimed at stabilizing prices and the flow of wheat between import and export countries. The Senate Public Works Subcommittee approves a measure that would authorize $6.9 billion for interstate highway construction in the 1968-69 fiscal year.

Specialists Find Recall to Viet Has Stepped Up

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Army helicopter pilots and others with critical military specialties will find themselves sent back to Viet Nam faster than they expected, it was learned today.

A decision has been made to shorten the time between involuntary tours for certain badly needed specialists, the Army said.

Demand Is Great

The demand has rocketed for helicopter pilots and mechanics, in particular, while the supply has not been able to keep pace.

The Army is making strong efforts to produce thousands of new chopper crewmen and maintenance personnel. This is expected to cure the situation in time.

Generally, the Army said it makes "every effort to give everyone, exclusive of volunteers, two years in another assignment before being eligible for subsequent tours in Viet Nam."

The normal Viet Nam tour for all services is one year.

The first indications of the new action relating to men with critical skills came in closed-door testimony by Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, before a Senate Armed Services subcommittee.

He was asked about the possibility of a need to request an extension of tours of duty in Viet Nam for specialists.

Johnson said there were two alternative courses.

"For the critical specialists like the helicopter pilot, we could extend the tour in Viet Nam and maintain the two-year tour out of Viet Nam with his family, or we can curtail the time that he had with his family after he has served a tour there," he said.

Giant Step Pupils Visit Art Center

Pupils participating in the Ellenville Central School District's "Giant Step" program went on their first field trip last week to the Storm King Art Center at Mountainville.

The trip's purpose was to provide a true-life experience for the children that would stimulate their academic interests, according to Sanford Grossman, director of Giant Step.

The program, which is subsidized by federal funds started July 5 for culturally disadvantaged and economically deprived children in grades two through six.

Mailers Reach Pact With WJT, Pressmen Remain

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators for the World Journal Tribune Inc. and the Mailers union reached a contract agreement today.

The pressmen's union is now the only one of the 10 unions in the newspaper industry that has not reached an agreement with the new publishing enterprise.

Idle for 80 Days

Publication by the World Journal Tribune — formed in the merger of three newspapers — has been held up for 80 days by disputes with the unions.

Chief Mediator David L. Cole announced the mailer-publisher agreement at 7:30 a.m. He said he had notified Mayor John V. Lindsay, who had called him into the labor dispute in its early days.

Cole said Lindsay would hurriedly telephone to Anthony J. De Andradi, international president of the Printing Pressmen's Union, and ask him to come to New York as soon as possible to help reach an agreement covering that union.

The pressmen's union and the corporation have been deadlocked for several weeks, mostly over the issue of working hours.

Lindsay Delighted

Cole said Lindsay was "delighted" to hear of the settlement and would ask De Andradi to come directly from union headquarters in Tennessee to City Hall.

The agreement was reached after almost 23 hours of negotiating.

Matt Meyer, president of the World Journal Tribune, said he doubted whether the corporation could make the often-mentioned July 18 publishing deadline.

But he added: "I share Mr. Cole's hope that we can settle quickly" with the pressmen.

Thomas M. Laura, president of Mailers Union No. 6 of New York, expressed satisfaction with the agreement reached.

"All 189 mailers previously employed by the three newspapers will all be rehired," he said.

Assign Two Area Troopers to New Posts in County

Transfer of two well known State Police officers became effective on Tuesday, according to Sergeant Charles Bundschuh.

Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes was transferred to the Ellenville substation as commanding sergeant in that unit, and Sergeant Donald Paulson was transferred from Ellenville to the Kingston substation as commanding sergeant.

Sergeant Rhodes had been assigned to the Kingston station the last several years. Both sergeants are well known in Ulster County and have participated in several major investigations.

Food, Money Taken At Wiltwyck Club

An early morning swim apparently whetted the appetite of some trespasser at the Wiltwyck Country Club early this morning causing them to break into the locker room and concession stand at the club pool. At 6:30 a. m. today the caretaker at the club notified the sheriff's office that the refreshment stand had been broken into and a quantity of hot dogs, rolls, soda, candy and other articles had been taken.

The value was estimated at $20. The area had been checked by the sheriff's night patrol just prior to 3 a. m. and apparently everything was in order at that time. Ulster County Investigator Thomas Mayone is conducting an investigation.

Anti-trust Rumors

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican leaders said today there are "disturbing rumors" that the administration has dismissed antitrust cases against companies whose executives have contributed to the Democratic party.

At a news conference called to announce a Republican "clean elections" bill, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said the subject will be discussed in a House speech Thursday.

House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford, who mentioned the rumors, said he had not verified their accuracy.

"But I suggest to the press," he added, "that it look at the Department of Justice's list of dismissals of antitrust cases within the last four to eight weeks, and the list of contributors to the President's Club."

The President's Club is composed of persons who contribute $1,000 or more to the Democratic party.

Ford, asked for more details, said "we are told" that an executive of one company against which antitrust charges have been dropped is listed as a contributor to the fund-raising organization. He did not name the company or the executive.

Byrd Wins, Vote Has Its Upsets

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Democratic primary upsets of Virginia's senior pillars of conservatism in both houses of Congress sent tremors through the state's political structure today.

In three key races in the Tuesday election only Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. managed to win over the moderate to liberal challengers seeking to restyle the state party image.

By the slimmest of margins — less than one-half of one per cent of the vote — Sen. A. Willis Robertson, 79, lost a see-saw fight to State Sen. William B. Spong Jr., 45, a Portsmouth attorney.

Margin About Same

The margin of defeat was essentially the same for Rep. Howard W. Smith, 83, dean of the Virginia congressional delegation and chairman of the House Rules Committee.

Winner of that race was George C. Rawlings Jr., state legislator from Fredericksburg.

And Byrd's victory margin was only one per cent in a relatively light vote of less than 435,000. The rival camps had forecast a vote of a half million or better.

Byrd defeated former State Sen. Armistead L. Boothe of Alexandria.

The unofficial Senate vote with only 10 of the state's 2,063 precincts still out showed: Robertson 216,420, Spong 216,899; Byrd 221,512, Boothe 213,227.

Complete unofficial returns from the 26 precincts in Smiths' sprawling north central Virginia 8th Congressional District were: Smith 26,521, Rawlings 26,885.

Abbitt Easy Winner

There were two other primaries for the House which didn't shape up as real contests. Rep. Watkins M. Abbitt, state Democratic party chairman, easily trounced a political unknown, Lewis Curling, a Chesapeake attorney, in the southern agricultural 4th District.

In the other race, Clive L. DuVal II, an attorney, trounced Thomas H. Woods, a travel agent, for the party nomination in the northern Virginia 10th District to oppose Republican Rep. Joel T. Broyhill, a member of Congress since 1952.

The outcome in the major races — two upsets and close victory by Byrd who was regarded as a heavy favorite to win nomination for the four years remaining in the unexpired term of his father — almost certainly will cause some adjustments in the party outlook.

Walkout Faces N.Y. Hospitals

NEW YORK (AP) — A new walkout threat faced some city hospitals today, raising the possibility of the fifth major labor dispute in two months involving New York's health facilities.

Nonmedical employes staged brief walkouts Tuesday at two private hospitals in New York and their union said there might be more widespread work stoppages today and Thursday.

The employes — laundry and kitchen workers, clerical personnel and the like—are members of the Drug and Hospital Workers Union, AFL - CIO, which has a five-year contract with 19 private hospitals in the city.

The contract is in its fourth year, when wage negotiations may be reopened. The union says it has obtained a 20 per cent wage increase from two of the hospitals and wants the same from the other 17. Current wages average $80 a week, a hospital spokesman said.

Tuesday's walkouts were staged at Mt. Sinai and Montifiore hospitals. Faced with the threat of more walkouts, Montifiore canceled all but emergency admissions.

Two Young Men Die In Cycle Mishaps

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two young men were killed Tuesday night in separate motorcycle accidents in Buffalo suburbs.

Blaise H. Rindone, 19, of Grand Island, died in the collision of his motorcycle and an automobile on the Niagara section of the Thruway near the south Grand Island bridge that spans the Niagara River.

Kenneth Hawkins, 21, of East Amherst, was killed in Amherst when a motorcycle failed to round a curve in Eggert Road and struck a utility pole.

Rindone lived at 2411 Love Rd. Hawkins' home was at 272 New Rd.

Killed in Front of Home

SYRACUSE,N.Y. (AP)-Donald Hilts Jr., 5, of West Eaton, Madison County, died Tuesday night in Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered Monday when struck by a truck in front of his home.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hilts Sr.

Gets Sewer Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The central New York State Town of Fleming is the recipient of a $58,880 loan to plan sewer facilities that will cost an estimated $1,181,328.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development awarded the funds Tuesday to the Cayuga County town, near Auburn.

Legislators Face Albany Recall On Strike Law

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Weary legislators, who ended the longest session in modern times last week, had before them today the prospect of a special session to deal with the state's Condon-Wadlin law.

Travis Raises Hint

That spectre was raised Tuesday by Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, who called for a special session if "an effective replacement" could not be found for the law, which bars strikes by public employes.

As if to counterpoint the call for revision of the rarely invoked law, a union claiming to represent 12,000 state employes threatened to strike state facilities unless Gov. Rockefeller created an office of collective bargaining.

Travi's suggestion drew an immediate attack from Gov. Rockefeller's office and the Senate's Republican leadership.

Travia, the Legislature's top-ranking Democrat, said in a statement that Democrats had been ready, since last year, to work out "a fair, equitable and workable compromise" on the issue, but "apparently the governor has not."

The Democratic-ruled Assembly and the Republican-dominated Senate passed rival bills to replace the Condon-Wadlin law but could not agree on a mutually acceptable version.

Both measures provided for collective bargaining and mediation procedures, but Democrats balked at a GOP provision that would have provided stiff fines for union leaders who violated the law.

Travia's statement Tuesday urging Rockefeller to call a special session provoked a reply from the office of the governor, who has been vacationing in Europe since the Legislature adjourned last Wednesday.

Brydges Blames Dems

A spokesman said Travia's compromise effort "would have been far more graceful weeks ago after the Senate had passed a workable practical and effective replacement . . . but the speaker was inflexible when it counted and the danger to both the public and the public's employes persists."

The Senate's Republican Majority Leader, Earl W. Brydges, maintained the trouble was based on Democratic "kow-towing to the leadership of the state AFL-CIO and a handful of civil service union leaders who want no part of any law which would curb them from calling an illegal strike."

In oblique reference to the possibility of a strike by New York City sanitation workers, Brydges added:

"There may well be a special session this year to deal with Condon - Wadlin. Unfortunately, if this happens, it will be as a result of another crippling strike, such as the New York City Transit walkout which brought that great city to its knees last January."

Efforts to replace the law were launched following that strike. The law is regarded as a failure because its penalties—dismissal of striking employes and no pay raises for three years for rehired strikers—are so severe that public employers are reluctant to invoke it.

Travia's statement came as Al Wurf, executive director of Council 50, New York State Employes, issued a statement saying the union "does not recognize" the Condon-Wadlin law.

Without collective bargaining machinery, he said, the state faces "the possibility of strikes in mental institutions, state prisons, offices of the Department of Labor and on the Thruway."

Answers Your Insurance Questions

QUESTION: I would like to learn what kind of insurance it is that pays for injury in a collision with a hit and run driver?

ANSWER: This is called "Uninsured Motorist" coverage and as its name implies, it also covers (to certain limits) bodily injury which is legally charged to a driver who has no Personal Injury Liability insurance. See any good agent regarding the limits of coverage in your own policy.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

LATEST IN FASHION—Two of the six serapes to be auctioned off at the Woodstock Library Fair July 28 are modeled here by (l-r) Trice and Laura Leavey of Woodstock. Six prominent artists are painting serapes. Trice wears Reginald Wilson's design and Laura models Arnold Blanch's. Other artists participating in the feature are Fletcher Martin, Arthur Zaidenberg, Edward Chavez and Anton Refrigier. Designed by Pauline Luloff, the six one-of-a-kind serapes will be modeled and auctioned at 3 p. m. Hank Sagazie of Hank's Barn in Saugerties will be auctioner. Modeling the serapes will be Jane Keefe, Margo Taylor, Jean Ball, Charlotte Rutherford, Mary Robinson and Carolyn Wilson. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Book About Area Artists Will Be Available Soon

"Creative Woodstock," the first in a series of three paperback books by Sylvia Day, will be published July 21, and will be available at area bookstores.

Brought out under the imprint of the Mead Mt. Press, the new book includes a series of brief biographical sketches of Woodstock's creative individuals. Some of the articles, although newly edited, appeared in local papers while others were written exclusively for the new book.

Mrs. Day, well known to area citizens in her capacity as editor-publisher of weekly papers, was at one time in charge of TV continuity for Kingston's television station. In 1956 when local television proved to be unprofitable, Mrs. Day became director of radio continuity at Radio Station WKNY where she also conducted a children's radio program. On leaving the radio station, Mrs. Day became production manager for a local advertising agency.

Formerly editor of The Record Press, Mrs. Day started her own paper, The Woodstock Week in 1964, which she sold the first of the year.

"Creative Woodstock" includes in addition to short biographies of Woodstock painters and sculptors, biographies of other creative Woodstockers. Mrs. Day's interest in the creative process has been a long and continuing one.

The next book in the series will be published in the early fall.

Fred Berk Is Back By Popular Dema

Fred Berk, well known folk-dance leader and teacher will be brought back to Woodstock by popular demand at a performance Saturday, 8 p. m. in the Woodstock Episcopal Church Hall under the auspices of the Turnau Opera Association.

The church hall, which will house the dance, is located on Route 212 just outside of Woodstock on the Saugerties Road.

Berk appeared at the Turnau Opera House about two weeks ago.

Set Political Seminar

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A two-day campaign seminar for Republican candidates for the Legislature will be conducted in Albany next Monday and Tuesday, the Legislature's GOP leaders announced today.

Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges and Assembly Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea Jr. will be among panel speakers discussing techniques designed to produce victory in November.

A similar seminar was conducted last year, after which the GOP regained majority control of the Senate. The Assembly remained in Democratic hands.

Group Plans to Sue Builder Of Whitney, Voilette Roads

The Whitney Drive-Voilette Place Taxpayers Association opened their move today to bring suit against local builder William Whitney for failure to finish road construction of the two Woodstock streets.

The association, which currently numbers 16 members, was organized formally Sunday at a private meeting in the home of Charles Lippincott, chief representative.

The group also retained the services of Kingston attorney Vernon Murphy, who took the first steps today in the legal action.

In a statement released Tuesday, Lippincott said that "Mr. Whitney was required by terms of a performance bond to complete the paving of Whitney Drive and Voilette Place to meet Town of Woodstock specifications by Wednesday, July 13, 1966

"A more than adequate two and a half year interval has brought no action by Mr. Whitney; the road remains untouched.

"The evidence of good faith on the part of Mr. Whitney, the bond was considered sufficient by the town, the mortgage loaning banks and new area taxpayers; it appears all were wrong.

"Death lurks in the billowing dust created by each swerving vehicle. Keeping to the right of the road is an impossibility due to craters and potholes. One dust-blinded driver could easily become a killer on these roads. Eroding water is ripping surface channels in all directions so a pattern of safe passage cannot even be mapped by residents. About 70 children live with this danger daily."

Lippincott further stated that Attorney Murphy was scheduled to deliver notes to town officials, the bonding companies involved and Whitney's attorney informing them of the plans to bring suit.

He added that the association would have about 14 more members added to the ranks in the near future. "And by the first of September, we plan to adopt an official constitution," Lippincott said.

Other representatives of the association include Raymond Heller, William Hourihan and Theodore Sesala. The group consists entirely of Whitney Drive—Voilette Place residents.

Birthday of Samuel Langhorn Clemens, who wrote under the name Mark Twain, was Nov. 30, 1835.

'Wise Woman' Is Next Production At Turnau Opera

Following the recent production of Orpheus at Turnau Opera in Woodstock will be an opera in an entirely different mood, Carl Orff's The Wise Woman, which will run from Friday through Tuesday with performances at 8:30 p. m.

Time Magazine has described this work as "a Rabelaisian romp peopled with a thieving mule-driver, an irascible king, a too-wise queen and a trio of drunken tramps who keep the action crackling along at a raucous, laugh-a-minute pace. Above all Wise Woman is what many operas are not—good theatre."

Stage director for the Turnau production is Norman Walker, who also directed Orpheus. Musical direction is under Herbert Kaplan and Warren Wilson. Sets and costumes are designed by Allen Edward Klein.

Klein was on Turnau's staff several years ago and has since joined the CBS-TV staff where he is staff designer for Captain Kangaroo, Camera Three and such hour-long color specials as Pinocchio and Jack and the Beanstalk. He has also completed eight shows for the Blackfriar's Guild Theatre. His work has been seen at Carnegie Hall and Philharmonic Hall in New York City. He is assisted by his wife, Ellen Providenti.

It has been estimated that nearly 40 million persons visited national parks in the United States during 1964.

LITTLE GIRL, BIG PLANE—When four-year-old Nadine Dake, a native of Nauru Island, was injured by a falling tree branch the Royal Australian Air Force came to the rescue with a rush. The little girl, who had a fractured spine and leg, was put aboard a Hercules transport and flown to Brisbane, 18 air hours away. Section Officer Pamela Bell, left, got an assist from Sgt. E. D. Ellen as the little girl was sped from the tiny island to a hospital with the proper equipment to care for her injury.

Tillson Area to Have Extra Police Patrols

Chief Constable Harold T. Bowers of the Town of Rosendale said today that extra night patrols have been assigned to duty because of complaints of prowlers in the Tillson Estate section.

The chief said that constables investigated weekend complaints and outside the window of one home they found footprints on the ground. Bowers said every effort is being made to apprehend the prowler and he promised immediate prosecution.

One woman resident told authorities Sunday night that she heard noises outside her home and as she looked out she saw a shadow of a person. Other neighbors also said they heard someone running through the back yards in the darkness.

Michigan State was the last football team to join the Big Ten Conference.

Johnson Spells Out 4-Point Asian Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has spelled out a four-point policy for peace in Asia combining U. S. commitment against aggression there with a continuing effort for improved relations with Red China.

"The peace we seek in Asia is a peace of conciliation," Johnson said in a speech Tuesday night to the American Alumni Council.

"Communists in Asia still believe in force to achieve their goals" and the United States, as a Pacific power, "will not retreat from the obligations of freedom and security in Asia" and particularly in Viet Nam, he said.

Must Discourage Reds

But lasting peace depends on international trade, the free flow of people and ideas, the full participation of all nations in an international community and a common dedication to human progress and development, he said.

Declaring that "a peaceful mainland China is central to a peaceful Asia," he said Peking must be discouraged from aggression hostility and encouraged toward peaceful cooperation with others.

He cited U. S. efforts — so far unsuccessful — to open up travel between the United States and mainland China.

Such U. S. initiatives will continue, he said "because we believe that cooperation, not hostility, is really the way of the future" toward a Pacific era in which America and Asia are partners across the ocean.

Pay Hike Bill to LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent President Johnson legislation granting pay raises to 1.8 million federal employes and more than 3 million members of the armed forces.

The separate measures gained final congressional approval Tuesday with but a handful of dissenting votes. Under their terms, civilian workers would receive 2.9 per cent pay increases, plus additional fringe benefits totaling four-tenths of 1 per cent, while uniformed servicemen would receive 3.2 per cent pay raises.

Covered by the $505.8-million civilian pay package are 1.2 million Civil Service employes and 600,000 postal workers. The military pay raise, estimated to cost $350 million its first year, was contained in a bill which also would authorize $17.4 billion for military spending.

Both pay packages would be retroactive to July 1.

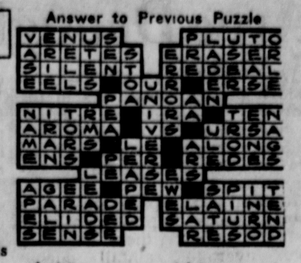

Report Solar Blast

CATANIA, Sicily (AP)— The Catania Astrophysical Observatory reported today that it had recorded a huge solar explosion lasting 15 minutes two days ago. It was the biggest registered here in four years.

Scientists said hydrogenous material shot out from the sun at a velocity of 90 to 180 miles per second to a distance of more than 185,000 miles.

Doctors to Fight N.Y. Medic-Aid

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of 2,900 New York doctors has formed an association to fight the state's new medical aid program because, a spokesman says, it will result in the deterioration of the quality of medical care available in the state.

Called Too Liberal

The group, headed by pathologist Ephraim Felderman of Plainview, N.Y., has hired a law firm in an attempt to convince the Department of Health, Education and Welfare not to approve the state medical aid program because it too liberally interprets one section of the Social Security Act.

The interpretation of Title XIX would provide medical aid NOT only to the needy and indigent, but to many middle income persons as well, resulting in a cost to the federal government highter that what it intended to spend on the entire country, Dr. Felderman said.

A prepared release from the organization, called the Association of New York State Physicians and Dentists, Inc., said that HEW told Congress that medicare would not cost the federal government more than $200 million for all 50 states in the first year.

"The New York State plan alone, by the most conservative estimates, would cost the federal government $217 million in its first year of operation, or more than Congress intended to spend for the entire nation," the statement said.

An association memorandum to HEW said that although limitation of state medical aid programs to the needy and indigent was not spelled out, a careful analysis of the law shows that "Congress did not intend to give free medical care to those in middle income brackets in New York."

Points to Burden

The memorandun said that the program, as written for New York, would give medical aid to half the population, putting such a burden on doctors that the quality of medical care would, of necessity, decline.

In addition, the association contends, the program would discourage persons from entering the medical profession and might encourage those already in the profession to set up practices in other states, drastically reducing the number of doctors and dentists in New York and further reducing the quality of medical care.

The association claims that its 2,900 members represent about 10 per cent of all doctors and dentists in New York.

List Big Events At South Side's Fourth Field Day

Fourth annual South Side Field Day for the children of Saugerties will open 1 p. m. on Sunday at the Christy Hubert Playground, and will feature games, refreshments and prizes.

Games committee consists of Robert Moser, chairman; Don Martin, Albert Perks, James Gage, William McCormick, Vincent Ferraro and Donald McCaig.

Refreshments will be served by Chairman Francis Whitaker and Committeemen Donald Minkler, Vincent Legg, Francis Ackert and Theodore Freligh.

After field day contests and refreshments, there will be a softball game between the South Side Men's Club and another local team.

Plan 2 Concerts To Raise Funds For Local Organ

The Saugerties Organ Fund Committee met Monday night at the Saugerties High School and made tentative plans for two organ concerts to be held in the high school auditorium.

The purpose of the concerts is to introduce formally the organ to the community and to raise funds to finance it.

The organ fund was initially started through the donation of the 1965 graduating class of Saugerties High School and has since then been increased through the donations of individuals, local organizations and businesses. One concert is hopefully planned for this fall and the other possibly early in the year.

Girl Scouts Take Trip to Albany

Girl Scout Troop 155, Malden took its annual bus trip recently to visit the Capital Building and museum in Albany.

Accompanying the Girl Scouts on the excursion were their mothers, brothers and sisters.

The Troop's award dinner will take place Wednesday, July 27. Two girls, Toni Burgher and Joyce Dachenhausen, will be promoted to cadet status.

An August outing to Lake Kinderhook is also on the troop's schedule.

Large concentrations of white marlin are found in the waters off Ocean City, Md.

See Chance to Trim Foreign Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents claimed today they have a fighting chance to trim the administration's $3.3-billion multiyear foreign aid authorization bill.

Rep. E. Ross Adair, R-Ind., said attempts would be made to cut dollar amounts in some programs and also shorten the length of installment payments on loans.

Supporters braced for a fight over the amendments. A final vote on the bill was expected late today.

"There isn't any part of the world we can ignore," Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, declared as debate opened Tuesday.

The bill would authorize for the first time across-the-board multiyear programs. All sections would be for two years except the Alliance for Progress program for Latin America and economic development loans, which would be for five years.

Area Drought Worsens, Water Storage Is Key

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although drought conditions in the Northeast are worsening again, a spokesman for the U S Geological Survey says there is no reason "for pessimism or extreme caution."

Rainfall in April and May brought some improvement, but "reports indicate there was less than average rainfall during much of the area during June and early July," he said Tuesday.

"Since we started the growing season with below normal supplies of ground water, stream flow has fallen off faster than normal."

"The extreme heat in much of the area in recent days," including record high temperatures in New York State, "tends to cause plants to use more water and also increases use by humans, thus putting additional demands on reservoir and underground supplies."

The spokesman said, however, the major problem was one of distribution and storage facilities rather than a shortage of water itself.

"With normal rainfall for the rest of the summer," he said, "we would be left in pretty good shape."

He commented in connection with a report issued Tuesday by the federal agency. The report notes that the Northeast drought is well into its fifth year and is the longest and most severe in the history of the region.

Groundwater levels, it said, reached record lows this spring through mid-Pennsylvania and southern New York State At the same time, stream flows by the end of last summer also were at record lows in much of new England and portions of Pennsylvania and New York State.

The report said, however, "that the timely execution of carefully laid long-range plans, together with pollution abatement and reasonable measures of water conservation, would make the water supplies of the Northeast region practically drought - proof for years to come."

According to the Icelandic sagas, Vikings sailed to northeastern American largely to seek wood.

Rochester Girl Killed

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — LouAnn Murray, 3, of Rochester, was injured fatally Tuesday when struck by a truck in front of her home.

She dashed into the street while playing with her step - brother, police said.

LouAnn was the stepdaughter of Raymond E. Vroman.

Vroman's address is 680 Clifford Ave.

Life expectancy at birth is the shortest in India.

DR. R. GLENN REED JR.

Elected Kiwanis Head at 51st Oregon Session

Dr. R. Glenn Reed Jr., Marietta, Ga., dentist, was elected president of Kiwanis International at the organization's 51st annual convention in Portland, Ore., according to Raymond F. Myers, president of the Kingston Kiwanis Club, who is in attendance at the Pacific coast convention.

As leader of the international service organization, Dr. Reed will be spokesman for its 275,000 members in 5,400 clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico, the Caribbean, the Far East and Western Europe. The new president has been a Kiwanian for 16 years and has been a member of various Kiwanis International boards for the past seven years. He has also been president of the Kiwanis Club of Marietta, governor of the Georgia Kiwanis District and chairman of a number of the Kiwanis International Committees.

The 51st convention of Kiwanis International in Portland attracted about 16,000 Kiwanians and their families. New ideas in community service and club administration were on the agenda of the convention.

Expect to Give More FBI Data On Eavesdropping

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is expected to give the Supreme Court further information today on the eavesdropping by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on conversations between a lawyer and his client, a former associate of Bobby Baker.

Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall is expected to file with the nation's high court a detailed paper giving, among other items, the identity of the person who authorized the FBI to listen in on the Washington hotel room of public relations man Fred B. Black Jr., who later was convicted on tax evasion charges.

Offered Information

In an unprecedented memorandum May 24, when a Black petition for appeal was pending, Marshall volunteered the information that the FBI had eavesdropped on Black but said it was for reasons unrelated to the tax case.

He said the operation was part of an unrelated "criminal investigation of various individuals."

Black now is fighting his 1964 tax conviction and has asked the Supreme Court for the second time to review it. The court denied Black's first request for review May 2.

He and Baker, former Senate Democratic secretary who has been indicted on a number of federal charges, were associated in a Washington vending machine business.

Asks Complete Report

The Supreme Court apparently was unsatisfied with Marshall's explanation of the eavesdropping. Justices asked the solicitor general to file a more complete report explaining, in addition to naming the person who authorized the bug, what kind of apparatus had been installed and when, what kind of records of intercepted conversation had been kept, what use had been made of them, and when the department had learned of it.

City Court Cases

Ferrell McElrath, 21, of 43 Derrenbacher Street, charged with failure to keep right, was found guilty after city court trial today, and was fined $10. Gail Naylor, 19, of 161 Tremper Avenue, charged with speeding, was fined $20; Jeffrey May, 18, of Box 223, Kingston, charged with making unnecessary noise, paid $15. Others charged with speeding and fined $10 each, were Henry Finn of Kingston, and Richard Dieter, of Howland Avenue. Sylvia Fox of RD 2, Box 364, Kingston, charged with failure to yield right-of-way, was fined $10. A third degree assault charge lodged recently against Walter Sims, 33, of 60 Franklin Street, was withdrawn.

Expect Severe Thunderstorms In Valley Area

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The Weather Bureau said at 1 p.m. today that severe thunderstorms were expected this afternoon and evening in eastern New York, mostly in the Catskills and Hudson Valley from around Poughkeepsie to just north of Glens Falls.

The storms also threatened portions of New England.

Yanks Engage

those wrecked by mechanical failures.

One of those lost Tuesday crashed near midnight 80 miles south of Saigon. One crewman is missing and another, injured, was rescued.

Four Americans were injured in a gunship shot down by ground fire 15 miles northwest of Saigon. The helicopter was destroyed.

Felled Another

Guerrilla gunners felled another 45 miles northwest of Saigon. It also was destroyed, but there were no casualties.

Air action dominated the war. Both U.S. and South Vietnamese military spokesmen reported no major ground contact with Communist troops. But South Vietnamese infantrymen claimed killing 32 Viet Cong in three clashes 30 miles north of the coastal city of Qui Nhon Tuesday.

The vintage MIGs were spotted by Navy planes as they raided a highway bridge 23 miles southeast of Hanoi.

One MIG was taking off from Gia Lam airfield, just outside the North Vietnamese capital.

The other was sighted eight miles southeast of Hanoi. "Both MIGs avoided contact," a U.S. spokesman said.

Other Navy planes from the carrier Oriskany struck the Dong Nhan storage area 16 miles north-northwest of Haiphong, sending smoke 20,000 feet above the depot. It was visible from 140 miles away, the Navy said.

Hits Confirmed

Aerial photographs confirmed the reports of pilots that two large storage tanks and possibly three went up in flames, the spokesman said.

Navy fighter-bombers also pounded a missile site 32 miles northeast of Haiphong, an antiaircraft gun site 39 miles northeast of North Viet Nam's major port, and oil tanks 44 miles southwest of Thanh Hoa, farther south.

Simultaneously, Air Force planes concentrated on truck convoys in the Southern panhandle and had what a spokesman described as a lucrative day. He said they destroyed 15 trucks, damaged 18 more and touched off 13 secondary explosions.

Air Force and Navy pilots flew a total of 91 missions over North Viet Nam Tuesday.

In the South, B52 bombers from Guam pummeled a cluster of three targets at dawn today only 10 miles south of the 17th Parallel demilitarized zone which divides North and South Viet Nam. The target area was 20 miles west of Quang Tri City, at three places thought to hold infiltrating troops from the North.

Flew 682 Sorties

U.S. and South Vietnamese planes flew 682 air sorties over the South Tuesday. American pilots in 439 single-plane strikes took the lives of perhaps 94 Viet Cong and destroyed or damaged 430 enemy structures, the U.S. command said.

After U.S. Air Force and Marine planes hit a Viet Cong concentration 38 miles north of Qui Nhon, South Vietnamese troops reported finding 71 bodies.

Radio Hanoi again complained that U.S. planes were attacking the extensive dike system protecting the ricefields of North Viet Nam's Red River Delta. A protest to the International Control Commission charged five such attacks in the past 10 days, "causing flood and drought, thus jeopardizing the life of millions of people."

A spokesman for the U.S. military command in Saigon said: "We have no record of dike bombings."

On the political front, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government named a civilian, Dr. Nguyen Luu Vien, as a second deputy premier who will be in charge of social and cultural affairs. The other deputy premier is Lt. Gen. Nguyen Huu Co, the defense minister.

Indira Tries Again

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India met in Moscow with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to pursue her effort to break down Soviet resistance to reconvening the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina. Kosygin told Mrs. Gandhi on her arrival Tuesday, "We shall hear you out with great attention and pleasure' 'but gave no indication the Soviets would do any more about peace negotiations.

Another Reported Incendiary Fire Quelled Downtown

Added to the city's growing list of incendiary fires was another early today which damaged a house in downtown's Broadway East Urban Renewal area.

Firemen said the blaze started on one side of a stairway on the lower floor of a three-story, brick building at 54 Ann Street and burned upward to the second floor. Several sections of wall were removed in tracing fire travel.

Volunteer Firemen John Rheinhart, of the Rapid Company, suffered an eye injury. A piece of glass was removed from the left eye at the Benedictine Hospital.

The house was one taken over by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency. The front door was found open when firemen arrived.

Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Rapid, Union and Cordts companies were mobilized by an alarm from Box 3131, Broadway and Spring Street at 12:40 a. m. with Deputy Chief Julius E. Buchholtz and Capt. Robert W. Hardwick in charge.

Firemen from Wiltwyck Station checked a brush fire off North Front and Converse Streets this morning. The call was at 9:48 a. m.

construction or improvements.

"This was accomplished through record State appropriations and reflects the awareness of your State government of its responsibility to meet the expanding needs for highway transportation," the Governor declared.

Projects advanced to bid opening during the first six months of 1966, Gov. Rockefeller said, involve:

About $33.4 million for construction of sections of Interstate Route 84 in Orange, Dutchess and Putnam Counties.

$27.1 million for segments of the Southern Tier Expressway in Chautauqua, Cattaraugus, Tioga and Broome Counties.

$18.4 million for construction of Interstate 690 in Syracuse.

$19 million for the superstructure of the South Mall Expressway Bridge and interchange and approaches to the Patroon Island Bridge, Albany and Rensselaer Counties.

$13 million for major arterial projects in and near Niagara Falls, Utica, Ogdensburg and Syracuse.

$38 million for construction or improvement of Richmond Parkway in Richmond County, Prospect Mountain State Parkway in Warren County, Ocean Parkway in Nassau and Suffolk Counties, superstructure for the Robert Moses Causeway and bridge in Suffolk County, the Cross County Parkway in Westchester.

$8.8 million for construction of the first section of the Genesee Expressway in Livingston and Steuben Counties.

$9.4 million for construction of a section of Bruckner Expressway (Interstate Route 878) in the Bronx.

The 1966 Department of Public Works' projects, Gov. Rockefeller said, also provide for construction of the superstructure of the Irondequoit Bay Bridge and the Keeler Street Expressway in Monroe County, at a combined cost of $10.3 million; railroad grade crossing eliminations at Wantagh and Seaford, Nassau County, $7.5 million; Routes 25, 25B and 27 in Nassau and Suffolk Counties, $14 million; the Aurora Expressway in Erie County, $4.9 million; Route 304 in Rockland County, $3.8 million; and Route 12 in Lewis and Oneida Counties, $4.2 million.

Other projects costing in excess of $1 million provide for construction or improvement of Routes 96A in Tompkins County, 277 in Erie, 377 in Albany, County Road 2B in Essex, 12 and 12E in Jefferson, 79 in Tompkins, 5 in Genesee, 3 in Franklin, 194 in Lewis and Dingens Street in Erie.

"In all," Gov. Rockefeller said, "we advanced 201 highway projects to bidding during the first six months of 1966 and each of them contributes to the provision of a highway network responsive to the needs and demands of the people of New York State."

Garraghan Says

changes in the plan, as presented by Raymond and May Associates, that were in Washington for approval. The committee was told by your office that changes would be made, but it was better to wait for approval in Washington; as, to ask for changes now, would delay the program for some two years.

No Word on Re-evaluation

"The uptown program was approved on May 19, 1966 and I have heard nothing about recalling the "Planners" to revaluate the plans. As Mayor of the city I think it is your duty to call for re-evaluation, as there has been great physical changes in the uptown area as well as financial problems that will effect Broadway East.

"I will be unable to attend your meeting tonight as the Common Council is in session and I have been told to make myself available."

Dr. John W. Turrentine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. John W. Turrentine, 86, an internationally known chemist and first president of the American Potash Institute, died Monday of arteriosclerosis.

Arrest Recalls Past Spy Cases

NEW YORK (AP) — The arrest of retired Lt. Col. William Henry Whalen in Alexandria, Va., Tuesday on charges of giving military secrets to Russians while an aide to the Joint Chiefs of staff recalled these top spy cases since World War II:

In 1950 Harry Gold, a Philadelphia chemist, was sentenced to 30 years as a courier for Dr. Klaus Fuchs' international spy ring.

Rosenbergs in 1950

The same year Julius Rosenberg and his wife, Ethel; Mrs. Rosenberg's brother, David Greenglass, and Morton Sobell were convicted of passing atomic secrets to Russia. The Rosenbergs were executed in 1953; Sobell got 30 years and Greenglass, who turned states' evidence, got 15 years.

In 1957 Jack Soble got seven years and his wife, Myra, four years, on spy charges.

Also in 1957, Col. Rudolf Abel, a Russian, was convicted in Brooklyn and sentenced to 30 years. Later he went back to Russia in exchange for American U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers.

In 1963 a couple known as Robert Baltch and his wife, the former Joy Ann Garber, were arrested on spy charges. It developed that their names were taken from innocent Americans, an Amsterdam, N.Y., priest and a Norwalk, Conn., housewife, and that they actually were Alexandre Sokolov, a Russian, and his wife. Their trial was under way in October 1963, when the case was suddenly dropped on orders from Washington. The pair were later deported.

Drummond Got Life

In August 1963, Navy Yeoman Nelson C. Drummond was sentenced to life imprisonment on charges of passing secret information to Soviet officials at the United Nations.

Later the same year, John William Butenko, of West Orange, N.J., an electronics engineer, along with a Russian chauffeur and three Russian diplomats, was accused in an espionage conspiracy. Butenko and the chauffeur, Igor Ivanov, were tried and convicted in Newark, N.J., in 1964. Butenko was sentenced to 30 years, Ivanov to 20 years...

In January 1965, Robert G. Thompson, of Bay Shore, N.Y., a 29-year-old Air Force veteran, was arrested and charged with being a paid spy for Russia for many years. He pleaded guilty and in May, 1965, was sentenced to 30 years.

Talks . . .

United. The strike has halted 60 per cent of the nation's air travel at a cost to the airlines and labor of an estimated $8 million daily.

Impact Growing

The struck airlines agreed to bargain jointly with the union last August. Braniff, Continental and Northeast Airlines, with employes represented by the machinists, did not enter into the agreement and have not been struck.

Other nonstruck airlines have contracts with mechanics represented by the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union.

The strike's impact continued to grow in intensity and variation across the nation.

The chief dispute is over a union demand for wage increases of about 53 cents an hour over a three-year contract period. The company has indimore han the 44-to-48 cents recommended by a presidential panel over the same period.

Tuesday's halt in talks was announced by Joseph W. Ramsey, IAM vice president, who said that Northwest "fouled up the talks by issuing an order in Tokyo depriving its employes of credit arrangements and requiring them to immediately start paying rent for living quarters." Previously, such payments — as much as $330 monthly for three-bedroom units — had been deducted from the employes' cost of living allowances.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, presiding over the negotiations, described the dispute as a "serious impediment" to a settlement.

Reynolds added that the talks had been going fairly well until the new development.

Pay Hikes

of seven members, two to serve one year, two in for two years, and three for three years.

Alderman George Margolis (R) First Ward, said he was pleased to be able to vote for the measure approving such a commission. Anyone who visits the Senate House Museum, in his ward, he said, can be proud of the historic value of the City of Kingston and of its many important landmarks.

Lists Appointments

Copies of the local laws dealing with the salary increases for four officials, the aldermen and aldermen-at-large were left with the aldermen for consideration before a vote after final reading, possibly at the next regular council session.

Letters from Mayor Garraghen noted two recent appointments. Former Fourth Ward Alderman Lawrence E. Woerner was appointed to the Municipal Civil Service Commission. He succeeds Frank A. Reis Jr., who recently resigned.

Mrs. Jeannette H. Kelly, of 165 Pearl Street, was named city registrar to succeed Mrs. Loretta C. Clare, of 184 Pine Street, who resigned recently because of ill health.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Eugene A. Ruffing, who passed away July 13, 1959.

No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have loved can tell
The grief we bear in silence
For the one we loved so well.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband and our father, Frederick Rice, who passed away 3 years ago today, July 13, 1963.

Three years have passed since that sad day,
When the one we loved was called away.
Deep in our hearts, he is with us yet,
We loved him too dearly to ever forget.

Asks CORE to Define Black Power Slogan

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—The local chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality wants that civil rights organization to clarify what it means by the widespread use of the slogan, "black power."

The Rev. Harry Thor, who said he was acting with the approval of the Binghamton chapter, made the request Tuesday in a telegram to Floyd McKissick, national CORE director.

At the same time, Thor asked that McKissick reaffirm that non-violence was the organization's guiding principle.

In his telegram, Thor said:

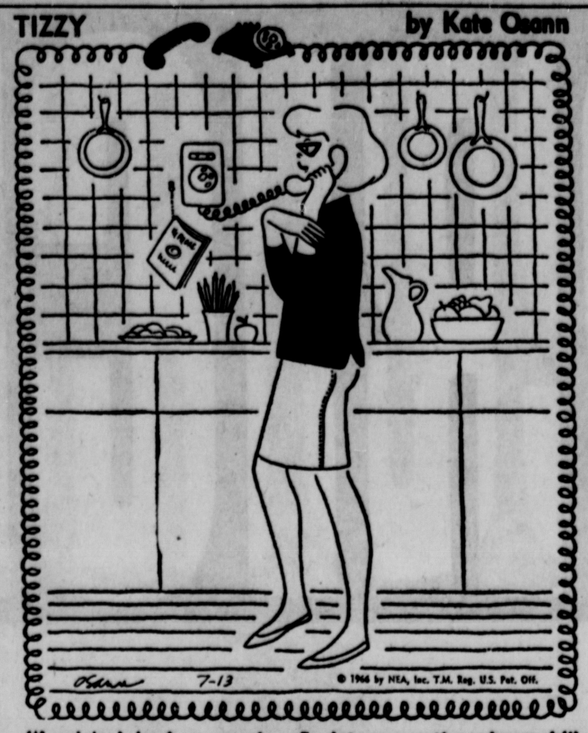

"While CORE rules for action are still clear and peace-loving, we have become suspected of advocating lawlessness and anarchy."

He said the "black power" slogan came into use after a "self - defense" resolution was adopted by CORE at a Baltimore meeting earlier this year.

Answer Questions of Readers On U. S. Policy in Viet Nam

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Associated Press recently completed a survey in which average newspaper readers across the country were asked what interested or troubled them most about the world today. A series of questions were selected from the survey. This article on military policy is one of several dealing with those questions.

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Why doesn't the United States go for an all-out, total military victory in Viet Nam?

This answer emerges from the words of U.S. statesmen and military leaders:

Stops Short

1. The United States stops short of seeking all-out victory because of the inherent risk of becoming embroiled in all-out war, with Communist China. Johnson has laid down the guidelines here: "We seek no wider war," he has declared, and he says that the U.S. buildup in Viet Nam, and the bombings of North Viet Nam, are merely "measured response" to military pressures from the North.

2. The United States isn't using all its prodigious military might which could be brought to bear in Viet Nam because it does not seek a military victory in the ordinary sense.

As Secretary of State Dean Rusk has put it: "The United States seeks no territorial aggrandizement in South Viet Nam.

We want no permanent military bases, no trade advantages. We are not asking that the government of South Viet Nam ally itself with us or be in any way beholden to us." Nor, he has said, is it U.S. purpose to destroy the government of North Viet Nam, but only to make Hanoi desist from aggression.

Is Counter Measure

3. The United States is seeking in a limited fashion to counter what many officials consider to be forerunner of other "wars of liberation," attempts by Communist guerrillas to overthrow governments.

As Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told Congress: "Our military efforts are directed primarily to actions within South Viet Nam, with the air effort against North Viet Nam fashioned as appropriate to assist in achieving our objectives in the South. Our air effort in the north is — as it should be — mainly an effort to interdict the lines of communicatication and military traffic. Anything beyond that, short of destruction of the North Vietnamese nation, is not likely to make a significant military difference so long as Hanoi believes that in South Viet Nam the war can be won."

The United States treads lightly in anticipating what Red China might do if military strikes were stepped up beyond the current pattern in North Viet Nam.

"Their spokesmen," Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said recently, "have uttered many words of violence, hostility, and threats about making any move of armed aggression against us. The Chinese government gives very substantial material support to North Viet Nam. But as for engaging in any combat action, they appear, as has been said, ready to fight to the last North Vietnamese."

Cites Infiltration

Latest Pentagon figures show that North Viet Nam continues to infiltrate into South Viet Nam at the rate of 4,500 men a month, sometimes more.

Officials estimate there are more than 240,000 Viet Cong spread over the country either in lightly armed, loose bands, or in well-organized, well-equipped units. They possess the advantage of choosing when and where to strike.

To aid South Vietnamese troops, the United States has dispatched more than 260,000 men, not including about 60,000 naval personnel involved in offshore fleet operations.

The basic plan for preventing a Communist takeover in South Viet Nam involves three phases:

—Bringing the enemy offensive to a halt.

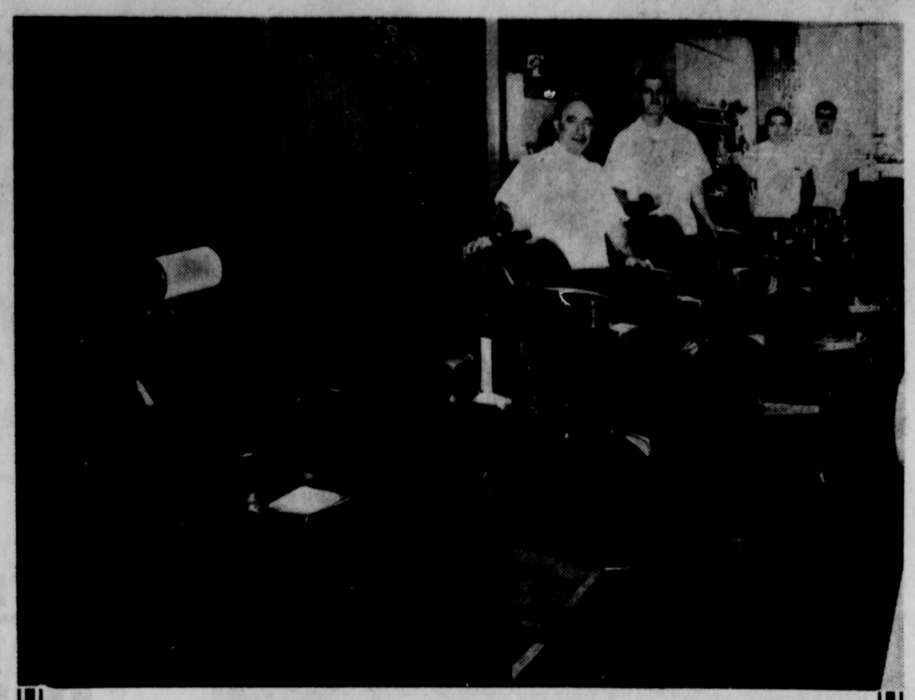

Taking Offensive

—Second, taking the offensive: Finding and destroying the main Viet Cong and North Vietnamese army units and establishing government control over selected areas of South Viet Nam.

—Third, helping South Viet Nam extend government control over its entire country.

In recent weeks, the enemy has played elusive and appeared to be avoiding large-scale battle. U.S. officials attribute this to allied military successes earlier in the year. The Communists suffered significant losses of men and material.

Whatever the name of this deadly game — graduated escalation, strategic persuasion or flexible response — U.S. plans have not been altered, these officials say. The buildup will continue, presumably to the 400,000-man level mentioned around the Pentagon.

Buffalo Youth Faces Florida Court Action

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mark Teich, 19, of Buffalo, N.Y., faced court action today on a charge of disorderly conduct by breach of the peace in connection with a sit-in at a Selective Service office here.

Teich and a companion, Marc Gripman, 18, of Orange City, Fla., were charged after they were arrested and carried out of the federal building Tuesday by police.

They were ordered held overnight in city jail in lieu of $25 bonds each. Teich said he was a student at Miami-Dade Junior College.

Airs Problems Added by Color For NBC Show

By DICK ALBAIN
For Cynthia Lowry

EDITOR'S NOTE — Behind every science-fiction or fantasy program there is an ingenious special-effects man who really creates the illusions. Dick Albain of NBC's "I Dream of Jeannie" tells of the problems the addition of color creates for him.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Rainbow colored smoke; shirts which float out of the automatic washer all ironed and folded; rowboats; palm trees that wave and tow.

Such special effects on "I Dream of Jeannie" are my unholy bailiwick.

Enchanting, No Magician

To the American viewing public, Barbara Eden is the moving force behind the strange things happening. Although Barbara is an enchanting girl, she is no magician.

The magic is the result of neither Barbara's acting ability nor my gimmickry. Producer-writer Sidney Sheldon dreams up the tricks we're expected to stage successfully.

Since the show goes to color this fall, we decided that her emergence from the genie bottle should be in colored smoke, instead of last year's old garden-variety gray.

Out came the dry ice machine, the fans to blow the smoke and the bright colored lights across which it must blow, from lavender to green to royal blue. It took days of experimentation. Finally Barbara was summoned in her genie outfit to shoot the rainbow colored smoke. Everything went beautifully — with one exception. I forgot that chiffon harem pants when exposed to the moist, colored smoke, would shrink. And they did — right up to midshin. There was no solution for that problem except to keep the camera at about knee level so it would miss the sight of Barbara's climbing pantaloons.

The folded shirts from the washing machine are a simple matter of well-manipulated puppet wire — with me up on a catwalk above the machine. The rapid changes of clothes effected by Jeannie and her astronaut master, Tony Nelson — costar Larry Hagman — are a matter of stopping action, making a quick change of clothes, assuming the same pose and continuing with the story line.

Training Helps

My training as an electronics engineer comes in handy every day. One of the tricks set up for a fall episode, "My Master, the Pirate" calls for Larry, Barbara and a guest player to escape from a pirate ship by rowboat. When the pirates give chase and are about to capture them, the rowboat takes off swiftly across the lagoon.

I was asked to put the capper on this by having the rowboat travel up on the beach where a leaning palm tree straightens up, permitting the rowboat to disappear into the jungle foliage. Shooting the scenes gave us a grueling morning, during which a small tractor on shore-attached to underwater cables goofed the cue.

Mohawk Flying Half Empty; Too Many Calls

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Many Mohawk Airlines planes are flying half-full, a company spokesman says, because the reservations center cannot handle the flood of telephone calls.

Thomas G. O'Leary, vice president of the regional carrier, said Tuesday:

"We are having more requests for service than our telephone can handle and all our planes are operating with empty seats, some of them at 50 per cent of capacity."

Mohawk has added 10 flights to its New York State schedule to increase air service during the machinists' strike against five major airlines.

Mac Invokes Eisenhower's Reasoning on Oil Raids

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara demonstrated anew this week that the Eisenhower image remains a potent one on the Washington scene.

Asked at a news conference to explain his apparent change of heart about the wisdom of bombing the Hanoi and Haiphong oil depots, McNamara said conditions had changed and added: "I think it was essentially this same line of reasoning that led Gen. Eisenhower to make the statement that he did."

JFK Did Likewise

By invoking the Eisenhower name, McNamara was doing what comes naturally. When you make a controversial decision look to the former president for a first line of defense.

This is what President John F. Kennedy did after Dwight D. Eisenhower left the White House in January 1961 and this is what President Johnson has done since.

It's usually a safe gambit. Having shouldered the burden of presidential decision-making and concomitant criticism for eight years, Eisenhower generally is a sympathetic source of support.

The byproducts of his support are considerable.

There is the political insurance inherent in a former Republican president's endorsement of a Democratic administration's decision.

Some of the controversy is squeezed out of the decision by giving it a bipartisan coloring.

Could Rally Undecided

The magic of the Eisenhower name may turn the trick of rallying the undecided.

And so Kennedy and Johnson employed this tactic again and again, and did not confine its use to highly controversial matters.

For instance—

When Kennedy asked Congress in March 1961 for $500 million for economic and social development in Latin America he included a reminder that the program began under Eisenhower.

Later that month in a special message to Congress on foreign aid, always a whipping boy to some congressmen, he recalled Eisenhower's support of the program.

In March 1962, when Kennedy advocated the United States look beyond its borders toward closer economic and political association with Europe and Japan he noted Eisenhower's general endorsement.

When Johnson, in December 1963, appealed to Congress to reject a drastic reduction in foreign aid funds proposed in the House he said the cutback would undo Eisenhower's efforts in Latin America.

In May 1965, Johnson shored up his controversial decision to send Marines to the Dominican Republic with an Eisenhower statement of support.

Last January, when air strikes against North Viet Nam were resumed, Eisenhower was quick to support the move.

The same day Johnson ordered air attacks on the North Viet Nam oil depots Eisenhower issued a statement calling the decision "a military necessity" and saying "I support it."

Cooperation between Eisenhower and his successors has not always been velvet smooth. Last August, for example, Eisenhower challenged Johnson's oft-repeated contention that U.S. military action in Viet Nam flowed from a 1954 Eisenhower commitment to the Saigon government.

But that disagreement was the rare exception.

Says PBA Head Injects Racism In Board Attack

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Civil Liberties Union has accused John J. Cassese, president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association (PBA) of "injecting a thinly veiled racism" in his attacks on the civilian-dominated police review board.

The group, a unit of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), made a public appeal to Cassese Tuesday to "disist from demagogy."

Misinterpreted

Cassese, commenting on the accusation, said he had been "completely misinterpreted."

"We never injected the issue of racism in this," Cassese added Tuesday night.

Norman Frank, a spokesman for the PBA, said: "The PBA supports in every practical way the equalization of rights among all citizens. . .does not believe the review board is the answer."

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said Tuesday that the PBA's opposition to the new review board is "irrational."

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, said in a statement:

"The police, like all other civil employes, are the servants of the citizens and thus subject to regulation by the citizenry and the law. They are not above the law or a special privileged class as the pronouncements by the PBA seem to indicate. . ."

To Review Charges

Members of the new board to review charges of brutality and other complaints against policemen were announced Monday by Mayor John V. Lindsay and Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary.

Lindsay's four civilian appointees to the board included a Negro, a Puerto Rican and two white men who have been active in the civil rights movement. Leary's three police appointees included two white officers and one Negro.

Immediately after the appointments were made public, Cassese said the board was "so pro-civil rights and so Lindsay-thinking, I think Lindsay went out of his way to get those four."

Cassese, who has fought for years against the idea of civilians on the police review board, also said he was "sick and tired of giving in to minority groups."

Fought Against

Cassese and the PBA have campaigned against a civilian-dominated board on the ground that it would impair the efficiency of the police department and be unfair to its members.

Civil rights groups have campaigned for an all-civilian board or, at least, one dominated by civilians.

For many years, the review board was composed of three deputy police commissioners. Under the new board — as under the old — the police commissioner will have the final authority after the board has held hearings and made its recommendations to him.

The PBA and the Conservative party have filed with the city clerk separate batches of petitions to get the issue of the board makeup put before the voters in a referendum at the November election. Lindsay has said he will seek to prevent a referendum.

U.S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, a Republican, said in an interview Tuesday that if there is a referendum he will campaign with the Republican mayor in urging the voters not to support a reversal of Lindsay's civilian-dominated board program.

Javits said the new board will "improve public support of the police department."

The Board of Governors of the New York Young Republican Club endorsed the mayor and the new review board.

Pierce Is Named Outstanding Educator

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Dr. Frederic Pierce, 35, of Johnson City, N.Y., near Binghamton, has been named one of America's four outstanding young educators.

Pierce, a physical education teacher in the Owece-Apalachin School District, received the award and $8,000 in scholarship funds Tuesday from William Suttle, U.S. Jaycee president, and R.W.H. Nault, research director of the Field Enterprise Educational Corporation.

Pierce teaches first through sixth grades and coaches high school golf and basketball. In addition, he is chairman of the Citizens' Committee for Slum Clearance in Johnson City and is a member of the district, state and National Education Associations.

He was among 47 finalists — representing 24,000 original nominees — at the awards banquet. The contest is sponsored by the Jaycees and the World Book Encyclopedia.

STILLWATER, N.Y. (AP) — Anthony Malinoski, 15, of Stillwater, was drowned Tuesday while swimming in the Hudson River, about four miles north of this community between Troy and Glens Falls.

SIC Denies Delay In Probe of Housing

NEW YORK (AP) — The state investigation commission denied delay — as charged by State Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia — in reporting on an investigation of limited profit housing programs.

Myles J. Lane, chairman of the bipartisan commission, said in a statement Tuesday that two bills were submitted last March for action by the Legislature. The Legislature adjourned last week.

Travia, a Brooklyn Democrat, had complained Monday that the commission's report was not submitted until after the Legislature adjourned. The report, made public Sunday, charged that there are loopholes in the limited-profit housing law and suggested remedies.

Lane, in a statement issued by his office here, said one of the bills submitted in March provided for an additional "watchdog" director for all cooperative housing companies.

He said the other bill would have required that prospective tenants receive full financial data concerning their project. Both bills, Lane said, grew from an investigation and public hearings held by the commission earlier this year.

Lane said the bills will be reintroduced in the next Legislature.

GE to Assist

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—The General Electric Co. missile and space division here will act as a consultant for a team of five European firms building two space-research satellites.

A company spokesman said Tuesday that GE would provide technical and management assistance to the group.

Named to State Post

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Gordon L. Barclay of Orangeburg is a new assistant commissioner for research in the State Mental Hygiene Department, at an annual salary of $21,915.

Connelly Fire Comissioners Issue Statement

The fire commissioners of the South Rondout Fire District have sent the following letter to Fire Chief Frank Giles and members of Hasbrouck Engine Company No. 1 concerning regulations for driving the fire truck.

"The Fire Commissioners of the South Rondout Fire District, at their last regular monthly meeting held in the firehouse of said district, did declare that there would be no further driving of the fire truck, for any purpose other than drills and actual fires within the district. This means in fact, that there is to be no more exercising of the fire truck as has been done in the past, by anyone. The truck shall be taken out on any and all drills as the Fire Chief deems necessary, and of course to all fires, and for no other reason shall the truck leave the building.

"The Commissioners also hereby order that no line officer of the Company shall drive the Fire Truck for any reason, unless in case of emergency, when there shall be no other driver available to take the truck to the scene of the emergency. We the Commissioners feel that the line officer or officers should be on hand to see that equipment of the district is taken care of and the truck driven with care and consideration, and this can not be done if the officers are operating the truck.

"The board of Fire Commissioners suggests that the Fire Chief form a team or teams of drivers and train these drivers to the best of his ability, for the purpose of safe, careful driving at all times. We all know that the men or the equipment are no good to the district if either or both are laid up with injuries.

"Thank you for your cooperation, we feel this is best for all concerned."

The letter, dated June 6, 1966, was signed by George Meehan, chairman; Albert Hendricks, secretary; Henry Slattery, James Folwell Sr., James Rieker, fire commissioners, South Rondout Fire District.

In making public the letter the commissioners said they wished to clarify the matter for taxpayers of the fire district.

Troop 12 Indians To Head County Legion in Albany

The Troop 12 "Indians" Drum Corp will participate in the American Legion Department of New York convention parade at Albany on July 27, with Ulster County Legionnaires, according to Ralph Shapiro, business manager of the local youth drum and bugle corp.

The parade which will step off Friday at 6:30 p. m. at Central Avenue and Partridge Street, will have over 10,000 Legionnaires and bands participating.

The Ulster County contingent of 500 Legionnaires expected to participate will join the Third District which starts off on Kent Street west of Partridge Street in the lower Central Avenue area. The Troop 12 Drum Corp. will be at the head of the Ulster County contingent.

All post commanders of Ulster County Legion posts are asking post members to get in contact with them if they can participate in the parade.

Astronauts Slate Second Day of Launch Practice

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 10 astronauts run through a second day of practice today for next Monday's double rendezvous and spacewalk launching.

Navy Cmdr. John W. Young and Air Force Maj. Michael Collins planned to spend much of the day in their spacecraft atop a Titan 2 rocket, rehearsing major portions of the three-day mission.

The launch crews passed a major test Tuesday with a flawless countdown simulation with the two rockets involved.

An Atlas is to lift off at 4:41 p.m. EDT Monday to boost an Agena target satellite into orbit. A Titan 2 is to loft the astronauts skyward at 6:21 p.m. EDT.

Young and Collins are to dock with the Agena and later rendezvous with an Agena left in space after the Gemini 8 flight last March. Collins plans two 55-minute sessions outside the spacecraft.

First pact concluded between the United States and an Asian country was the treaty with Siam (Thailand) in 1833.

Mr. Anthony Has Brand New CareerIn Film World

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Mr. Anthony, I've got a problem."

For almost two decades such a preamble started a recital of family trouble which Mr. Anthony would then analyze before millions of radio listeners. The phrase became an American saying and it still is, though John J. Anthony has not been heard by a national audience for a dozen years.

Very Much Alive

He is very much alive and at 63 is entering a brand new career as an actor.

Recently the makers of "Divorce American Style" were casting the role of the judge who tries to arbitrate the differences between Debbie Reynolds and Dick Van Dyke. Remembering the longtime family counselor of the air, one of the men suggested: "Why don't we get Mr. Anthony?"

The Columbia casting department had no idea where Anthony was. The TV-radio actors union was queried, and he was located at his home a few miles away. As expected, he proved a perfect type for the role.

"I'm having the time of my life," he commented of his career. "I'm just kicking myself because I didn't try it sooner."

Perfect Casting

Seldom has Hollywood performed such a perfect piece of type-casting. With his neat appearance and calm, reassuring manner, Anthony looks exactly like a — well, a Mr. Anthony. He hastily denies any pretensions of omniscience.

"There are many problems without any solutions," he commented.

"The very act of living often solves problems. At any rate, I've never been certain that all problems should be solved. Life might lose its flavor if they were."

A native New Yorker, Anthony started out to be a writer but moved into broadcasting. He discovered that most Americans were ignorant on the subject of marriage. He did some research and went on a Long Island station with a counseling program on April 10, 1930.

His show went nationwide in 1935 and remained on the networks until 1953.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — After two days' efforts, police succeeded recently in opening a safe that had sat on a street corner for six weeks before police hauled it in.

The safe was empty.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON Ap Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're in a position to lend money to the U.S. Treasury on a short-term basis, you can reap a record reward. But if you hold some long-term U.S. Treasury bonds and must sell them, you'll have to take the lowest price in more than 40 years.

Few individuals are in such a position since the Treasury's marketable bills and bonds are mostly sold in large bundles to financial institutions or to the government's other agencies. Individuals usually invest in an entirely different government security, U.S. Savings Bonds, which aren't marketable.

But this week the price of long-term U.S. Treasury bonds fell to the lowest level since the 1920s. The yield on short-term Treasury bills rose to a record high. And to the financial and business community this spelled tight money, and maybe still tighter.

The bond prices fell because interest rates in general are high and rising. Since the bonds have fixed-interest rates, the only way a buyer can get a return in line with what he can reap from a host of competing forms of investment is to pay the holder of the bonds considerable less than their par value. And if their par value was $1,000, most of them were being sold at $910 or less in the open market.

The Treasury's 13-week bills, auctioned off Monday, brought an average return to investors of 4.876 per cent, a record for this form of government borrowing. The Treasury sold $1.3 billion of them.

The average yield on its 26-week issue was 4.999 per cent, up smartly from last week but still under the record of 5.099 per cent set in January 1960.

The price of bonds and the yield of bills is important just now because of the turmoil in the stock market, the scramble for mortgage funds, the rush of corporations to borrow from the banks, and the generally rising cost of borrowing for both business and consumers.

The stock market watches the price of bonds because it shows what yields investors can get if they shop around. High yields in the bond markets call attention to the lower returns stock buyers can get in the form of dividends. This cools some desire to buy stocks and helps send prices down, or keep them down.

Rising interest rates and yields — whether it's for government bonds or bank time deposits — tend to drain money away from the mortgage market. This makes it harder to find some one to finance the purchase of a new home, and sends the charges on new mortgages higher.

When bond prices drop, banks holding government bonds in their reserves are less likely to sell them to raise cash to lend to businessmen wanting loans to meet current expenses or to expand.

And the record yields on U.S. Treasury bills are just another example of how tight money is, how interest rates are trending, and how much it is going to cost anyone to borrow.

Affected are consumers seeking ordinary loans for purchases or to meet current bills, or businessmen, or governments at all levels.

Floating new corporate bonds issues, or new issues of municipal or state securities to take care of the demands of a growing population for services, are all tied into the same package.

Speaker Named For Kiwanis Club Meeting Thursday

Guest speaker at the Thursday meeting of Kingston Kiwanis will be C. Lincoln Christensen of Hurley, management consultant.

Christensen is director of his own management consulting firm in Hurley. For the past 19 years, he has been a management consultant, serving some of the major corporations in the United States with clients in the east, midwest and as far west as Denver.

His background is engineering-oriented and he has been a licensed professional engineer in New York State since 1939. He established his Hurley firm in 1959.

Fine Brooklyn Driver For Rosendale Spree

Accused of driving at excessive speeds along back roads in the Town of Rosendale last Saturday, Dominick Russo Jr., about 20, of Brooklyn, was cited by Constable John Coddington.

Chief Constable Harold T. Bowers said Coddington pursued the youth at speeds of 85 miles an hour, but Russo eluded the officer. He was later picked up at a Creek Locks Road place, where he is staying.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Raymond LeFever, Town of Rosendale, Russo was fined $25. A 10-day jail sentence was suspended and the youth was placed on probation for one year, according to Chief Bowers.

ROUNDUP TIME—Everything looks as familiar as the old television screen here except those (what?) cowboys. These aren't longhorns swimming on a film location. They're representative of one of Bolivia's fastest growing enterprises, the cattle ranches. The Amazon basin is much like the golden west of 100 years ago, ideal for cattle. With American help, the herds are growing.

Resnick Honored On Statemanship

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-28th District), has been honored by the United World Federalists, an international organization promoting world peace through world law, for "initiative reflecting statesmanship of a high order."

The news came to Congressman Resnick in the following letter which he received this week:

"I take great pleasure in transmitting to you the following commendation which was adopted by the delegates to our 20th General Assembly at the Sheraton Park Hotel, Washington, D.C., on June 19, 1966:

"The Twentieth General Assembly of the United World Federalists commends Representative Joseph Y. Resnick of New York for his leadership in introducing House Concurrent Resolution 775 to provide for a permanent United Nations peacekeeping force. This initiative reflects statesmanship of a high order, and the United World Federalists, further pledges its best efforts to help secure a favorable vote on this very significant resolution.

"We have requested to appear before the Committee on Foreign Affairs when hearings are scheduled on your resolution. We hope that you will urge the Committee to hold hearings at an early date so that action can be taken during this session and in advance of the 21st Session of the United Nations General Assembly in September."

Diplomatic Support Is New Price for Bases in Spain

EDITORS'S NOTE — John M. Hightower is winding up a tour of European capitals to report on foreign views of the United States. A Pulitzer Prize winner, Hightower regularly covers the State Department and diplomatic affairs in Washington for The Associated Press.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

MADRID (AP) — For a dozen years the United States has relied on air and naval bases in Spain to help support American forces committed to the defense of Western Europe. Today Spain's price for continuing these bases is going up, not in terms of economic aid or military hardware but in terms of diplomatic support.

Spain is beginning to make revolutionary changes in both its internal and its foreign policies.

Expand Free Press

At home it has moved toward greater press freedom and has granted workers a limited right to strike. The Franco government is working on a new law to establish freedom of religion in this overwhelming Catholic country.

In its foreign policy Spain aims at establishing new economic and defense links with its neighbors in Western Europe and with the Atlantic Alliance. To achieve these goals Spanish leaders want Washington's help. Failure to get it could jeopardize renewal of the base agreement, which comes up for negotiation again in 1968.

Though no Spanish policy maker puts it in such precise terms, the Spanish government is looking to the Johnson administration to:

1. Help overcome strong political opposition in some West European countries, dating back to the Spanish Civil War 30 years ago, to accepting Spain as a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

2. Support Spain's now active interest in joining the six-nation European Common Market, which Spanish leaders consider vital to their booming economy.

3. Adopt a sympathetic attitude toward Spain's claim for sovereignty over Gibraltar, a British bastion at the Atlantic entrance to the Mediterranean for 250 years.

The U. S.-Spanish base agreement, made in 1953, partially broke this country's isolation from the West. American economic aid in the years immediately following helped to begin the modernization of the Spanish economy. Initial political changes have been undertaken more recently but in the view of foreign diplomats here are likely to be accelerated in the future.

Spanish officials believe the time is at hand for other countries to make a place for Spain in the Western European and Atlantic communities. They argue that the civil war which put Generalissimo Francisco Franco in power has been over 27 years and their pro-Axis neutrality in World War II ended more than 20 years ago.

The Franco government's most direct action so far under its emerging foreign policy has been to put pressure on Britain, beginning early this year, for a change in the status of Gibraltar. Traffic between the British territory and Spain has been slowed down by Spanish border authorities. Diplomatic talks have been started on the issue, which could become a serious quarrel between two friends of the United States.

American officials say the last thing they want is to get caught in the middle of this dispute. But no one denies that the Spanish government has a leverage on this issue as on others due to the presence and importance of the American bases here.

An authoritative Spanish view of the relationship between the two issues — Gibraltar and the bases — goes like this:

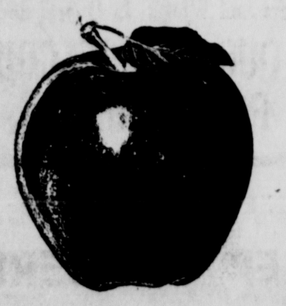

Britain gained control of Gibraltar under the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713, taking advantage of internal Spanish dissension. The Franco government contends that agreement must be revised. Officials argue Gibraltar is a foreign military base and colony on Spanish territory.

They say they are not asking Britain to yield complete control over Gibraltar and get out. They are asking that Spain's flag, as a symbol of Spanish sovereignty, fly over "The rock" alongside the British flag, just as the Spanish flag flys with the American flag over American bases in Spain.

If the Gibraltar problem is solved to Spain's satisfaction, officials say, they see no difficulty on this score in continuing the base arrangement with the United States. They say if it is not solved, popular resistance must be expected to develop against all foreign bases in Spain, meaning those of the United States.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, July 13, the 194th day of 1966. There are 171 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1787, Congress passed the first act providing for the government of territory outside the original 13 colonies. The Northwest Territory was organized under this act; Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin were all cut from it later.

On this date:

In 1821, the Confederate cavalry officer, Nathan Bedford Forrest, was born.

In 1863, Civil War draft riots broke out in New York City.

In 1919, the first dirigible to cross the Atlantic, the British 34, completed its round trip.

In 1943, British forces occupied the Sicilian port of Augusta.

In 1944, Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. died at his command post in Normandy.

Ten years ago—Seven Hungarian students made a daring escape from their Communist homeland.

Five years ago — Irving Scarbeck, a U.S. Foreign Service officer, was arrested in Washington on espionage charges.

One year ago—A severe typhoon hit the Pacific island of Mindanao. At least 17 persons were drowned.

Buffalo Man Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Alexander Bernard, 66, of Buffalo, who was injured July 5 in a collision of two automobiles, died Tuesday in Emergency Hospital.

The accident occurred on the Niagara Section of the New York State Thruway.

Bernard's address was 163 Victoria Ave.

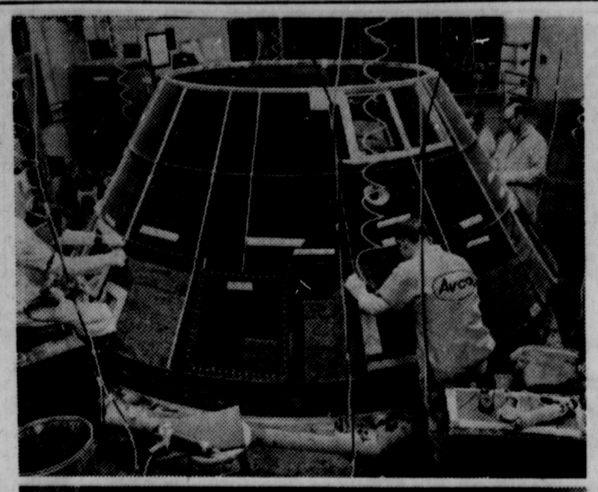

Rocky Prodded On Bargaining Office in State

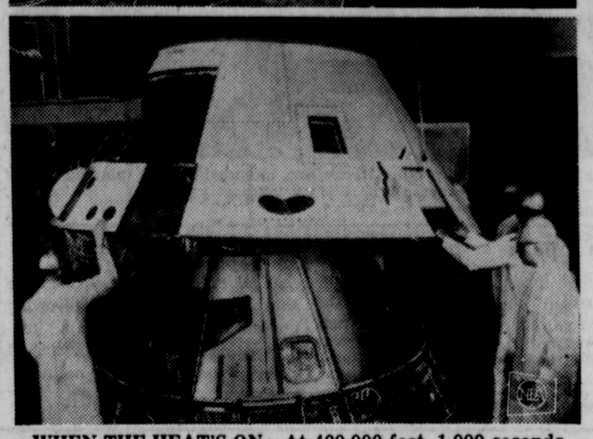

A State employes' union, representing 64 local unions in every area of the State, today called on Governor Rockefeller "to create an office of collective bargaining for State employes or face the possibility of strikes in mental institutions, State prisons, offices of the Department of Labor and on the Thruway."

Al Wurf, executive director of New York State Employees Council 50, AFL-CIO further declared, "unless such an office is created, similar to that now existing in the City of New York, there will be strikes against State facilities. The Governor can no longer have it both ways —either collective bargaining machinery is created to mediate State employe problems and prevent State employee strikes or the State employes will strike.

New York State pays its employes $1,000 to $2,000 less for comparable work than the City of New York. Meaningful grievance procedure for State employes is non-existent. Unfair treatment and employe abuse prevails in every one of the 56 State institutions under the tyrannical wardens and institution directors.

Wurf further said "Council 50 does not recognize the Condon-Wadlin Law since the Governor and the Legislature have publicly declared this law meaningless. Therefore, Council 50 feels free to strike at any time and any place."

WHEN THE HEAT'S ON—At 400,000 feet, 1,000 seconds from home, America's three Apollo astronauts, fresh from their journey to the moon, will face the severest lap in their entire trip when they pass through the heat barrier. Scientists of the Avco Corp., of Wilmington, Mass., have developed an ablative material that will keep the 20,000-degree temperature from bringing the moon mission to a fiery conclusion. In the top photo, engineers analyze the 380-square-foot exterior of the primary heat shield to determine exact heat loads. In the bottom photo the primary heat shield is shown being lowered over the crew cockpit of the Apollo command module. The primary heat shield can withstand temperatures up to 600 degrees, but for the higher heat of re-entry the shield is protected by the ablative material.

Need of Better Education Is Major Worry of Students

By GEOFFREY GOULD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lack of "a really good education" is what's bothering college students today — not Viet Nam, sex or the bomb.

That is the central thesis of a recent report on a national conference on student stress, and the key word is "relevance."

Key Is Relevance

"One criterion of a good education," the report said, "is relevance — relevance to the world of modern politics and social ferment, relevance to the human condition in mass society, relevance to the doubts, fears and hopes of thoughtful youth."

The report grew out of a conference held last fall in Warrenton, Va., by representatives of 33 colleges and universities, usually two students and one faculty member from each. The report was written by Dr. Edward J. Shoben Jr., director of the Center for Study and Training in Higher Education at the University of Cincinnati.

"We need relationships with teachers who will help us face the big tough hang-ups," one student wrote about the conference.

Asks Questions

"Am I a moral pacifist or a coward? Is abortion a human answer to the problems of unwed motherhood, and what has the pill got to do with my answer? Who am I, where am I, where am I headed, and do I really want to go there? What are the things that make society really worth fighting for?"

Not too many clearcut answers emerged from this soul-searching, but Shobin's report did come up with these suggestions:

—Graduate schools should give more attention to the preparation of teachers — with broader range of experience, student evaluation of their performance, and counseling experience "to help him attune himself more sensitively to student problems."

—More attention should be paid in college to "identify effective teachers and to reward them."

—"Students themselves should play a larger instructional role."

—"A student should have the privilege of inventing his own course."

—Pass-fail judgments should be substituted for grades perhaps for the entire freshman year to encourage students to try subjects in which they are weak.

Experience Should Count

"When grading time comes around, experience in the outer world" should be considered, "when one works in a bank, teaches in a freedom school, acts as an orderly in a mental hospital, or serves in a party's headquarters during a political campaign."

The report also proposed closer student-faculty relations, through periodic faculty-student retreats such as this conference, Saturday discussions, and perhaps including students on decision-making bodies within the university.

In addition, plans for a two-year action program to combat the causes of student stress were announced by the sponsoring organization, the National Student Association.

An apparently fundamental problem in today's universities showed up even during the conference, held over three days last November at a luxurious estate called Airlie Houst.

No Mixing

"Professors and professionals tended to sit together at meals," the report said. "In the informal evening gatherings after scheduled sessions were done, there was little mixing of students with faculty. Fundamental barriers between the groups were invisibly but authoritatively operative; and in this sense, the conference mirrored in some degree a major source of student stress on virtually any campus."

One anecdote from a faculty member of a Border State university was illustrative.

He met with a group of Negro students, newly admitted to the institution. They were mostly juniors and seniors.

Their major and unanimous complaint: "None of them had ever had a conversation with a professor without a relatively formal and predetermined agenda."

Given One Week

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania Senate Republicans vow they'll give Democrats one more week to decide whether to cosponsor the Scranton Administration's constitutional revision package.

"We'll introduce the package Monday with or without Democratic sponsorship," Sen. Jack E. McGregor, R - Allegheny, said Tuesday.

McGregor, chairman of the Constitutional Changes Committee, had hoped to introduce the eight proposed amendments this week with bipartisan sponsorship.

Democrats balked, however, contending they needed more time to study the proposals, particularly one dealing with judicial reform.

Troy Youth Killed

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Christian Sorenson, 19, of Troy, was injured fatally Tuesday when he fell about 40 feet from a viaduct under construction.

Sorenson was installing steel forms on an Interstate 90 viaduct, near the General Electric Co. plant, when the accident occurred. He was employed by the Johnson Steel Co., Mt. Vernon.

Weak Response Often Dangerous

By JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Jacobys discuss the problem of responding with a bad hand.

Oswald: "Expert bidding does not always lead to the best contract. When you respond with a bad hand you risk ending up wishing you had passed. Furthermore, once you start with an unsound response you may find yourself trapped into making a second bid."

Jim: "If North merely rebids two clubs South will pass and his spade response will have paid off? Against the normal lead of the king of hearts, North will make two clubs."

Oswald: You may wonder why South found a second spade bid after North's jump in clubs. The answer is that the jump to three clubs was forcing and South hoped that it might well be preliminary to a spade raise."

Jim: North would have made the same three club bid with ace and two small spades and a singleton heart. In that case game in spades would be a cinch."

Oswald: "South knew he was in trouble when North went to three no-trump but South wasn't going any further. At least, no one had doubled."

Jim: "Excellent defense set North four tricks. East opened the king of hearts. North ducked a couple of heart leads. Then he played ace-king and a small diamond. East cashed his fourth heart and led his queen of spades. Dummy's king was covered by West's ace and North's jack dropped. Later East got in with a diamond and led another spade so the defense held poor North to his three aces and two kings."

Government Asks $110,000 in Suit

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)— The federal government plans to ask for a $110,000 judgment against Donald H. Jaffey, a former Rochester attorney who allegedly borrowed the sum from a housing project he headed instead of paying federal government debts.

A motion asking for the judgment has been filed in federal court here and is scheduled to be heard Aug. 15.

Asst. U.S. Atty. C. Donald O'Connor said Jaffey, once the head of a multi - million dollar discount store chain and real - estate syndicates, is living in Harrison, N.Y.

The housing project on Grand Island was formerly owned by the Grandyle Village Corp. The project was sold at auction in 1964 after the government foreclosed on a $1,256,273 mortgage backed by the Federal Housing Administration.

The sale failed to satisfy the debt and the government obtained a deficiency judgment for $805,000. About $730,000 is outstanding, O'Connor said.

Jaffey purchased all the stock in 1954 from Grandyle, using loans from the corporation, O'Connor said. The government charges the loans were fraudulent and made the corporation unable to pay its debt to the U.S.

The government also charged that the payments to Jaffey breached his fiduciary duty as a corporate officer acting by and through the FHA, then a preferred shareholder.

CALLS INSTRUCTIONS — Mrs. Rosalie Davis starts a tray down the conveyor belt, calling the individual patients diet instructions to other food service personnel over the microphone she wears around her neck.

Union Pickets NASA Entrances

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Members of a construction trades council picketed all entrances leading to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's moon-launch area today to protest the space agency's methods of awarding construction contracts.

No estimates were immediately available concerning exactly how many employes honored the line. Between 1,500 and 2,000 construction workers are employed here, however, and officials predicted most of them would not be at work today.

Construction workers did not picket the main entrance to Cape Kennedy, union officials said, because the council is not complaining against the Air Force, Cape Kennedy's landlord.

Officials of the Brevard Building and Construction Trades Council said they are protesting NASA's letting contracts to nonunion firms. They also said that many negotiated contracts should be put up for bid.

Pete Reiser stole home seven times for the Brooklyn Dodgers during the 1946 baseball season.

Install New Food Service System At Local Hospital

A new assembly line system of food service has been installed at the Kingston Hospital for greater efficiency in preparation of trays, many of which must be given special attention to comply with diets as ordered by the doctors.

As each tray moves along a conveyor belt, food service personnel stationed at various electrically cooled or heated tables—all of gleaming stainless steel—place on the tray the specific items of food called for by the supervisor at the head of the line. She is equipped with a microphone so her voice may be clearly heard by each worker.

Each tray also is accompanied by a patient's individual menu, planned according to the diet ordered by the patient's doctor, and at the end of the conveyor the tray is given a final check before being placed into special food carts to be taken to the patient's rooms.

Hot food is kept hot by the "Pellet System," in which metal pellets are heated and placed under the main course dish in a container made for the purpose. A cover is then placed over the dish.

The conveyor belt and the various service tables, all new, are on wheels for flexibility and to permit easier cleaning of the kitchen floors. Appropriately, the new system bears the trade name, "Wheel-A-Way."

CHECKS MENU SLIPS—At the other end of conveyor, Miss Beverly McPherson double checks with menu slip to make sure all the proper items are included before placing cover on plate.

Caldor, Inc. Common Stock Distributor

NORWALK, Conn. — Caldor Inc. directors voted a 25 per cent common stock distribution, it was announced today.

Caldor operates a discount department store on the Neighborhood Road in Lake Katrine.

The distribution of one share for each four held is payable Aug. 31 to stockholders of record July 27. The move increases the number of shares out to 2,059,271.

The company also announced sales for June rose to $7,299,664 from $4,266,378, or a 71 per cent increase. For the five months, volume rose to $23,622,022 from $16,066,129 in the comparable period last year.

The board declared a 1-for-4 distribution and a 5 per cent stock dividend last year, and the previous year the stock was split 2-for-1 and the company also declared a 5 per cent stock dividend. The company hasn't paid cash on common.

Head for Pool

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— The heat wave is causing overcrowding in the kiddies' pool at the Philadelphia Zoo.

Snowflake, the polar bear cub, because she's bigger and can throw her weight around, has taken over the small pool to the discomfort of Yogi and Boo Boo, two Syrian bear cubs.

Snowflake climbs into the pool to beat the heat and just sits. Yogi and Boo Boo, unable to crowd in, just sit and pant.

Also Hot in Spain

MADRID (AP)—A sweltering heat wave with temperatures running above 100 degrees continued in Spain today and forecasters indicated no relief was imminent.

The high mark Tuesday in the Spanish capital was 101.1 degrees. The highest temperature reported in Spain Tuesday was 109.4 in Cordoba and in Badajoz.

Brawl at Coney

NEW YORK (AP) — Police said today a bottle-throwing brawl erupted after an integrated dance for teen-agers at Coney Island Tuesday night.

Buddhist Head To Leave Saigon During Voting

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The moderate head of Saigon's Buddhist Institute announced today he is taking a two-month leave, possibly to avoid a stand on the forthcoming general elections.

The absence of Thich (venerable) Tam Chau from the ruling body of the Unified Buddhist Church could increase the influence of militant monks demanding a boycott of the Sept. 11 vote.

Has Veto Power

In a letter to the ruling institute council, which criticized him for his absence from a recent meeting, Tam Chau stressed that he remains as the institute's head and warned the monks that he can veto any decision taken in his absence.

He also reiterated his opposition to Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's regime "in the spirit of nonviolence and discipline."

The development came at a time of increased political agitation by radical elements of some political and religious groups, which may mean a stronger coalition of forces opposing the junta and its plan to stage nationwide elections for a constituent assembly Sept. 11.

Informed Buddhist sources said that Tam Chau, a slight, bespectacled monk, fears assassination. At first confident his policy of moderation would prevail among the Buddhists, Tam Chau apparently decided to withdraw temporarily. This is a tactic the monk has used before.

Came As Surprise

Still, his action came as a surprise, since eight out of ten council members supported him on a compromise with the government.

"The radical spirit is returning," one Buddhist source said. This spirit is demonstrated by the once-influential monk, Thich Tri Quang, now in the 35th day of a partial hunger strike against the government.

Weak and bed-ridden in Saigon's Duy Tan Clinic, Tri Quang apparently continued consultations with monks favoring his no-compromise theory.

The next few weeks are bound to show whether Tri Quang's influence has been definitely eliminated or whether militant Buddhist forces will again threaten the regime.

Watch out for dependable Dale Landsman

In the old-time westerns you could always tell the good guys from the bad guys.

On our highways, today, it couldn't matter less.

Because even the best of drivers get involved in the worst of accidents.

Take a guy like Dale Landsman. He's never been in an accident. Never breaks a law. Yet, his first mistake may be your last!

That's why you have to drive defensively ...every second of every minute you're behind the wheel.

Out on the highway, that means protecting yourself by staying well to the right.

And warning any oncoming driver if he strays over into your lane.

Don't depend on the actions of other drivers and you won't end up on the receiving end of their mistakes or sudden moves.

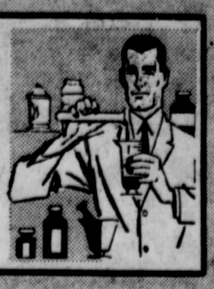

You can depend on it.

Watch out for the other guy!

Saccoman-Newcomer Wedding Announced

MRS. DENNIS NEWCOMER
(Photo Workshop)

The Rev. John T. Mulligan, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Kingston officiated for the double ring weding ceremony on Sunday, July 10, 1966 uniting Mary Jean Saccoman of Kingston and Dennis Newcomer, also of Kingston, in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Saccoman of 66 Roosevelt Avenue, this city. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Newcomer of Harding Avenue, Hershey, Pa.

Baskets of white flowers decorated the church for the occasion.

Mr. Saccoman gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white bridal satin with an overblouse of bridal lace styled with a sabrina neckline. A double crown of crystals and pearls held her elbow length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white miniature carnations with a white orchid center and stephanotis.

Mrs. Mike Bahl of Eden Rock, Poughkeepsie, was the matron of honor. She wore a pale pink empire sheath gown with lace at the waistline and a floating back panel of chiffon.

Mrs. Robert Terwilliger of Maverick Park, Woodstock, and Mrs. Ed Jones of West Chestnut Street, Kingston, were the attendants. They wore orchid empire sheath gowns with floating back panels.

Best man was Gary Hendricks of Camp Hill, Pa. Ushering were Mike Bahl of Poughkeepsie and Robert Terwilliger of Woodstock.

A reception for 100 guests was given at the Tropical Inn after which Mr. and Mrs. Newcomer left on a wedding trip to Cape Cod, Mass.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School in 1959. Her husband, who attended Dutchess Cummunity College, is now attending Ulster County Community College.

Women Doctors Are More Than 28 When Completing Studies

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — What do husbands do when their professional wives go off to international meetings?

If they are like about 20 hardy males — mostly doctors — married to members of the Medical Women International Association, they lay aside their stethoscopes and go along with them.

This score of husbands takes in good natured stride being outnumbered by about 600 women from 33 countries registered for the week-long 10th congress.

Among them is:

K. M. MacKenzie, a British gynecologist, who visits Rochester hospitals while his wife, Dr. Joan Mackenzie, a psychologist attends scientific sessions. They met years ago as house surgeons in the same London hospital.

Dr. Ernest Overlau, a Belgian gynecologist, squired his two teen-age daughters about town while the woman he married in medical school, Dr. Anne Marie Overlau-Delhaye, a specialist in mouth diseases attends meetings.

Dr. R. Mejia, a popular surgeon from Puerto Rico, admits proudly that the woman doctors call him "the international husband," because he has gone to the last eight or ten congresses, and sits in on the scientific discussions with his wife, Dr. Carmen Troche de Mejia, a gynecologist. They met in medical school in Washington, D. C., where their married son now lives.

On Friday the woman doctors cross into Canada for their closing session at romantic Niagara Falls, Ont.

Maybe it's because they've already gotten their man that most woman doctors are notably unconcerned about their ages.

Dr. Juda Schindlar-Baumann of Zurich said Tuesday in a speech that the average age at graduation for medical doctors in Switzerland is 28½.

"That follows six to nine years of further training as interns, so that a large proportion of the woman doctors are already married either during their period of study or during their internship."

A Swiss doctor added with great matter-of-factness:

"We are indeed rather old by the time we are medically fullfledged."

One of the liviest ladies at the congress is Dr. Catharine Macfarlane of Philadelphia who is almost 90.

She sits through every session, participates in every social event and if anyone reaches out a hand to assist, the peppery little lady insists she can take care of herself.

She is still active as a research professor of gynecology at Women's Medical College in Pennsylvania — the school that gave her an M.D. in 1898. It was about that time that a helpful male colleague gave her advice on how to establish a practice:

"Open your office on a main street, don't drink—and you will succeed."

How do children feel about their mothers being doctors?

Riitta-Liisa Wallanius of Finland—where 24 per cent of the doctors are women—is attending with her mother, Dr. Terttu Wallenius. She pondered the question and finally said:

"It would have been better when I was small if she had spent more time at home. But now that I'm a teen-ager, I'm happy and proud my mother is a doctor."

The pretty, 15-year-old Helsinki girl plans to be a pediatrician like her mother. That will make it a complete medical family. Her older sister and brother are studying medicine and dad is a dermatologist.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Branigan of 157 Lampmann Avenue, Port Ewen, N. Y., have returned home from a trip to northern Canada. They visited the Gaspe Peninsula and Nova Scotia, returning by steamer to Bar Harbor, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Cord of Englewood, N. J. are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son Raymond B. Cord born July 2 in the Englewood Hospital. Mrs. Cord is the former Carole Oskay of Port Ewen and a registered nurse. Mr. Cord, formerly of Kingston, is assistant manager of the F. W. Woolworth Store in Washington Heights, Manhattan.

In a private wedding ceremony on July 10, 1966, marriage vows were exchange by Carolyn Ann Halpert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Halpert of 215 Washington Avenue, Saugerties, and Donald Anthony Mormile, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mormile of Burt Street, Saugerties.

For the double ring wedding ceremony the bride wore an ivery silk faced peau de soie gown styled with dome shaped skirt embellished with pearl-trimmed re-embroidered alencon lace, scoop neckline and long sleeves. Her pill box hat of silk faced peau de soie was trimmed with looped pearls and it held a butterfly veil with bird cage face veil. The bride carried a miniature bouquet of white carnations and trailing ivy with a white orchid center.

Miss Judith Elaine Halpert of 215 Washington Avenue, Saugerties, was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a nile green crepe gown styled with fitted bodice long white crepe skirt and matching open pill box hat. She carried miniature yellow carnations and ivy.

Fred Seither Jr., of 13 Virginia Avenue, Saugerties, was best man.

A reception for 150 guests was given after the wedding ceremony in the Governor Clinton Hotel, this city.

The bride was graduated from Saugerties High School and received her BS from the School of Education, Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., in 1964. She taught third grade in Middletown, Conn., for the past two years and will teach third grade in Trumansburg, N. Y. this fall.

Mr. Mormile is an alumnus of Saugerties High School and attended Notre Dame University, South Bend, Ind., prior to entering the U. S. Navy and serving in the submarine service. He has resumed his studies at Ithaca College in the Department of Physical Therapy.

Mr. and Mrs. Mormile will be at home at 108 Ridgecrest Road, Ithaca, N. Y.

Summer Players Pay Visit to Vista Maria

On Sunday, July 10th, several actors from Mountaindale Playhouse, a summer stock musical theatre in the round, and their families visited the Sisters at Vista Maria, Motherhouse of the Daughters of Mary, Health of the Sick, in Cragsmoor, N. Y. With the group were Bernie Barr, director and co-producer, and James McEvers.

The visitors enjoyed the scenic grounds of the Convent, former summer villa of the famous landscape painter Geo. ge Inness Jr., and marked the occasion with a small party. Guests of honor were the newly wed Noel Fredericks and Pat Goodwin.

President Johnson Sends Congratulations To Kingstonian on Her 100th Birthday

President Lyndon B. Johnson, other national, state and local dignitaries, even a former newspaper boy who is now executive president emeritus of one of the country's most powerful labor unions, conveyed messages of congratulations to Mrs. John Nicholas Cordts of Kingston on the occasion of her 100th birthday observed July 9th.

A native Kingstonian, Mrs. Cordts has always been a very prominent figure in local civic and charitable affairs. The former Matilda L. Stock, she is the wife of the late State Senator John N. Cordts Sr., who died in July 1913. Her father-in-law, John H. Cordts, who settled in Kingston in 1852, established the brick-making firm of Cordts and Hutton in 1865.

Mrs. Cordts is a charter member of innumerable organizations throughout this area. She was instrumental in organizing the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary and the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary. Mrs. Cordts still holds membership in the Twaalfskill Country Club, having joined when it was a tobogganing club.

She is founder and charter member of what is today the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross and Ulster County TB and Health Association. A member of Christian Mothers of St. Peter's parish in Kingston, Mrs. Cordts also helped organize the first chapter of the Catholic Welfare Association here in Kingston as well as Cordts Hose Auxiliary, American Legion Auxiliary and the Young Women's Christian Association, to list a few.

Mrs. Cordts has a daughter Florence, who resides with her; a daughter Matilda who died at the age of 11; and a son John, who died in 1962.

Receives Messages

Mrs. Cordts has been receiving an avalanche of congratulatory messages in honor of her birthday. Among them is a letter from President Lyndon B. Johnson which states:

"My sincere congratulations upon your birthday. May good health be yours through many more happy years."

An early caller at the Cordts home was Kingston Mayor Raymond Garraghan. In the mayor's proclamation issued in honor of the occasion, he states:

"Greetings to you on your 100th birthday. To a grand lady who has been a life-long member of the community and has served her city in all capacities. Wishing you many more years of success and happiness."

A congratulatory telegram was received from William Bradley, who is executive president emeritus of ILA, American Longshoremen's Union. Fifty years ago, Bradley served Mrs. Cordts as a newspaper boy.

In expressing appreciation for all the remembrances, a spokesman for Mrs. Cordts told T Freeman this morning:

"It is a wonderful thing to remembered by so many pa ticularly by those whom M Cordts had helped with educ tion scholarships years ago a who, today, are enjoying bus successful lives. These person touches mean a great deal."

The Cordts family has serv Kingston for many years. The lives have been marked wi milestones of achievement a dedication. In recognition of th fine civic spirit, The Freem wishes to add its own "Co gratulations."

Canada Tops U. S. With Female Doctors

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—It was Sir William Osler who said there are three kinds of people: Men, women and women doctors.

This third kind has come a long way since the imminent British physician delivered himself of his ill-tempered opinion at the turn of the century. But women doctors attending the 10th Congress of the Medical Women International Association here think there's still a long way to go.

Some of the U.S. delegation are particularly unhappy about their own country's proportion of women to men doctors: of a total of 284,271 physicians, only 18,537 — 6½ per cent — are women.

Statistics were discussed as earnestly as symptoms at a scientific sesion Monday. The doctor were trying to diagnose the causes for the demand-supply gap in medicine. One prescription came from Dr. Katharine Wright of Chicago.

"It is now clear we need an active recruitment program for women in America."

Dr. Marta Holmstrom of Sweden, reporting on Northern Europe, said women there rarely reach top positions.

"Sometimes it is impossible for young woman doctors with small children to use their training because of the domestic help situation," Dr. Holmstrom said.

"We must find solutions to help the young ones in their career. It costs each country millions in waste as long as they do not make it possible for woman doctors to have their children taken care of while they use their training for the general good."

Of the 33 national affiliates reporting, only South Viet Nam, Spain and Madagascar had a lower proportion of woman doctors than the United States. Finland and Israel, for example, had 2 per cent, Germany 20, Austria 1, United Kingdom 1, India 12, South Africa 10, Canada ½.

Dr. Leona Baumgartner, professor of public health at Cornell University Medical College and former assistant secretary of state for technical assistance and research, said "The shut-in life for women on the Iberian Penninsula probably explains the low percentages of women physicians in Spain and Latin America."

In the Far East where women traditionally stay in the home you might expect a low percentage. But there's South Korea with 2 per cent of the medical students women.

Dr. Baumbartner noted that the Soviet Union had 70 per cent women doctors, but the Iron Curtain countries are not affiliated with the group and were not discussed.

What specialities do women doctors prefer?

Because of the long training involved the majority become general practioners. When they specialize it's most frequently in obstetrics and pediatrics, which naturally interest women because they are, as the lady doctors are fond of saying, custodians of the family health.

In Thailand 73 per cent of the pediatricians are women, in South Viet Nam 50 per cent (although that still means only 12 doctors), Israel 3, Austria 0, Finland 48, Germany 46, Netherlands 41, India 33.

In India, Australia and Hong Kong at least half of the obstetricians are women.

Other high - ranking specialities for women are anesthesiology and public health. In Canada 84 per cent of the public health doctors are women.

In the United States women doctors constitute less than 20 per cent of the total physicians in any specialities, Dr. Wright reported, although nearly 19 per cent of the pediatricians are women.

Cardinale-Riggins Nuptials Announced

Miss Palmina Mary Cardinale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cardinale of 88 Farrelly Street, exchanged marriage vows with Ronald William Riggins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Riggins of Codwise Street, this city, on Sunday, July 3. The wedding ceremony took place in St. Mary's Church with the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly officiating. Theodore Riccobono was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a slim bell sheath gown of organza and alencon lace with a bouffant train. Her silk illusion veil was shirred to a stylized headpiece and she carried a cascade of white roses and carnations.

Miss Barbara Cardinale, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor in a sheath style gown in empire fashion thin waistline of which was accented with flower braid. She carried pink pompons.

Serving as attendants were Miss Connie Baroncelli, Mrs. Joseph Misasi, Mrs. Thomas Komasa and Miss Sheila Quick. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the honor attendant except in individual colors of rose, mauve, green, turquoise and gold. They wore matching Dior bows with short tulle veils and carried bouquets of pompons.

Thomas Riggins was best man for his brother. Ushers were James Riggins, brother of the bridegroom; Nicholas Nagele, brother of the bride; John Cardinal, brother of the bride, and Richard Diers.

A reception for 150 guests was given at The Tropical Inn in Port Ewen.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed by Rotron in Woodstock. Her husband, who served with the U. S. Navy, is employed by Zwick and Schwartz in Kingston.

When Mr. and Mrs. Riggins return from a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, they will reside in Stickles Trailer Park.

After the installations, a degree was conferred upon the Exalted Star. It was entitled "Wishing On A Star."

Named to the finance committee at a business session were Anna May Fox, Sandra Doty and Sandra Smith. Serving on the refreshment committee for September will be Sandra Dingee, Sandra Doty and Betty Stauning.

The next meeting of the group is slated for September 24 in Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue. A reception for the Grand Star of Happiness Lyn Bertucci is being planned.

Pamela Crouch in Tennessee

Miss Pamela E. Crouch, a resident of Pine Plains, is spending the summer months working for the Tennessee Valley Authority in Knoxville, Tenn. She is one of 28 students of Mount Holyoke College who hold internships arranged by the political science department at the college. The majority of positions are in offices of the federal government in Washington, D. C. One other girl has been assigned to the TVA.

Miss Crouch is the daughter of Mrs. Christine Crouch, Main St., Pine Plains. A graduate of Pine Plains Central High School, she will enter her senior year at Holyoke in the fall.

'Miss Niagara' Weds Day After Pageant

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — The 18-year-old Miss Niagara did not capture the Miss New York State title, but she believed she turned out a winner anyway.

When Kathryne Ann Caldwell was not selected Saturday in the state pageant here, she and Edward A. Scutt of Niagara Falls were married the next day in Trinity Methodist Church in Olean.

Her parents, informed of the marriage later, were a bit surprised, but her mother said she was happy about it. "Her father and I were married that same way," Mrs. Ward L. Caldwell added.

Miss Caldwell, now Mrs. Scutt, must relinquish her title as Miss Niagara.

Scutt, formerly of Poughkeepsie, teaches English at LaSalle Senior High School in Niagara Falls.

Personals

The Rota-McGinnis wedding write-up recently published in The Freeman should have listed the bride's name as: Louise Mary Rota of 261 East Chester Street, this city, instead of Mary Louise Rota. The wedding took place in June.

Very Short Skirts Prove Unpopular at 'Universe' Contest

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — There are buzzings of a mini-skirt rebellion among owners of the world's loveliest legs.

Most of the 57 girls vying for the Miss Universe crown put their foot down on the short, short skirt. Some stand up for it. Still others skirt the issue.

The skirts came in for discussion during rehearsal breaks for Wednesday night's semifinals of the beauty contest. The finals are Saturday night.

Carol Whiteman of England, a country where the well- above-the-knee skirt is riding high, said she has one but can't decide whether to wear it.

"I am tiny and it would make me look tinier," grinned the 5-foot-3 supermarket clerk from Southampton.

Latin-American beauties are in the vanguard of the mini-revolt.

"You have to be careful how to sit down," commented Miss Chile, Stella Dunnage, 20, daughter of British parents.

The blue-eyed honey blonde added: "It (the mini-skirt) is antiesthetic. You look too short on top, and below that you look short, and then there are long legs."

Miss Panama, Dionisia Broce, was emphatic: "I wouldn't wear it if every other girl in the world wore it. You should hide your knees, which on most women are ugly."

Miss Korea, Yoon Quee-Young opined: "It is not so good." She wouldn't say why, just giggled.

Miss Guyana, Umbela Van Sluytman, commented: "It looks lovely on girls who have long legs, but not short girls."

One of the longest-legged, 5-foot-9 Lynn Carol de Jager of South Africa, voted yes: "If it's new, I'll like it. Anything comfortable."

The shortest of this year's Miss Universe set, Lesbia Murrieta, who represents free Cuba, said: "It isn't elegant. If you want to show your legs, wear shorts."

Miss Japan, Atsumi Ikeno, said, "It's nice for those who look good in it. I wear one once in a while because I'm a fashion model."

But Miss Ireland, Gladys Waller, said "I like it on young girls but not on me."

She's 21.

Ridge Area Church Sets Country Fair For Late Summer

The annual Country Store Fair of the Episcopal Church of Christ the King, Route 213, between High Falls and Stone Ridge, will be held this year Saturday, Aug. 20.

The popular event will start 9 a. m. on the church grounds and will feature home baked goods, arts and crafts, fresh fruit and vegetables, a snack bar and other specialties. New this year is a novelty department.

Outside there will be a midway with games, awards, pony rides, cotton candy, balloons and a lemonade stand.

The committees are working and planning to make this an outstanding event in the Rondout Valley. Fun for the whole family is promised.

EUROPEAN TRAVEL QUIZ TESTS TOURIST'S KNOW-HOW

Traveling in Europe poses all sorts of problems, and the more answers you know in advance the better representative of America you will be. Most foreigners can only judge us by what they see when we visit their countries.

1. When taking pictures of the "natives," you'll get the best results if you:

(a) Manage to sneak up and snap them without their knowledge.

(b) Ask their permission and offer a tip or a snack to little children.

(c) Pose them with members of your party to show the contrast.

2. In selecting your traveling wardrobe, you will be most successful if you:

(a) Avoid the most extreme styles even though you want to prove how fashionable Americans are.

(b) Choose "resort clothes" of attire in all European cities that have a warm climate.

(c) Plan on wearing sensible, sightseeing-type clothing all the time.

3. The language problem won't seem half so difficult if you

(a) Speak loudly.

(b) Speak what phrases you do know very softly so the listener won't hear your mistakes.

(c) Learn as many basic phrases as you can before you leave home.

4. Eating and drinking habits are different abroad, but you'll be considered a seasoned European traveler if you:

(a) Have a cocktail before lunch and dinner.

(b) Arrive at restaurants in Latin countries between nine and ten at night.

(c) Tip your waiter 15 per cent as would in the United States.

The booklet, "Table Rules of Importance" describes how to eat spaghetti as well as other difficult foods. For a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post in care of this paper.

Benefit Sale Set For West Hurley

The annual gala event of the West Hurley Library Fair was announced by its co-chairman, Jack Burlingham and Mrs. Floyd Robbins. It will be held on Saturday Aug. 13th.

Committee chairmen for the popular event are: New and Nearly New, Mrs. John Blatter; Baked Foods, Mrs. Walter Hofarth; Games, Mrs. Alex Hossack; Toys, Mrs. Robert Nussbaum; Jewelry, Mrs. Larry Ryan; Flea Market, Mrs. Charles Duffy; Books, Mrs. Clarence Anderson; Food on Premises, Mrs. Edouard Blatter; Caricature Photos, William Crosby; Raffle, James Meyers.

Other chairmen are: Make-up Table, the Misses Susan and Jane Garrison; Novelty Games, Mrs. Harold Graff; Fortune Teller, Mrs. Gray; Family Events, Mrs. Becker; Handmade Items, Mrs. Jack Bennett; Candy, Miss Debbie Robbins.

The Library Fair this year will be held on the grounds of the West Hurley Firehouse from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The public is invited. Area residents who wish to donate clothing, jewelry, household items, books, antiques and furniture for the Fair may leave them at the library, or if transportation is required, arrangements can be made by contacting Mrs. Jay Molyneaux, Mrs. Charles Duffy, Mrs. Floyd Robbins or Jack Burlingham.

The donation of these items will contribute to the financial success of this benefit program.

Aussies Talk with LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Australia's Prime Minister Harold Holt returns Wednesday for a second round of talks with President Johnson at the White House.

Holt will stop in Washington en route home after talks in London with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson. By doing so, he is following a practice established long ago by Sir Robert Menzies, Holt's predecessor who retired last year.

After a late afternoon visit with Johnson, Holt will board the presidential yacht with other guests for a dinner cruise on the Potomac. A luncheon will follow on Thursday before Holt takes off for home.

Sources said the meetings here are designed to show Johnson's appreciation for the firm stand Australia has taken to support the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

Joan Demskie, Umberto J. DeNicolais Wed; Ceremony Takes Place in St. Mary's Here

Joan Kathryn Demskie of Kingston and Umberto J. DeNicolais of Beacon took their marriage vows during a nuptial Mass in St. Mary's Church, Kingston on July 10, 1966 at 2 p. m. The Rev. Nicholas Mosunic, assistant pastor, officiated for the marriage ceremony and was celebrant of the Mass. Theodore Riccobono was the organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Demskie of 131 Wrentham Street, this city, and her father gave her in marriage. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Umberto DeNicolais of 65 Catherine Street, Beacon.

For the wedding ceremony, the bride wore a white gown styled with Sabrina neckline, fitted empire lace bodice, three quarter length lace sleeves and a chiffon floor length skirt with watteau back panel. Her veil of nylon illusion was shirred to a stylized cap of silk roses and pearls. She carried a lace covered prayer book with showers of stephanotis and carnations.

Mrs. Emil LaRocca of Lake Katrine was the bride's matron of honor. She wore a maize nylon sheer over taffeta gown with embroidered bodice and floor length skirt. A matching bow headpiece held a chapel length veil and she carried a cascade arrangement of yellow marguerites.

Henry DeNicolais of Beacon was best man for his brother.

A reception was given at The Hedges in West Park for members of the immediate families.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and her husband was graduated from Beacon High School. He attended Dutchess Community College.

When Mr. and Mrs. DeNicolais return from a wedding trip to Cape Cod they will reside in Wappingers Falls, N. Y.

Quell Riots in India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government held firm control of Uttar Pradesh State today after police crushed a leftist-led attempt to start a general strike. There were only scattered work stoppages.

The official death toll was five, but unofficial accounts said eight persons were killed at Banda when police opened fire on a mob of about 1,000 that attacked them.

UAR 6th in Rockets

CAIRO (AP) — The United Arab Republic now ranks sixth in the world in missile production and has produced a new kind of missile which cannot be detected by radar, the newspaper Al Akhbar said today. It gave no details.

Reporting on a tour of a secret Egyptian rocket factory, Al Akhbar quoted technicians as saying Egyptian missiles now equaled those made by the United States and the Soviet Union.

After only four years in the field, Egypt now ranks behind America, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and Japan in volume of missile production, the experts said.

To Keep A-Bomb Site

TOKYO (AP) — The Hiroshima City Assembly decided Tuesday to preserve the skeleton of the dome that survived the atomic bomb dropped on the city on Aug. 5, 1945.

The decision ended a long argument over whether the rickety, weatherbeaten structure should be removed and replaced with another monument to commemorate the destruction caused by the world's first atomic attack.

The dome was all that remained of the city's Industrial Promotion Hall after the blast that leveled Hiroshima.

Chiang Beats Reds

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist China and Malawi established diplomatic relations today, putting Chiang Kai-shek's government one up on Red China in Africa.

Previously 15 african countries recognized the Nationalist government and 15 recognized the Communists. Now it's 16-15.

Farmlands in the United States are being used up at a rate of a million acres annually by advancing cities.

MISS DIANE FLICK, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Flick Jr., of 28 Second Street, Saugerties, has completed porfessional studies of Dental Hygiene at State University, Farmingdale, L. I. She was graduated on June 17 at which time she received the AAS Degree. Miss Flick will be associated with Dr. Walter Meyer, Clinton Avenue, this city. She will assume her duties in August.

August 9 Deadline For Senior Citizen State Competition

Life does indeed begin at 60, particularly if you are a Senior Citizen of New York State.

These are the people who are eligible to take part in the activities and contests put on by the Senior Citizens' Center of the New York State Exposition Art and Home Center. The Expo will be held in Syracuse Tuesday, August 30 through Labor Day, Monday, September 5.

A total of $349 in cash prizes will be awarded in the Senior Citizens' Home Arts and Crafts Competition. This will include two special anniversary awards of $25 each which will be made in honor of the 1966 Expo theme, "125 Years of History-Making," according to Mrs. Charles B. Gene, Jr., superintendent of the Senior Citizens Center.

Categories for the competition are painting, knitting, weaving, rugs, needlework, ceramics, enamelling and metalwork, woodworking and bazaar items.

The special anniversary awards will be made for a double wool coverlet made before 1860 and an 1841 document pertaining to New York State.

Residents of the Empir State who are 60 years old and over as of 1966 are eligible to enter the contest. August 9 is the deadline for enteries. There is no entry fee.

Premium Books containing entry blanks are available by writing to the Art and Home Center, New York State Exposition, Syracuse ,N. Y. 13209.

The contest is only one of many activities planned for these "youngsters" to live it up. Fourteen Senior Citizens clubs and centers selected on the basis of their outstanding and well-rounded programs will offer entertainment during the week. There will be short discussions on topics of interest to Senior Citizens. Four special programs are also being planned, including the Geraldine Arnold Singers, the Wagon Wheel Rhythm Band, Mrs. Barbara Enders demonstrating "Lost Arts Available to Senior Citizens," and an evening of round and square dancing.

Maury Wills Proved a Point With All Star Winning Hit

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — To little Maury Wills, anxious to prove he should have been the National League's starting shortstop in the All-Star game, "It seemed that I was on the bench a week waiting to get into the game."

Wills got his chance Tuesday in the 10th inning, his only time at bat. He came through with a single, scoring Tim McCarver of St. Louis and winning it 2-1 for the Nationals. He also made a dazzling catch in the ninth inning.

Baseball's base-stealing king and sparkplug of the Los Angeles Dodgers still wore a determined look as he walked from the steaming 102-degree heat of the playing field into the cool clubhouse. He was not smiling as he sat down in front of the wrong locker.

"Satisfying," said Wills softly. "Yes, that's what it was, my most satisfying All-Star game."

One newsman, remembering Wills was miffed over being voted behind Cincinnati's Leo Cardenas, reminded him he wouldn't have had the chance as a starter to drive in the winning run.

"Yeah, but I might have scored a run earlier," he retorted.

Wait Until October

A photographer asked Wills for a big smile and he replied:

"I'll smile for you in October."

The Dodgers are third in the National League, five games back of the leading San Francisco Giants.

McCarver, who had singled and reached second on a sacrifice, didn't expect to get into the game.

"Just being here rates with the Series," said McCarver, hero of the Cardinals' 1964 World Series victory.

"Tim got a real good jump off second," said Harry Walker, third base coach. "Tim is fast and it certainly was worth the gamble."

The winning manager, Walt Alston of Los Angeles, praised his pitchers and the defensive play of Willie McCovey of San Francisco at first base.

In the American League clubhouse, starting pitcher Denny McLain of Detroit was listening to the 10th inning.

"Boy I'd like to beat these guys so bad I can taste it," he said.

After Wills' winning hit, he threw a towel to the floor in disgust.

Only 28 Pitches

McLain needed only 28 pitches for three innings of no-hit ball.

Brooks Robinson, the Baltimore third baseman, brushed aside compliments for being voted Most Valuable Player. He put it this way:

"It's nice, but when they win it takes a little glitter off everything."

He was 3-for-4, scored the only AL run and made three outstanding field plays.

Losing Manager Sam Mele thought his club played a great game, but couldn't come up with a way to beat the Nationals.

"Score a few more runs," said Frank Robinson, formerly of Cincinnati. "I certainly haven't missed the National League pitching."

Honor Champions At K.B.A. Dinner

New York State and Northeastern ABC Council champions from Kingston were honored at the Kingston Bowling Association's annual installation dinner at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

William Einenkel of New Paltz was installed as KBA president for 1966-67. Other officers and directors also were installed.

Joseph Robelotto of Albany, president of New York State Bowling Association, presented Whispell Construction of Kingston with their trophy symbolic of the 1966 state handicap team championship. Team members were Bob Bush, Wilson Stoutenburg, Al Robinson, Carl Stoutenburg and Ken Whispell. Also honored were Larry and Herb Petersen, state doubles champions this year.

Other Champs Cited

Also cited were Al Wood and Henry (Sonny) Barnes, who won the doubles championship with 1127 in the Northeastern Council tournament of city association champions. Herb Petersen, took second place in singles with 612 and Sickler's Delivery placed fourth in the team event with 2713.

Roger Brandt, only man to roll a perfect 300 score during the 1965-66 season in the KBA was presented with an ABC 300 ring.

In making the presentation, Robelotto noted that Brandt was a left handed bowler and the right handed ring sent by the ABC would have to be returned for exchange.

Nationals Didn't Scare McLain, But They Won, 2-1

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS — AP — "You read what an edge the National League has," said Detroit pitcher Denny McLain, "How their pitching is better how their hitting is better. It's as if we're supposed to go out and concede the game."

The American League didn't concede. But they didn't win either.

The National League did that, 2-1 in 10 innings.

Only in Tuesday's 37th All-Star Game it wasn't better pitching and it wasn't the powerful NL sluggers who took command. The job was accomplished with a pair of 10th inning singles by Tim McCarver of St. Louis and Maury Wills of Los Angeles, and extended National League domination of the midsummer classic through 10 games.

The American League has won only once during that period — there also was a tie — and the National now has reeled off four straight victories while pushing its over-all lead in the series to 19-17-1.

Wanted It Badly

There's little doubt that the American League wanted this one. Manager Sam Mele even admitted that the AL Stars were getting embarrassed, and Baltimore third baseman Brooks Robinson would have handed back his awards and records for a victory.

Robinson, who played the full 10 innings and collected three hits, the Most Valuable Player award and two fielding records, said as much after the game.

"It's nice to get the NVP thing and nice to get the records, but it's nicer to win," Robinson said. "A hit in the right place the last couple of years and we win one. But they win... well... it takes a little glitter off everything."

It may have taken some of the glitter off, but there was no shoving the American League around. As a matter of fact, the American League came away with all the awards, better pitching performances and the same number of hits. But they couldn't find a way to win.

"Score a few more runs," said Baltimore's Frank Robinson, who used to be on the National League side. "That's the only answer."

100 Are Overcome

The answer, however, came from the National League after a 10-inning struggle in oppressive 102-degree heat that turned new Busch Memorial Stadium into a furnace. It was so hot that about 100 of the 49,936 spectators were treated for heat exhaustion and several deaths in the St. Louis area were attributed to the heat.

The heat was on the National League at first, despite the fact that the Dodgers' great lefthander, Sandy Koufax, was making his first All-Star start.

In the second inning, Brooks Robinson slammed a liner to left field. Hank Aaron of Atlanta, started back, apparently lost the ball in the sun, then raced in, but was unable to make a shoestring catch. When he retrieved the ball Robinson was standing at third with a triple.

Boston's George Scott fouled out but Koufax then uncorked a wild pitch over the head of Atlanta catcher Joe Torre and Robinson raced home for a 1-0 lead. McLain protected that with three perfect innings, taking only 28 pitches to retire nine batters.

Mays Starts Things

Willie Mays of San Francisco then started things for the National Leaguers against Jim Kaat of Minnesota, rifling a single to left in the fourth inning for his 22nd All-Star hit and extending his own record.

A single by Robert Clemente and a grounder got Mays to third and he raced home on a dribbler down the third base line by Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs that went for a single. The run also extended another one of Mays' records, giving him 19 in All-Star competition.

It stayed 1-1 through a profusion of pitchers — Mel Stottlemyre of New York and Sonny Siebert of Cleveland for the American and Jim Bunning of Philadelphia and Juan Marichal of San Francisco for the National — until the 10th when Gaylord Perry of the Giants ran into trouble.

Brooks Robinson led off with a pop fly single, and immediately proceeded to second on a wild pitch.

"I felt good," Perry said. "Robinson broke his bat on that hit."

Still there was a conference as Manager Walt Alston trotted out.

"He was getting a little tired," said Alston. "I went out to talk to him to give him a little breather."

Cash Flies Out

Perry went back to work. Detroit's Norm Cash flied out, Willie McCovey of San Francisco reached into the stands for a pop by New York's Bobby Richardson and Perry threw a third strike by California's Jim Fregosi.

Then Washington's Pete Richert, a left-hander, came in to pitch for the American witn McCarver, also a left-hander, due up. The book called for a pinch hitter.

"It was no hunch to let McCarver bat against the left-hander," Alston explained. "He nits left-handers pretty well."

"I was on my own whether to bunt or hit away," Wills said. "A safe bunt would have been a great play — men on first and third."

Wills squared away as if to bunt, then pulled back on the pitch.

"I started to bunt, but it was a bad ball," he explained. "Then I noticed (Brooks) Robinson move a couple of steps at third, so I decided to hit away."

The hit didn't go to Robinson. It went to the opposite field, but fell in for a single that Tony Oliva of Minnesota grabbed on one hop and fired home — too late to get the sliding McCarver.

"Two-to-one," said McCarver later, "that's a laugher for Los Angeles."

But not the American League.

Hero Robinson Travelling Man

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Brooks Robinson, who didn't come in from the heat until the game was over, went back out today for another grueling test.

Robinson, who survived 10 innings of an All-Star game played in 102-degree temperature, was faced with pushing himself through a whirlwind day of traveling.

Before the day ended, the Most Valuable Player of Tuesday's game would be on one airplane and two buses and in and through four cities.

Brooks, half of the Baltimore Orioles' slugging Robinson boys, was voted the MVP award unanimously despite the National League's 2-1 victory over the American League.

The 29-year-old third baseman had a difficult enough time reaching the game because of the nationwide airlines strike. His travels afterward were even worse.

"On Monday we took a bus from Baltimore to New York and then flew into St. Louis," Robinson explained after lashing three hits and making several brilliant plays at third base while playing the entire game.

"Tomorrow morning I'm going to fly back to Baltimore. Then we'll take a bus to Philadelphia. We have an exhibition game there tomorrow night. After the game we'll take a bus to Newark and stay overnight. Then we'll take a plane out of there to Detroit."

Family Reunion

Some other people traveled, too. Robinson's parents, a couple of fellows he played with in high school and his coach from American Legion baseball drove up from Little Rock for the game.

They and the rest of the 49,936 fans saw Robinson line a triple past Hank Aaron in left field and score the AL's run in the second inning, single in the seventh and single again in the 10th.

They also saw him set an All-Star record by handling eight chances flawlessly and tie another by making four putouts.

En route to the records he snared Ron Santo's torrid liner in the second inning, grabbed Aaron's wicked grounder and threw him out in the sixth and did the same with a Santo grounder in the ninth.

"It's nice getting the MVP thing, and it's nice getting the records," Robinson said, "but it's nicer to win. A hit in the right place the last couple of years and we win one. But they win. Well... it takes a little glitter off everything."

Spada Wins

Stars Rout MWs, 16-6

Kingston All Stars combined nine hits with 13 walks and three errors to rout Montgomery Wards, 16-6, in the City Baseball League Tuesday night at Dietz Stadium.

Mike Spada breezed to his second win for the Stars, allowing seven hits and striking out six to gain the decision over Tom Tegeler.

A nine-run explosion in the second inning overcame a 2-0 Montgomery Ward lead and routed Tegeler. Vince Fisher relieved Tegeler and didn't have much luck in holding the Stars at bay.

Seven walks, four singles and errors accounted for the nine runs. Several runs were forced in. Jeff Perry had a single and walk in the big rally, while Glen Davis, Bill Costello and Tony Gallo hit singles.

Chip Schoonmaker stroked three singles for Montgomery Wards, while Zip Secreto, Glen Davis had two each for the All Stars. There were no extra base blows.

Haughton's Night At Monticello

MONTICELLO—Billy Haughton, long acknowledged as "Mr. Harnes Racing,' continued his domination of grand circuit events last night at Monticello Raceway. And, just for good measure, he threw in an overnight victory as well.

Monday night, Bill posted two victories and a second in the three stakes events staged. Last night he won both of the features and made his card read three in a row by taking the evening's second race.

Bill, a wiry 42 years of age, won the $11,608 Will Caton two-year-old filly pace with his wife's Meadow Elva. That was the evening's third race. Next, he took the $9,728 Tom Berry two-year-old colt and gelding trot with Bowman A. Brown's Blaze as the other half of his entry, Keystone Pride, finished second. He won the second with two-year-old pacing filly, Heloise Hanover.

Meadow Elva, a daughter of Thorpe Hanover-Julis Frost, went wire to wire in the Caton to register by two and a quarter lengths in 2:06. Chasing her were two Hanovers, Bouquet and Ravina who were respectively reined by Ben Webster and Del Insko. Meadow Elva returned $3.20, 2.60 and 2.40 across the board.

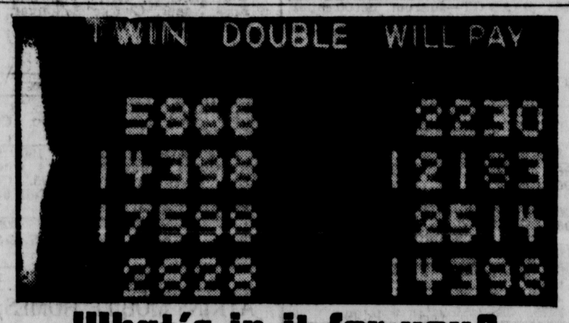

Takes Early Lead

In the Berry, Haughton went directly to the front and then was content to set behind stablemate Keystone Pride, Insko driving. Around the last turn, Bill moved out and up with Hickory Blaze, A Titan Hanover-Misty Hanover full brother to the great colt trotter of a few seasons back and now a successfful sire, Hickory Smoke. At the end, he was a length and a half in front of Keytsone Pride who had the same margin over Frank Ervin's Speedy Streak. The entry paid $4.00, 4.00 and 2.80 and the time was 2:07.4.

Last night's 8 and 2 daily double paid a juicy 234.80. Winning horses were Green River Mel in the first and Heloise Hanover in the second.

There were two twin double payoffs at Monticello Raceway, the first time this happened since the twin was introduced at the Mighty M in 1963. The double return materialized when Miss Connie B. and Your Nibs dead-heated for the win in the eighth race, final leg of the twin.

With Miss Connie B., who was reined by Bob Camper, the twin combination was 2-2-7-2 and it paid $618.20. There were 22 live tickets. With Your Nibs, the Combo was 2-2-7-5, returning 331.60 with 41 live tickets.

Ferraro Slugs 5th Home Run as Hens Win, 7-0

Mike Ferraro slammed his fifth home run of the season, a two-run shot, as Toledo blanked Richmond, 7-0, in an International League game last night at the losers' diamond.

Catcher Frank Fernandez also homered for the Hens, who had hurler Jack Curtis throw a four-hitter at the home side. Toledo was credited with 11 safeties.

In other league games Toronto slammed 15 hits for a 12-6 win over second place Rochester; Syracuse beat Buffalo, 5-2; and Jacksonville erged Columbus, 3-2 in 10 innings.

Toledo returns home tonight after concluding a road trip to Toronto, Columbus, Jacksonville and Richmond. The Hens entertain Jacksonville the next three evenings.

Legion Wins, 4-1

Ken Gilligan continued his superb pitching in the Babe Ruth League as Legion Post No. 150 stopped Masons, 4-1, last night at Dietz Stadium.

The fireballing youngster allowed only three hits, walked five and fanned 12 and further established himself as one of the top young hurlers in the area.

Rondout Bank Earns ALL Championship

Rondout National Bank captured the second half crown in the American Little league, beating Montgomery Ward, 7-3, last night. The Bankers made it a clean sweep by also winning first half honors.

Jim Ferraro was the winner. He finished with a flourish, fanning the side in the sixth inning. Ferraro drove in two runs with a third inning double and Chris Schick drove in a pair of runs in the next frame.

Greg VanDine stroked a booming double for the losers. Gary Upright had the other two hits off Ferraro, both of them singles. He walked six and fanned a dozen.

The championship is the second straight for the Rondout club.

Tigers Decision Yankees, 20-5

Nytralite Tigers sent runners across the plate in every inning and easily defeated Ulster Kiwanis Yankees, 20-5, in a Town of Ulster Little League game.

George Fatum, Mike Palladino, Phil Palladino, Steve VanKleeck and Tom Jensen of the Tigers and Tom Turco of the Yankees hit doubles.

VanKleeck was the winner over Don Clusi.

Yankees	300 20— 5	5

Steve VanKleeck, Phil Palladino, Dave Decker, Terry Scarsella and Allen Olsen; Don Clausi and Vic Nyulassy.

Subway, Amato's Scoreless

Mike Amato and Bob (Nip) Lasher hooked up in one of the top hurling duels of the City Softball league season as Amato's Atlantic and Subway Grill battled to a 10-inning scoreless tie last night at Block Park.

Amato allowed only two hits, both to shortstop Ron Secreto. He had perfect control and struck out four. Lasher gave up three singles, a pair to his opposing pitcher. He walked two and struck out nine.

Both sides had limited scoring chances. Amato's put runners on second and third with nobody out in the 10th but Lasher was equal to the occasion.

Don Ferraro of Subway and Nick Berardi and Pete Tatarzewski of Amato's turned in defensive gems.

Tonight's schedule has Armstrong's playing Gordon's Bar at Hasbrouck; Jack's Barber Shop opposing the Mets at Block Park and Royal Dukes playing Cordt's Hose at Loughran.

Michael Rally Beats Miller's

Michael's Barbershop kept its Saugerties Softball league pennant hopes alive by scoring nine runs in its last two at bats to nip Miller's Rexall, 11-8.

The winners moved ahead in the fifth on a two-run double by Bud Smith. A homer by Paul Buytkins in the sixth put the icing on the victory cake.

Joe Benjamin tripled for the winners. Mike Sommers, Rich Greco, Chops Lindsay, Bill Straub and Dave Jones had doubles.

Lindsay was the winner, his fifth straight decision. Sam Tesoriero lost his third game in as many starts.

FALLING DOWN on the job? Hardly. Minnesota's Ted Uhlaender (top), chasing a drive to centerfield, is about to make a spectacular catch. And pitcher Jim Bunning of the Philadelphia Phillies has just cut loose a hard fast one.

Wiltwyck Invitational

Costello and Marks in Field

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

It will be like a class reunion when the field assembles for the annual Wiltwyck Country Club Invitational this weekend.

William (Buzzy) Costello, one of the finest players ever developed at Wiltwyck, is coming up from New Jersey.

Ronnie Marks, a former club champion, is flying in from the IBM installation at Pueblo, Colorado.

Those perennial contenders — the Bates boys (Rick and Bob) are coming down the pike from Stamford.

Neither Costello, ex-county champion and Rider College star, nor Marks, a redoubtable match game competitor, has ever won the Invitational. Defending champion Harvey Bostic, a three-time winner, hopes to help Marks and Buzzy keep their record intact.

Strong Field Assembled

Tournament chairman Richard Davenport said Bostic would defend his crown against the strongest field ever assembled for the Invitational. In addition to the aforementioned contenders, there is always Leon Randall. A two-time winner, Randall is always the man to beat.

Bill Odeneal, the crack New Paltz State golfer who impressed in the Herdegen Memorial, makes his first trip to the Invitational.

Another past champion, Bob Botsford of Dutchess is passing up the event for a very good reason—he's marrying the girl of his dreams.

John Esterbrook Jr., a former Powelton champion, has accepted an invitation, but club president Bill McCullen will have to pass it up because of a taffy hunting expedition alon the Jersey seashore.

Medal Play Friday

Qualifying for medal is scheduled Friday, with the tournament getting under way early Saturday morning. Finals are scheduled Sunday afternoon.

Davenport reported an entry of 115 to date and said the quota of 128 would be reached by Friday. There will be a championship flight of 16, a second flight of 16 and other flights of eight.

Wiltwyck hosts the golfers with a cocktail party Friday evening and a dinner dance Saturday night.

Woodstock CC

Joe Modica carded a 74 to defeat Ray DuBois, 1 up, in the playoff for the President's Cup . . . Mr. and Mrs. Anthony deLisio, who are touring the continent, were spectators at the British Open in Muirfield, Scotland . . . Fifty eight players have qualified for the championship flights. Golf chairman Bill Van Aken said there would be three flights of 16 and one of eight . . . Woodstock hosts an inter-club match with Wiltwyck Country Club on July 24. Twenty one man teams are involved . . . Woodstock women stage their annual Invitation on July 19.

The Twaalfskill Club

The Twaalfskill's male golfers will try to Beat the Pro (Alex Gerlak) Saturday or Sunday over the 18-hole route . . . Twaalfskill women host Wiltwyck in an inter-club match on July 19 . . . Golf chairman George Svirsky reports that all flight championships will be at 18 holes medal play this year. The club championship finale, is scheduled Aug. 13-14, over 36 holes.

Mulroy Cards 78

Herb Mulroy of Southern Dutchess (Beacon) leads early out of town qualifiers for this weekend's Wiltwyck Invitational with 40-38-78. Joe Catanzaro of Poughkeepsie posted 38-41-79; Cornelius Sebring, Southern Dutchess, 42-38-80; Tom Buggy, IBM, 40-41-81.

President's Cup To Mrs. Sullivan At Woodstock CC

Mrs. John T. Sullivan carded a 36-hole net score of 136 to capture the 1966 President's Cup for the women's division at Woodstock Country Club.

She fired net 69 with 49-44-93 and 24 handicap in the first round and 45-46-91 for net 67 in the second round to edge Mrs. Claude Needes by three strokes. Mrs. Needes, playing with 26 handicap, posted rounds of 94 and 97.

Other low scorers:

Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons and Mrs. Joseph Forno, 140; Mrs. Arnold Broggi and Mrs. George Rusk, 141; Mrs. Harry Kennedy, 143; Mr. Alex Sharpe Jr., 147; Mrs. Walter Van Wagenen, 148; Mrs. Thomas Dendy, 149; Mrs. Sofie Bernard, 153; Mrs. David Fogel, 163.

Mrs. Kennedy posted low gross with 88-85-173.

Nine-Hole Event

Winner of the special nine-hole tournament was Mrs. Eugene Gormley with low net 35, one stroke better than Mrs. Edward Gormley.

Mrs. Percy Lyons and Mrs. Anthony Pizzarelli shared low putt honors with 17 each.

Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Kuehn In Tie at Twaalfskill

Mrs. Helen Davis and Mrs. Sally Kuehn tied for first place with four 6's in the Poker golf tournament at The Twaalfskill Club.

Tied with a full house in the Ladies Day event were Mrs. Bertha Connelly, Mrs. Betty Flanagan and Mrs. Cennith O'Reilly.

Borrowed Clubs Click for Gail

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Golfing champion Gail Sykes, playing with a set of borrowed clubs, led a field of 32 women into match play today in the New York State Women's Golf Tournament.

Miss Sykes, 18, fired a 37-38—75 Tuesday at the Yahnundasis Golf Club. She recorded four birdies in winning medalist honors.

The Schenectady teen - ager, holder of the National Women's crown, was forced to borrow clubs when her entire set was stolen from the porch at the Saratoga Spa clubhouse Saturday.

Miss Debbie Austin of Kenwood followed Miss Sykes closely with a 37-39—76.

Defending champion Diane Wilde of Amsterdam did not have to play the qualifying round. She defeated Miss Austin for the title in 1965.

Match play today includes Miss Wilde and Mary Lou Dietrich of Solvay, Miss Sykes and Lorrie Stuhler of Fort Johnson and Miss Austin and Mrs. Henry Noreling of Valatie.

Masonic Golfers Play at Catskill

Entries are being received for the annual Masonic District golf tournament Tuesday, July 19, at Catskill Country Club. The district includes Columbia, Greene and Ulster counties.

Deadline for entries is July 16. Reservations for the 18-hole handicap event may be made with William Gressick, pro, Harrison Roberts and Ed Grossman of Catskill.

Griffith-Archer Rated All Even

NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight champion Emile Griffith will come out with fists flying in an effort to score a quick knockout over Joey Archer tonight in their title fight if he follows the plans of his handlers.

Griffith was rated just an even money shot in the betting, however, against the New York challenger for their television 15-rounder at Madison Square Garden. Starting time is 10 p.m., EDT.

"I told Emile we don't want to take any chances on a close decision because the Irish will be out in full force to root for Archer," said trainer and co-manager Gil Clancy, an Irishman himself.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS

The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than legal minimum wages or pay wage differentials based on sex. Most employes engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week. Beginning September 3, 1964, most employes in certain large retail service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 42 in a week. The Act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Labor Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452, WYandotte 2-1235.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: The New York State Law against Discrimination and the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibit discrimination in employment because of sex unless based on a bona fide occupational qualification. Help Wanted and Situation Wanted advertisements are arranged in columns captioned "Male" and "Female" for the convenience of readers and are not intended as an unlawful limitation or discrimination based on sex.

Vending Lender

TOKYO (AP)— Tokyo has a new vending machine that lends [illegible] yen ($55.56) on a credit card.

The machine has been set up in the Ginza, Tokyo's most fashionable shopping and entertainment center, where spenders often go broke.

The Japan Credit Center hopes to install the machines in other parts of Tokyo and Japan.

Members of the Japan Credit Center are issued the cards which make the machines work. The interest rate is 5.5 per cent a month and the loan is repayable in three months.

Dropout at 79

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Three years ago Frank Burroughs was a 79-year-old high school dropout.

Today he's a geography student at the University of Michigan.

"It's been bothering me ever since 1905 that I was a dropout," he says, smiling, "so I decided it still wasn't too late."

Burroughs, a salesman for 41 years, got his diploma from Wyoming Park High School in 1963, a year after he retired.

"My wife and the (four) kids kept telling me for years to go back to school, so when I got my high school diploma I figured I might as well keep on going," he says.

Burroughs, a widower, lives with his daughter, Margaret, an assistant high school principal.

NOTICE OF SALE

IN PURSUANCE and by virtue of a Judgment or decree in Foreclosure, duly granted in the above entitled action on the 29th day of June, 1966, and entered in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on June 29th, 1966, I, JOHN J. LYNCH, Esq., the undersigned, Referee in said Judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front door of the Ulster County Court House, 285 Wall Street, in the City of Kingston, New York, on the 17th day of August, 1966 at 12 o'clock noon of that day, (Eastern Daylight Saving Time), as one parcel and property, the premises described in said judgment as follows:

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate, lying and being at or near Lake Hill, in the Town of Woodstock, County of Ulster and State of New York, more particularly bounded and described as follows:-

BEGINNING at a point, the junction of the center line of State Road #212 and the center line of the Lake Hill County Road; running thence Southerly along the center line of said Lake Hill County Road a distance of 225 feet more or less to a point where the extension of a stone wall in a westerly direction would intersect said center line; running thence Easterly to a pipe set in the ground and thence continuing on the same course along said stone wall a total distance of 180 feet more or less to a pipe set in the ground; thence running northerly along premises of Eulalia D. Hooke (now Earl M. Watson) to a pipe set in the ground and a pine tree and continuing on the same course a total distance of 250 feet more or less to the center of said State Road #212 running thence westerly along the center line of said State Road #212 a distance of 180 feet more or less to the point and place of beginning.

Subject to the rights of the public and to the said State Road #212 and said Lake Hill County Road.

Being the same premises conveyed by Earl M. Watson to Howard Barnes and Bertha P. Barnes, his wife, as tenants by the entirety by deed dated the 17th day of August, 1960 and recorded the same day in the Office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster.

SUBJECT to a first mortgage and prior lien held by Ulster County Savings Bank on which there was a principal balance of $3,288.29 as of May 1, 1966.

PURCHASING POWER SHRINKS—Inflation, increased federal income and Social Security taxes have sharply reduced the purchasing power of the dollar over the years, as this chart shows. A family man with two children needs to earn $13,234 today to equal the purchasing power of $5,000 in 1939 for an increase of 165 per cent. If his income in 1949 was $5,000 he now needs $7,089, or a 42 per cent increase, to match his 1949 purchasing power. Figures supplied by the National Industrial Conference Board.

Lands at Ireland

FENIT, Ireland (AP) — William Verity of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., has landed in Ireland after a 68-day voyage across the Atlantic in a 12-foot sloop.

Verity arrived Tuesday in the County Kerry Harbor of Fenit with enough food and water to last another 10 days.

Verity said he made the trip to show it was possible that explorers before Columbus crossed the Atlantic in small craft.

Find Religious Evidence

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Billy Graham, home after a month-long crusade in Britain, says there are "tens of thousands of deeply religious young people" in tern of growth that will occur in the county. The day-to-day decisions made by the home buyers, builders, contractors, school boards, local planning boards, legislators, civic organizations, businessmen and industry, state and local highway officials, and many others will influence the final result. Since these interests are so varied, representing a wide range of community life and interest, we feel that planning on an area-wide basis is a very logical and realistic approach to planning for the future.

Looks to Future

The challenge the county faces in the future, therefore, is one of developing a county environment which will not only satisfy the needs of its present population, but also which will satisfy the needs of future populations by guiding future growth and development in a wise and well-planned direction. It is the function of the County Planning Board to establish such a comprehensive county planning program by which to build in future years, a foundation from which wise decisions and knowledgable action can spring.

The need for something more than just a local municipal approach was recognized by the County Board of Supervisors in 1963. Local municipal boundaries bear little relation to natural terrain, drainage areas, and highway development. Growth and development of local municipalities has not followed municipal boundaries in the past, nor is it expected to in the future.

The purpose of county planning is not to supplant but rather to supplement local planning, coordinating local planning efforts to effect cooperation and decrease friction between communities. While several of the local municipalities in Ulster have prepared plans, it is desirable for the county to have overall knowledge of total county development and county responsibilities for the future. The success of the total planning effort in the county hinges on the partnership and success of both local and county planning.

There was a time when each community had to provide for all of its needs for itself — and relative isolation required communities to become relatively self-sufficient and contained entities. But today's living pattern has changed considerably from that period. Improvements in communication and personal transportation have brought formerly isolated areas within easy reach of one another. Ties between adjacent communities have become most common, and it is not unusual today to find people living in one community, working in another, shopping in a third, and seeking recreation in a fourth.

Activities Compatible

In many cases, communities located adjacent to each other become one economic and social unit, although separated by a political boundary line, which is impossible to distinguish on the ground. Sometimes as the outer edges of two communities approach each other, the activities of one border may not be compatible with the activities of the other.

Sometimes one or both communities are too small to adequately meet present-day demands for municipal services and facilities. In other cases, services and facilities may be provided but in an uneconomical quantity. Occasionally, one community may have the financial resources to provide desired recreational facilities or an industrial park, except that it lacks suitable land or transportation features for this facility.

Some types of facilities and services may be too expensive to be initiated by any one of the participating units. However, they can be provided through joint financing. Airport facilities, sewerage treatment, water supply, and refuse disposal are good examples of the areas where financial cooperation can pay dividends.

In order to effectively deal with these problems, cooperation among politicial units is in many cases necessary, and it must be comprehensive in viewpoint. This is where county planning enters the picture.

One of the primary reasons for the development of a county master plan is to provide the basis for providing advisory and technical assistance to the various municipalities in the county with the view in mind of overall county development. Through coordination of the planning process on a county scale, the efforts of many governmental units can be integrated so that eificiencies and economics are possible; and municipal services and facilities, heretofore out of reach of just one unit, can be provided.

To accomplish the desired objectives of the county plan, a thorough and comprehensive analysis of the county's assets and liabilities is envisioned, identification of county goals to be pursued, and meaningful ways in which to accomplish county goals. The county plan is envisioned to provide not only a service to gauging future essential public expenditures needed, but also as a guide to private investors in county development.

The program will give the county a far more accurate means of anticipating expenditures for facilities and services which we must provide. The program will provide a mechanism to allow the county to have a maximum voice in regional and state programs involving capital expenditures.

The program will serve to provide eligibility for the county and many of our local municipalities for virtually all forms of federal and state aid in the future. Increasingly, federal programs have been changed to contain a requirement that the intended investments being made according to some comprehensive plan of the area.

The Federal and State Governments believe that it is so important that they will combine to provide five-sixths of the total cost. Of the total amount of monies to be expended in this program, the one-sixth share will be provided locally.

Hospital Head At Ellenville Commends Staff

Ben Lonstein, president of Ellenville Community Hospital commended the hospital's staff, physicians and the first aid and rescue squad on their prompt mobilization of all necessary resources in an emergency situation last weekend.

Lonstein indicated that hospital personnel responded "with admirable speed, efficiency, and competence" to a mass accident involving eighteen emergency cases. He noted that within a few minutes of notification of the accident which occurred late Saturday afternoon, the hospital administrator had mobilized eight nurses, five technicians and three doctors in addition to the hospital's on-duty staff. Within an hour and a half all of the emergencies had been treated with those requiring further hospitalization admitted as bed patients; those requiring no further treatment released, and one patient requiring special care transferred to Vassar Hospital via the rescue squad ambulance with a physician in attendance.

The hospital president noted that this had been the first mass accident since the opening of the new hospital in March. "We are ever hopeful," he stated, "that the hospital will not be called upon for emergencies of any large or serious nature. Yet, because we never know just when or under what circumstances such emergencies will arise, there is a sense of confidence and pride in knowing that our hospital and its staff is more than adequate. Our staff is to be commended for its most recent demonstration of its professional competence and its personal compassion."

"While this has been an unusual situation in terms of numbers, Lonstein said, "it is an extension or reflection of the day to day skills demonstrated by our people. It is also a dramatic illustration of the importance of a good hospital to a community, and the need to support such a hospital."

To Discuss Plan For OEO Office In Rondout Area

Possible areas of action under the Office of Economic Opportunity in this section include a multi-purpose center in the Rondout area that can provide employment, counseling and training for new and better jobs, that can help youngsters get into Youths Corps and Job Corps.

A center that could have legal aid facilities and family counseling service, and a center that could provide help with welfare problems, social security problems or health problems.

These matters may be discussed at a public meeting for all interested citizens for Community Action in the Rondout Creek area to be held Thursday, July 14 at 7:30 p. m. at the Recreation Center, 97 Broadway.

The meeting, to be held under the auspices of the Ulster County Community Action Committee, will give everyone a chance to express opinions about the needs of his community.

Proposals for Community Action programs must be submitted shortly to the Office of Economic Opportunity, Washington, D. C.

Another possibility for the Rondout Creek area is a community meeting facility which could be used for a number of educational and recreational purposes, such as tutoring after school, help for mothers with child-care and homemaking, a Senior Citizens' program and a Youth group program.

Also, a Child Day Care, where mothers, especially those working, can leave their children under healthy and well supervised conditions.

These are just a sample of ideas, and the Ulster County Community Action Committee is trying to get to ideas of the people in the community of what program is most needed and will be most useful.

There will be election following the meeting for an advisory group that will work with the Ulster County Committee in developing programs.

charges, Gold said she broke into tears and said:

"I don't know how this could happen. It isn't possible. I don't believe, I don't believe it, I'll never believe it. It just isn't true, it just isn't true — he never said anything about this to me.

"Oh, what will I do now — who's going to pay all these bills?"

She declined later to talk with other newsmen.

The Army said Whalen is a native of Watervliet, N.Y. He reportedly had worked the last three summers as a laborer for the Fairfax County Park Authority in Virginia at wages ranging from $1.40 to $1.79 an hour.

Whalen lived in Watervliet until 1940, when he entered military service. Former neighbors there recalled that he attended a school for embalmers after being graduated in 1931 from Catholic Central High School in Troy, N.Y., near Watervliet.

His father, William H. Whalen, a retired locomotive engineer for the Delaware & Hudson Railroad, moved to Washington to live with him after the death of the younger Whalen's mother two years ago.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharp losses by selected blue chips depressed the stock market which, in general, was down moderately in routine trading early this afternoon.

A 5-point drop by Du Pont was a big weight dragging down at the averages. It and IBM were delayed in opening due to selling pressure. IBM took an initial loss of 3 points but quickly reduced this to a fraction.

Worries about tight money, the course of nostilities in Viet Nam and the airline strike—effects of this were reported spreading widely — backgrounded the market's decline.

Another factor was the retreat from the Dow Jones 900 level for the third time in the past several weeks.

Losses of fractions to a point prevailed in most major groups. Rubbers and some of the gold mining issues resisted the downtrend.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 6.68 at 879.51.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.8 at 319.4 with industrials off 2.9, rails off .8 and utilities off .6.

Pan American World Airways was down nearly 3 points, United almost 2 and American more than a point; but Eastern digested an early loss and showed a fractionul net gain.

Most of the top steelmakers showed small, fractional declines. The rubbers were higher again, Goodyear, Goodrich and U.S. Rubber each displaying fractional gains.

days. More than 100 persons at the game were treated for heat-caused illnesses.

Weathermen are blaming the jet stream, winds that blow from west to east at about 40,000 feet across the continent. Apparently the jet stream is not sweeping up into Canada and back along the eastern seaboard like it usually does, and instead is staying north and blowing straight into the Atlantic.

However, the weathermen in Washington have promised relief to sweltering citizens in the form of cooler temperatures and possible rainfall over the weekend. Let's hope we last until the weekend.

According to an Associated Press report, hot, clammy weather continued to grip New York State today as the temperatures again climbed toward the upper 80's and 90's.

Albany Records 98

At mid-afternoon Tuesday, the temperature in Albany rose to 98 at the county airport, breaking the record 96 degrees for the date set in 1936.

In central and western New York, temperatures were in the low 90s, while along Lake Ontario and the Canadian border, the mercury reached the high 80s.

As the temperature broke the record in the capital area, only about 45 miles northeast, in West Central Vermont, a fierce storm blew off Lake Champlain, knocking out power and communications.

Police reported windows were shattered in a number of homes and hailstones the size of walnuts and up to "the size of hens eggs" damaged orchards.

70 MPH Winds

Winds gusted to as high as 70 miles an hour in unofficial estimates, and an inch of rain fell in some areas in a short period of time.

Only a few scattered showers in Northeastern New York paralleled the storm activity.

Meanwhile, across the nation, the heat wave blistered the Midwest and the resulting death toll reached toward the 20s.

The Weather Bureau in Washington said the nationwide temperature inversion — in which stationary hot air was trapped over most of the United States — was due to continue for at least a few days while Canada benefited from the cooler jet stream winds that had shifted north.

Ration Electric Power

The Union Electric Co. in St. Louis said it planned to continue rationing electric power to 600,000 customers in an attempt to avert a blackout. The company cut off power Tuesday to 350,000 customers on a rotating basis up to two hours.

Other cities also have reported power shortages this week, including four in Nebraska. Many cities reported record consumption of power because of the use of cooling devices.

Violent storms broke out Tuesday and Tuesday night in widely scattered sections of the country.

Severe thunderstorms struck Sandusky, Ohio, and nearly a foot of rain caused flooding. About 200 persons were evacuated, a state of emergency was declared and the Ohio National Guard was called out. Southwest of Lake Erie, thunderstorms with strong winds and a few tornadoes were reported. Power blackouts occurred in Lima and Van Wert. A man playing golf in Lima was killed by lightning.

Heavy thunderstorms knocked down trees and powerlines and cut electrical service in several suburbs of Detroit. Minor flooding was reported in Detroit and Ann Arbor. Winds of more than 50 m.p.h raked Pontiac and Flint.

Storms Pound Georgia

Storms pounded Gainesville and Savannah Beach, Ga., toppling power lines and trees, smashing autos and causing thousands of dollars property damage. There were no injuries. Winds were clocked at 50 m.p.h. in the hail and rain storm which swept Savanna Beach. Temperatures in Gainesville dropped 25 degrees in eight minutes but the mercury soared back to sweltering highs after the storm.

Rain Drops Mercury

In Columbus, Ohio, an evangelist's tent meeting ended abruptly when the tent, with about 600 persons inside, collapsed in a windstorm. Some 100 persons were trapped for a short time but no injuries were reported.

Rain and hail pelted areas between Sidney and North Platte in central-west Nebraska. In eastern Nebraska light rain fell, dropping temperatures from the 90s to 80.

In Florida a thunderstorm dropped hail on Bradenton and spawned a funnel cloud as it moved eastward across Manatte County.

Arkansas Seared Again

Arkansas suffered another day of searing heat, including 104 at Pine Bluff and Little Rock. It was the fourth straight day of 100-plus reading at Little Rock.

Violent winds accompanied some thunderstorms that spread across northeastern Indiana Tuesday night. One man was killed by bricks falling from a chimney struck by lightning in Mishawaka. Two house trailers were toppled and four others were knocked from the foundations near Decatur.

Storms, with high winds and heavy rain struck across New England, knocking out power and telephone connections and downing trees. Hardest hit appeared to be the western and central sections of Vermont. Heavy rain hit Boston during the evening rush hour, dropping temperatures from the 90s to 70.

105 in Tulsa

In Oklahoma there has been no appreciable rainfall in more than three weeks. High marks in the state Tuesday included 105 at Tulsa and 104 at Oklahoma City.

In the Far West — out of the torrid zone — heavy to moderate rain with winds up to 42 m.p.h. hit Spokane. Fairly pleasant weather continued in most of the Pacific Coast area with seasonal temperatures.

In the nation's capital, part of the blame for the prolonged hot spell was cast on the jet stream — high-flying winds blowing west to east across the continent.

Normally, the U.S. Weather Bureau said, the jet stream follows a long graceful curve, up into Canada and down again, carrying cool air masses out of the Far North into the midcontinent. Lately, however, it's just blowing more or less straight out over the Atlantic.

Plan Auxiliary

that the URA be forced to go into the downtown renewal area and pick up the junk especially where families have been relocated. 'This is a deplorable condition that exists in my ward," he said. 'Not only is it unsightly, but it is a hazard to life and limb and leaves the City of Kingston open to further lawsuits as a result of negligence in cleaning up this area."

He again asked for more police protection because of vandalism in vacant houses and there have been many fires. Both, he felt could be curbed with added policing. He proposed that the mayor call an emergency meeting including heads of the police and fire department and public works "to get something done about conditions d wntown."

Howard's resolution said: "While we are certainly having our problems with urban renewal here in Kingston, the economy of our city is at stake.

Says Qualities Questionable

"The uptown project was certainly good when adopted. However, with the changing of environment in our city, the qualities of the project certainly now are questionable. I am therefore presenting the following motion to this honorable body:

"Whereas this honorable body wants the uptown urban renewal project temporarily halted to completely re-evaluate the project, that a re-evaluation report be given this body, and that the mayor, city treasurer, urban renewal director and corporation counsel be notified of this motion."

Against Uptown Delay

Alderman Machione did not vote for the Howard motion because he said he did not want to see uptown urban renewal "delayed 10 minutes." He has indicated that certain factors apparently affecting uptown renewal have not "come out in the open," and that something should be done about such conditions.

Alderman Peter J. Mancuso suggested that Alderman-at-Large Francis R. Koenig name a council committee to deal with water and air pollution and Koenig indicated he would consider such action after making certain investigations. The meeting was recessed subject to call of Koenig.

Widow Has No Cause to Worry About Stock

Q) "I wonder if you could help me as I have no one else to turn to. I am a 62-year-old widow and when I retire my Social Security will be only $80 a month. I earn only a small wage. I have had 175 shares of American Telephone left to me and am very worried about the decline in price. I don't know what I should do." K.O.

A) I am glad that you did turn to me in your very lonely position. I see no reason whatsoever for you to sell your American Telephone shares. They have declined but are now showing some rebound from the effects of a prolonged rate investigation which has been undertaken by the Federal Communications Commission. The uncertainty which any such study produces has brought about considerable institutional selling. I believe that the FCC has no wish to harm the Telephone Co., and that this investigation will not do so.

Hold your stock, which presently brings you an income of about $32 a month. I feel very certain that you have nothing at all to worry about.

Q) "I am retired and will be 75 soon. My wife is 72-years-old. We depend on Social Security and a small pension. We have $20,000 in banks. We are considering putting $10,000 into an annuity. Can an annuity be paid to a survivor, and when both pass on, can the balance be paid to my son?" R. M.

A) You can purchase ajoint and survivor refund annuity. This will guarantee you a specified monthly income during your lifetime and the lifetime of your wife, if she survives you. In addition, it provides that if the total payments—up to the death of the surviving partner—do not equal the purchase price, they will be continued to your son. These will be paid to him until the total sum paid out equals the full amount of your purchase price.

Bloomington Vols Elect Director At July Meeting

With president Charles Peterson presiding, the Bloomington Fire Company, Inc. held its regular monthly business meeting recently at the firehouse.

Among the items of business transacted by the organization was the election of John Perrett as a director of the corporation to fill the unexpired term of Charles Reilly, who recently died. Perrett, who has been a member of the company for the last 15 years, currently holds the position of chief engineer in the department. His term of office as a director will expire in December, 1968.

One of the highlights of the meeting, which was well attended, was a lecture on and demonstration of the laser beam by Emil Sticht, a member of the Public Relations Department of the Bell Telephone Company. Although Mr. Sticht's remarks were concerned primarily with the laser's application in the field of communications, he also explained how the laser had been discovered, as well as how it is becoming of more and more value to many other industries, especially in the field of medicine. As a graphic demonstration of the beam, Stitch showed how the laser can be used as a carrier of the human voice. The presentation was arranged by Robert Hicks, company vice president and chairman of the program committee.

Schedule Clambake

In its progress report, the committee announced that the company's annual clam bake would be held this year on Sunday, Aug. 18, at the Alpine Restaurant, DeWitt Lake Road. In addition to the bake, it was noted that the Alpine's complete recreational facilities, including the swimming pool, would be at the disposal of the company for the day, and that, as always, the event would be open to the general public. The committee, consisting of Albert Schmidt Jr., Walter VanKeuren and George Hafner, said that tickets and the complete details would be available shortly.

In his monthly report, Fire Chief Herbert Faurote said that the company had not been summoned to any calls during the month of June. He also announced that New York State fire training courses on officer training and pump operation would be held in the department during the fall. He further remarked that the company would participate in the upcoming Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association annual convention parade in the City of Kingston July 30. He urged as many volunteers as possible to make an effort to attend.

The next meeting was scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 2. Refreshments were served.

NEW FLAG PRESENTED—In a ceremony held at the Bloomington Firehouse, the company was presented with a new American Flag in honor of a deceased member, Edmund Riccobono. Since Riccobono was a veteran, the flag was originally given to his family at the time of his interment by the United States Government, and in turn it was presented to the Bloomington Company in his memory. Attending the ceremony are (l-r) Warren Prandoni, treasurer, Oscar Hahn, director, Theodore Riccobono, member and brother of the deceased, who according to flag etiquette, being a member of the family, had to raise the flag for the first time, Leslie Evory, director, and Vincent Finnerty, captain. Chest Announces Mathews, Neil Cox, mayor of Saugerties, Gunther Newman, Ira V. Warren, Robert M. Schnitzer, Robert Davidson, Nathan A. Aaron, Chester Baltz Jr., Harry Rigby, N. Jansen Fowler, Dr. Dexter Arnold, Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, Harry duBois Frey, Joseph J. Benjamin and Dr. Dale B. Lake.

The objective of the advisory committee is to find ways and means of effectively communicating to all businesses and citizens the work of the 13 Community Chest agencies to appeal for an adequate level of giving in the fall fund campaign. The committee will also concern itself with recruitment of workers and methods and techniques of canvassing. The annual campaign for funds is in September and October.

Goal Is $299,600

This year the goal is $299,600, which represents the composite needs of each of the agencies and is $81,000, greater than the amount last year. The agencies have been surviving on a starvation budget. Since the campaign goal represents the total need not an artificial high goal, the committee is confident that the businesses and citizens will respond to insure Ulster County's reputation as a good place to live through adequate services by the following agencies:

Boys Club, Boy Scouts, Cerebral Palsy, Gateway Industries, Girl Scouts, Jewish Center, Mental Health, Red Cross, Retarded Children, Salvation Army, YMCA, YWCA and USO.

Grant $2,000 Aid in Esopus, Wawarsing Towns

Governor Rockefeller today announced two state aid grants of $1,000 each from the State Division of Youth to the Towns of Esopus and Wawarsing for the operation and maintenance of recreation and youth service projects.

The applications were submitted by Esopus Town Supervisor Roger W. Mabie and Wawarsing Town Supervisor George M. Barthel. The money represents part of a $4,5 million state-wide youth recreation aid program.

Esopus will spend a total of $6,000 this year to provide a summer program of swimming, archery, dancing, and arts and crafts and a winter program of organized recreation, movie program, and skating activities.

Wawarsing will spend $5,950 on similar programs including water safety courses and lifesaving.

The Wawarsing director of recreation is Hammond Sherman.

The recreation program in Esopus is run by the Ross Park Commission, Vernon L. Frost, chairman.

Chicago Rocked

turbance in Chicago this summer.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and Nevro community leaders helped police quiet the disturbance.

Twenty-four Negroes were arrested and several persons were injured during the melee, including motorists whose car windows were shattered by rocks as they drove through the area.

The incident came on a night when an 88-degree temperature enveloped the city. During the day, the mercury was 96.

The disturbance at the fire hydrant began about 5:30 p.m. Several hundred Negroes were involved in the incident and police were reporting sporadic pockets of trouble in the early hours today.

Along One-Mile Strip

The trouble occurred along a one-mile strip of Roosevelt Road and for a quarter mile to the south, about 26 blocks from downtown Chicago.

It is common practice on hot days in Chicago for residents to open fire hydrants for children to cool themselves. More than 300 hydrants were opened across the city Tuesday.

Dr. King, who is conducting an anti-slum drive in Chicago, planned noon and evening rallies in a park in the neighborhood for Negro residents to air grievances. He said he would present the grievances to city officials.

General Dividing Line

Roosevelt Road is a general ethnic dividing line between Negroes and Italians. South of Roosevelt Road is solidly negro while many Italians live to the immediate north.

The area is about 4½ miles south of a Puerto Rican neighborhood where three nights of disturbances erupted last month.

A policeman who said he was on the scene when the disturbance began — Thomas Reynolds — said the Negroes complained that the officers turned off the hydrants in their neighborhood, but allowed them to run in the Italian section.

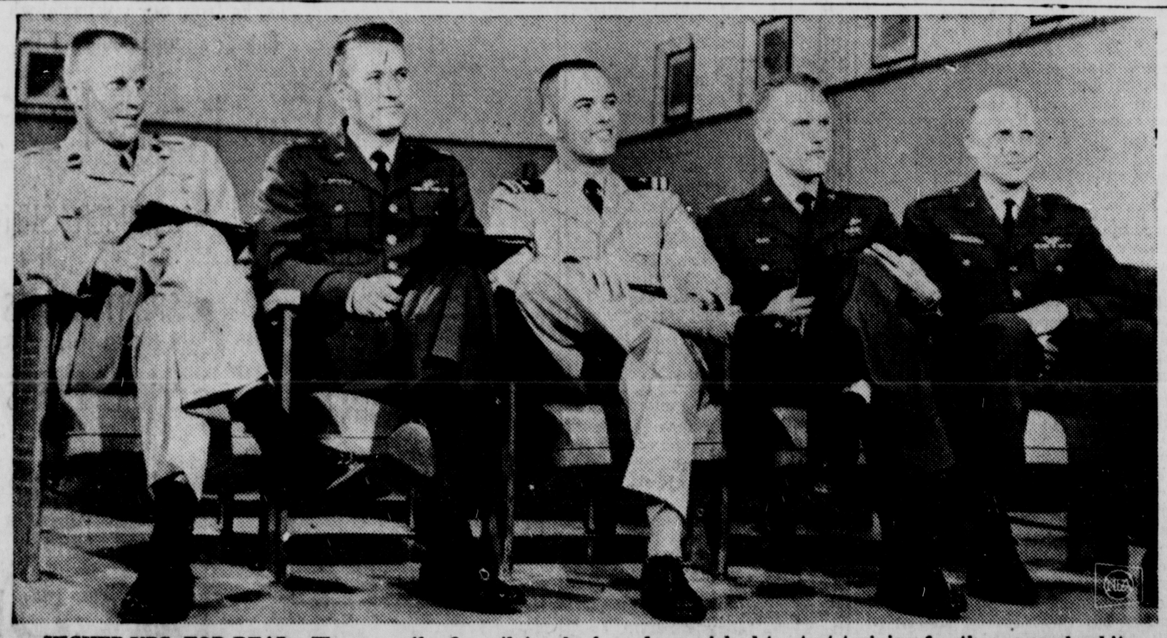

Reynolds told newsmen that the Negroes doused him and his partner with cans of water as they turned off the water. He said the crowd became angry and soon grew in size to around 300 persons.

Negro leaders said the rioting began when an officer struck a Negro youth with a nightstick. Agene Beach, a Negro policeman on the scene, said a rock was hurled through the window of his squad car and sprayed his partner, John Buckley, a white policeman, with glass. Beach said neither he nor Buckley used their nightsticks.

Eight youths were arrested at the hydrant and one of them was admitted to a hospital.

The other seven youths were released after Dr. King went to the police station and told authorities that their appearance in the neighborhood might pacify the restless Negro gangs.

High Court Rules Weighted Voting Unconstitutional

UTICA, N. Y. (AP) — A State Supreme Court justice held unconstitutional today a weighted voting plan for reapportionment of the Herkimer County Board of Supervisors.

Justice Richard Cardemone said the plan "does not meet the one-man, one-vote mandate of the U.S. Supreme Court and is therefore unconstitutional."

The plan, approved by the board June 13, would have provided for a 25-member board with a total weighted vote of 673. Under weighted voting, a supervisor would cast a multiple number of votes in proportion to the number of constituents he represented.

The present board has 21 members.

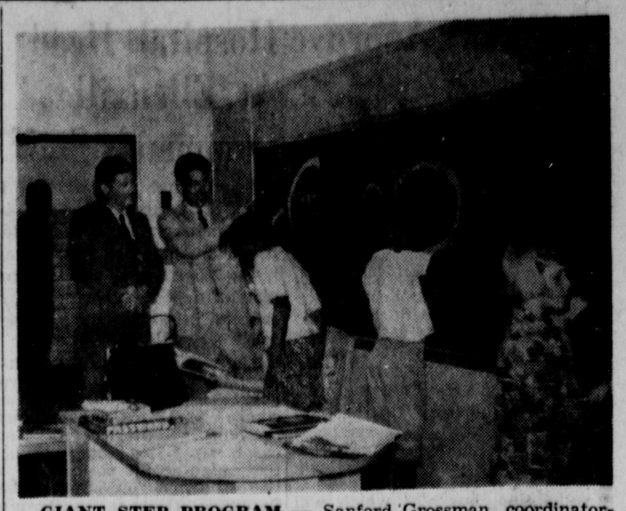

Cardemone directed the supervisors to prepare a permanent plan by Aug. 15 and to submit it to the voters in the Nov. 8 election.

George Casler, chairman of the board of supervisors, said he did not know what form the next reapportionment plan might take.

Dies of Electrocution

BRIDGEWATER, N. H. (AP) — James Magwood, 13, of Rye, N.Y., struck by lightning as he and several other youngsters ran across a field at Camp Tomahawk on Newfound Lake, has died of electrocution, authorities reported.

The youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Magwood, was among 150 boys at the camp when a storm came up late Tuesday. Two other youths received part of the shock but were not injured, the camp director said.
